BYRD FINDS NEW RANGE

Plane Headed for Mystery Area

Crew Dangers Braved to Map Mountain Ridge for Science

Exploration Trip Toward Edward Land, Which Holds Ice Secret

BY RUSSELL OWEN

Times staff writer, by the Los Angeles Times-Wide World Photo Service and the New York Times Company. All rights for publication reserved throughout the world.

LITTLE AMERICA (Antarctica) Dec. 5. (Exclusive)—Commander Byrd started today on the first polar exploration flight of the expedition, following the program he outlined before leaving New York. Plan to take off at 10:30 this morning his pilot was Capt. Alton N. Parker of the Marine Corps Reserve. Harold June, as radio operator, and Capt. McKinley as co-pilot.

Weather discussion early in the day was indicated in the following bulletin by radio from the AIRPLANE FLOYD BENNETT, 1 p.m.—Many mountain ranges in Paul Scott Nunataks. Have over unexplored area. New mountains and mapping undertaken coast line now two miles outward of coast line. Over polar to McKinley can map. Have made more than 100 miles an hour good, all well.

[Signed] R. E. BYRD.

AIRPLANE FLOYD BENNETT, 1:30 p.m.—We have discovered a great new mountain range in Marie Byrd land running to a generally north and south direction. We hope this will be worth while for science for we are flying in rough weather and taking chances to map it.

[Signed] R. E. BYRD.

Byrd's flight was in the direction of King Edward Land, which will be key to one of Antarctica's mysteries. It has long been a matter of speculation as to what lies to the there as it curves to the north, in formation indicating that it runs in a direct line to the south pole is land. Whether it is a series of small islands or an extension of the coast line has never been learned. There have been many attempts to penetrate the ice and reach it.

Scott and Shackleton tried and were turned back by ice closing their route and Commander Byrd himself twice last year to get through to the City of New York, turning back only when to go on would have meant the imprisonment or possible loss of the ship. Of this last year he tried to get what is known as King Edward Land, but was headed off by storms and ice clouds. It has been one of the most impenetrable and inhospitable parts of the continent because whoever solves the mystery of it knows that mass of ice held in the north will probably be able to make a new coast line.

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, Dec. 5. [To the Editor of The Times:] These post-season football games never decide anything. But how would this one be? We have a team out here called St. Mary's, (sounds effeminate) but they haven't lost a game since the year of the gold rush. Take them and Notre Dame. But take all the Czechos, Italians, Welsh, Swedes and Eskimos and all other nationalities off of both teams, then the Irish from both teams (they could get eleven) and then let the Irish play the foreigners. That would outdraw any game in the world. Let Rockne coach the foreigners and Al Smith the Irish; that would be great.

Yours for games that decide something,
WILL ROGERS.

Upper Basin States Suggest That California and Arizona Confer

Denver Meeting Ends After Accomplishing Purposes; Donovan Gets Bid

DENVER, Dec. 5. (AP)—A start made on their own problem, the four States in the upper basin of the Colorado River tonight moved to bring about resumption of negotiations between California and Arizona for settlement of the water-division question within the next few weeks.

The conference dispatched letters to the Colorado River commissions of Arizona, California and Nevada—the three States comprising the lower basin—suggesting that they try once more to dissolve their differences. These differences, which have existed for a number of years, largely are between California and Arizona.

ARIZONA INVITED

At the same time the upper basin conference invited to a future meeting of the four States—Colorado, Utah, Wyoming and New Mexico—the Arizona River Commission, because part of the stream traversing Arizona lies within the upper basin.

HOUSE ACTS ON TAX CUT

Approval Given Without Delay

Reduction Resolution Sent to Senate Following Vote of 282 to 17

Move for Like Speed There Planned by Old Guard Republican Line-up

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—Showing its usual speed in disposing of administration legislation, the House today quickly adopted the $160,000,000 income tax reduction resolution by 282 to 17 and sent it to the Senate.

An effort will be made there by the old guard Republicans to duplicate the celerity. Chairman Smoot had the Finance Committee together on the resolution today and called a meeting for tomorrow.

The slight opposition that developed from both sides of the House was overridden easily to send the measure that was introduced only four days ago safely past the halfway point of its legislative journey.

SCANT OPPOSITION

Backed by the administration and approved by party leaders in both houses, it is not expected to encounter much serious opposition in the Senate. Smoot expects early approval by his group and plans to have it before the Senate not later than next Monday, despite a Democratic movement in the Finance Committee sponsored by Senator George of Georgia to extend the reduction over two or more years instead of one.

Senator Simmons of North Carolina, ranking Democrat on the Finance Committee, said it would be better if a reduction could be made permanent, but agreed there is ground for apprehension by the Treasury because of the possibility of creating a deficit. A majority of the Democrats and the Republican regulars, he predicted, will favor the administration program.

SINGLE OBSTACLE

The only obstacle threatening interference with the Republican leaders' plan for quick adoption of the resolution in the Senate is the desire of the Democratic-independent tariff coalition to delay action until disposition of the tariff bill. In a statement tonight through the Democratic National Committee Simmons said the coalition favors continuing the tariff work after disposition of the Vare case.

As a contrast, the Republican-controlled House displayed an eagerness to finish with the tax-reduction program so it could turn its attention to the large annual supply bills.

Approved by the House Ways and Means Committee yesterday after Undersecretary Mills of the Treasury explained the plan for a flat 1 per cent reduction on corporation and normal individual incomes, the measure was brought before the House by Chairman Hawley of the committee today.

DEFICIT PREDICTED

The debate occupied little more than three hours, during which Representative Ramseyer of Iowa, a Republican member of the Ways and Means Committee, predicted a deficit of $107,000,000 in the National Treasury at the end of the fiscal year 1931 would be created by enactment of the resolution. He based this on the possible need of the Federal Farm Board for $150,000,000, which, he said, is not included in the estimates for the budget.

Chairman Hawley contended the enactment of the measure will stimulate business and that the taxpayers are entitled to benefit from the surplus in the Treasury.

DEATH-GALE LAYS LASH ON BRITAIN

Sixteen Lives Lost When Ship Founders in Storm That Sweeps Isles

LONDON, Dec. 5. (AP)—A tempest in which the wind at times blew at the rate of 100 miles an hour, swept Great Britain last night and most of today. Before it had spent its force it had caused enormous damage on land and at sea.

The growing tragedy of a day and night of destruction was the foundering of the steamship Frances Duncan off Lands End. Destruction of the boat could be plainly seen from the Longships lighthouse.

The vessel, of 2384 tons, was trying to fight her way against the storm when a great wave tossed her high in the air and she turned over. A few seconds later she bobbed up like a cork, but was lying on her side.

Within a minute or two she had disappeared. Sixteen of her crew of twenty-one went down with her. The other five clung to bits of wreckage until the steamship Alice Marie, bound for Norway, picked them up. The rescue vessel turned out of her course and set the survivors ashore at Falmouth.

Torrential rains, which accompained the gale, increased the already widespread flood damage in Wales. Throughout the United Kingdom many persons were injured by flying debris or in traffic accidents that were due directly to the weather.

All shipping in the English Channel was halted and London to Paris air service was canceled for the day.

San Francisco, with a mercury reading of 74 deg., experienced its warmest December day in history.

Tax Abatement Announced for Mead Estate

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—Abatement of $86,975 to the estate of the late William Mead of Los Angeles for overassessment of the estate tax was announced today by the Internal Revenue Bureau.

Overassessment resulted from payment of estate inheritance taxes subsequent to filing of Federal returns.

Demurrer Filed in Ouster Fight

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 5. (AP)—L. E. Ross, suspended chief of the bureau of vital statistics, filed a demurrer with the State Civil Service Commission here today, contending that charges filed against him a couple of days ago, charging him with inefficiency, incompetency and misbehavior were illegally drawn. Ross said he will file an answer to the charges within ten days.

Ross denied statements attributed by Dr. Walter M. Dickie, director of the Board of Public Health, that he sponsored the genealogical law under which he is asserted to have operated dishonestly and illegally. He stated the law was enacted in 1915, four years before he took office.

MISSING AIR PILOT'S BODY DISCOVERED

Mail Flyer Found Near Wrecked Plane Southeast of Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Dec. 5. (AP)—The mystery of the fate of Pilot Thomas P. Nelson, who disappeared in the darkness and snowstorm of early Monday while flying the air mail from Bellefonte, Pa., to Cleveland, was solved today when Nelson's body and his badly wrecked plane were found in a ravine near Chagrin Falls, O., thirty-five miles southeast of Cleveland.

Nelson, a pilot of the National Air Transport Company, apparently had realized death was close at hand for his parachute was found partly opened, indicating he had made a belated effort to jump.

Finding of the body ended one of the most intensive searches ever made for a missing flyer. All Monday and Tuesday from five to a dozen planes had searched over the mountains of Western Pennsylvania and along the flying route as far as Cleveland. Today, fifteen planes, led by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, a former "buddy" of Nelson's, had systematically continued the search.

Discovery of the body and wreckage was made by Joseph Vincent of Cleveland, while he was hunting rabbits. The plane's motor was buried four feet deep in the frozen ground. The body of Nelson was partly covered by his parachute.

Both the body and plane were partly covered by snow and only twenty-five feet from a heavily traveled highway.

HAITI UNDER MARTIAL LAW

Frenzied Customhouse Strike Ends With Arrest of Twenty-eight and Tightening of Reins

PORT-AU-PRINCE (Haiti) Dec. 5. (AP)—Col. Richard Cutts, brigade commander of United States Marine Corps forces here, issued a proclamation last night declaring martial law in Port-Au-Prince and Cape Haitien. A strike in the customs office, which threatened serious complications, was the cause.

The strike broke out at 9:30 a.m. yesterday after the dismissal of a Haitian customs employee for fraudulent entries.

Collector D. P. Johnson and another American were struck by clubs while trying to calm the disorder in the customshouse. Some of the clerks smashed their typewriters and forced an entrance into government buildings to persuade other employees to join them.

TWENTY-EIGHT TAKEN

This demonstration was broken up, but the clerks returned again and had to be checked once more.

Twenty-eight leaders and members of the crowd were arrested.

Patrols of marines and gardes had the city quiet within an hour and a half.

Capt. George O'Shea, son of the fire department chief of Brooklyn, was attacked while making an arrest single-handed. His clothing was badly torn before a patrol of gardes went to rescue him. They were stoned by the crowd.

With the exception of two customs officials, who were slightly injured, no Americans were hurt.

PROCLAMATION ISSUED

All points outside the capital were quiet this morning, except Cayes, where the situation was reported tense. Reinforcements were sent there. The capital was quiet, but an undercurrent of unrest was noticeable.

The proclamation issued last night said that the United States forces are pledged to support the constitutional government of Haiti and with the assistance of the garde had maintained peace and tranquillity for many years. The disorders had followed the activity of agitators who were fomenting trouble, and the proclamation had therefore invoked martial law.

The proclamation added that press articles stirring up opposition to American government forces or officials and speeches of an incendiary nature will cause their authors to be tried before a military tribunal.

HALF OF NATION'S WEALTH MOBILIZED FOR STABILITY

Thousand Industrialists at Hoover Conference Organize Program of Business Expansion

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (Exclusive)—The greatest economic conference in the history of American business met here today for the purpose of translating into actual accomplishment the pledges given President Hoover when financial hysteria threatened to engulf the business world. Under the inspiration of the President this conference, at which half the wealth of the nation was represented, gave testimony to the material strength of the country by setting forth in great detail the upward trend of business for the coming year.

The conference was under the auspices of the United States Chamber of Commerce and was attended by something like 1000 of the leading business executives of the country. In opening the meeting the President bluntly called upon the nation to go to work. The business executives in reply predicted that billions will be spent in new construction expansion and maintenance during the next year, and that all business would be pushed to unprecedented levels starting at once.

ACTION KEYNOTE

Immediate action was the keynote and predominating thought of the conference. All that had gone under the guidance of the President it regarded as preparation. Mr. Hoover pointed out in his remarks that through the voluntary organization of industry and the government the groundwork for extension and organization of cooperation between the various business fields had been provided so that it was only necessary for the conference to perfect plans to this end.

This the conference set about doing. Its work will not be completed until some time late this week or early next week. But it set up a framework for an organization whose function will be to correlate the business activities of the country that progress and expansion may be widespread through intensive construction, steady improvements and betterments, maintained employment and stable wage scales. As the President put it, this organization will seek to set up a "balance wheel of stability."

SENATE CRITICISED

In all that was said by the leaders of American business, the only word of criticism was directed at the United States Senate.

The Senate would have been enlightened regarding the sentiment of business on the failure of the tariff bill could it have heard the response to demands for action on that measure. The business leaders present were from all sections of the country. They shouted and clapped applause when Gen. Otto H. Falk demanded action on the tariff and E. M. Allen, president of the Mathiesson Alkali Works, in reporting on the situation in the chemical industry, asserted that 1930 would be a banner year if the Senate would relieve the pressure under which the trade is proceeding.

Then he delivered a straight from the shoulder blow at the blocs in the Senate by asserting that certain Senators should be strongly reminded that they are "United States Senators."

Otherwise the whole tone of the conference was one of optimism and confidence, in the basic stability of the business of the country and the outlook for the future. This confidence was emphasized in concrete fashion by the enthusiasm with which the conference prepared the way for the appointment of an executive committee which will be a continuing body for the purpose of co-ordinating the activities of private industry in such manner as the Department of Commerce will coordinate the economic activities of the States and local communities. Such a committee was suggested by President Hoover at the conclusion of the recent conferences with various business groups.

RESPONSE GRATIFYING

A formal resolution was approved calling for the appointment of sixty business leaders by Julius Barnes, chairman of the board of the United States Chamber of Commerce. The business men were selected and tonight met in executive session with Mr. Barnes and other officials of the chamber for the purpose of discussing the manner in which such an executive committee shall be or-

Hays Tells Plans for 1930

Increased Expenditures in All Lines of Industry on Prosperity Program

Talkies Added 15,000,000 Per Week to Audiences During Past Year

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (Exclusive)—The contribution of the motion-picture industry to President Hoover's national prosperity program will be one of expansion and increased expenditures in all lines of production, distribution, exhibiting and new construction during the next year, Will H. Hays declared in a statement today at the national business conference called at the President's suggestion by the United States Chamber of Commerce.

The movie czar said that increased audiences which have greeted development of the "sound" justified the industry in spending more money and that its 1930 expansion program will go forward without thought of curtailment.

TEXT OF STATEMENT

The text of Mr. Hays's statement follows:

The attendance in motion-picture theaters today as compared with one year ago has increased 15,000,000 per week, or approximately 15 per cent.

Earlier in the year, when we began to lay plans for the 1930 expansion, with which we shall steadily proceed, we had estimated that the 1929 audience increase would be 10,000,000 weekly. The facts are 5,000,000 better than we had expected.

There has been an increase in 1929 over 1928 in our capital investment of approximately 20 per cent, made necessary by normal expansion and the further preparation for the production of sound pictures and the elaboration of the facilities for their reproduction. This includes the amusement field and also the preparation for expansion in the production of pedagogic, scientic and religious pictures. In the entertainment field alone, our exchanges in the United States handled 25,000 miles of film every day.

EMPLOYEES INCREASED

To conduct the normal operation and to meet the new conditions necessitated by sound and to maintain the changed situation the number of employees today as compared to this time last year has increased 26 1-4 per cent in production, 9 per cent in distribution and 11 1-2 per cent in theater operation.

The total expenditure in 1929 over 1928 on account of production has increased 22 1-2 per cent, for distribution, 13 1-3 per cent, and for theater operation, 14 3-4 per cent. In each instance a considerable proportion of this increase is an increased aggregate of wages.

Sixty and one-fourth per cent more was spent in 1929 than in 1928 for theater construction and purchases; in alteration and repairs to the theaters, 29 per cent more this year than last. Expenditures for advertising and exploitation in-

KING OF ITALY VISITS POPE

Pius Receives Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena in Ceremony Denoting End of Long Conflict

ROME, Dec. 5. (AP)—A King of united Italy paid a visit to a Pope today for the first time in history.

Giving public evidence that the Lateran treaties, which settled the Roman question, have ended the difficulties between the papacy and the House of Savoy, King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena went to the Vatican and were received by Pius XI in the throne room.

The royal trip from the Quirinal Palace to the Vatican was made privately and without display in eight automobiles. Guards on motorcycles escorted the party as far as the old papal fortress, the Castle of Sant' Angelo, where the visit became official.

TROOPS GUARD SQUARE

From the castle the King and Queen and their suite proceeded through files of soldiers to St. Peter's Square, which had been cleared of people and was guarded by papal troops.

The interview between the King and the Pope followed a welcome by the Governor of the Vatican City, ecclesiastics and members of the papal court. It lasted twenty minutes, after which the King and Queen visited Cardinal Gasparri, papal Secretary of State, for an interview in his apartment.

The royal couple then visited St. Peter's before returning to the palace. They were on the territory of the Vatican City for about an hour and a half. Pope Pius stood at the second floor window over the main door of St. Peter's to watch them leave.

PRESENTS EXCHANGED

The Pope and the sovereigns exchanged valuable presents at their interview, the King giving His Holiness a pectoral cross studded with jewels and an ancient crucifix, while

For centuries it has been known that wounds exposed to the rays of the sun were more likely to heal quickly. About the middle of the last century it has also been realized that the sun's rays seemed to have a definite curative effect on certain types of tuberculosis. Even more recently belief has developed that exposure of the skin to the violet rays aided the body to develop an immunity to many of the infectious diseases. Six More Nations Respond to Move for Cessation of Manchuria War

Friendly Reply of China in Contrast to Russia's; Protocol Text Aired

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—Indicating satisfaction with the results of his efforts to bring peace between China and the soviet in Manchuria, Secretary Stimson considered as closed tonight his dramatic attempt to mass public opinion of the world against war.

Almost at the moment the Secretary showed his belief that the troubles in Manchuria had been ended by a basis of settlement reached through direct negotiations, six other nations responded to his urging that the signatories of the general pact for the renunciation of war co-operate with the United States in bringing about a cessation of hostilities. No further correspondence on this subject is expected to be initiated by the American government.

NINE NATIONS JOIN

Nine nations, Great Britain, France, Italy, Holland, Portugal, Mexico, Panama, Cuba, and the Dominican Republic, so far have joined the United States and have indicated their full accord with the move by the Secretary last week in his effort to bring about peace between China and the soviet by a mobilization of world public opinion in support of the anti-war treaty.

Czecho-Slovakia, an original signatory of the anti-war pact, expressed its desire to co-operate fully and stated it had taken steps to learn the attitude of France and Italy in the question. Egypt and Poland remained noncommittal, while Belgium indicated to the American government that the matter will be taken under immediate consideration. Only Japan and Germany of the great powers which were original signatories of the anti-war pact declined to co-operate in the move.

CHINESE FRIENDLY

The friendly reply of the Chinese government—which is recognized by the United States—to the Secretary's appeal for peace arrived at the State Department late today, the Nanking government indicating that it always had desired peace and will continue to maintain a peaceful attitude in accordance with its obligations under the Paris pact in the future.

The Chinese reply is in sharp contrast to that of the soviet government, as indicated in press reports from Moscow. The soviet is reported to have forwarded to the French government an answer to the Secretary's appeal asserting the American communication "cannot be taken as a friendly act" and constituted "unjustifiable pressure."

Secretary Stimson today made public the text of the protocol signed between the Mukden and soviet representatives establishing a basis of settlement for the dispute between the Chinese and the soviet, which began last summer when the Chinese took over control of the Chinese Eastern Railway and deposed the soviet manager and assistant manager.

The text of the protocol is contained in a telegram of the official Russian news agency, Tass, and was forwarded to the State Department by the American legation at Peiping.

MORE NATIONALIST MUTINIES REPORTED

SHANGHAI, Dec. 5. (AP)—Serious Nationalist government troop defections, apparently connected with the Pukow mutiny of several thousand government soldiers with disorders Tuesday, are reported tonight as taking place at numerous other localities along the Yangtze River.

In addition to outbreaks at Pukow, disorders at Wuhu, sixty miles from the Nanking capital, and the reported pillage of Anking in Anhwei Province by a brigade which mutinied, dispatches from up the Yangtze River stated that Nationalist government forces at Hsu, 300 miles above Hankow, and a detachment at Ichang have turned rebel. Both Hsu and Ichang are in Hupeh Province, up-river from Hankow.

Dispatches from Hankow describing the Ichang situation said that rebellious forces are being attacked by loyal Nationalist troops, resulting in a sharp battle. During the battle two British gunboats, the Aphis and the Ladybird, were fired upon but without damage. In consequence, the British gunboat Bee was dispatched to Ichang from Hankow.

The Japanese Consul at Ichang, said Japanese advices, "advised Japanese nationals to evacuate in the view of the uncertain situation" there.

CHAMBER MEET CHEERS HOOVER

Senate Criticised for Slow Tariff Progress

President Ends Talk With Call for Work

ganized, its personnel and the work it will undertake. It is understood that Mr. Barnes will name the committee either late this week or early next week.

When President Hoover entered the spacious assembly room of the Chamber of Commerce shortly before 10 o'clock he was gratified to find not merely the business leaders invited to the conference but some 600 additional who had come to Washington to participate in what it recognized to be a meeting without parallel in our economic annals.

The confident tone of the President's address won the approval of his audience. Frequently he was interrupted by applause and when at the conclusion of his address he begged permission to prescribe "work" as a cure for all economic evils he was given an ovation.

PRESIDENT SPEAKS

The President told them that the recent crash in the stock market had been followed by, first a recovery of confidence in money markets, and second, by a movement of leading employers to maintain wages and activity.

"The third line of action has been to undertake through voluntary organization of industry the continuity and expansion of the construction and maintenance work of the country," Mr. Hoover continued. "The extension and organization of this work are the purpose of this meeting."

He remarked that in preliminary meetings representatives of the country's leading business enterprises had "shown an unanimity I have seldom seen in our country" in the endeavor "to assure employment and remove the fear of unemployment."

"The very fact that you gentlemen came together for these broad purposes represents an advance in the whole conception of the relationship of business to public welfare," he said. "You represent the business of the United States, undertaking through your own voluntary action to contribute something very definite to the advancement of stability and progress in our economic life. . . . Beyond this, a great responsibility for stability and prosperity rests with the whole people. I have no desire to preach. I may, however, mention one good old word—Work."

LAMONT HEARD

Secretary of Commerce Lamont was presented after the President and elaborated in detail on the ideas for business improvement set forth by Mr. Hoover.

"Our people, generally, are now convinced of the essential soundness of our economic structure and of our economic future, immediate as well as remote," he said.

"It is our job now to justify that confidence and maintain it until such time as the normally constructive and healing forces of industry shall have repaired what damage has been done and the country is again going forward at its normal steady pace."

Following his chief, Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, sounded a call to action by telling the business leaders that the nation is looking to them to get out of the "huddle of conference" and "play ball."

Dr. Klein discussed what he characterized as "routine practical" suggestions for improvement of the basic business conditions of the country by the utilization of government facilities and agencies.

BUSINESS REPORTS

Reporting on the business situation of the country, thirty-two representatives of as many different enterprises delivered brief addresses. In all of these optimism for the future was the keynote. It was in these addresses that the scope of the business trend for 1930 was emphasized.

R. H. Aishton, chairman of the executive committee of the Association of Railway Executives, said the present financial program of the class one railroads of this country for the calendar year 1930 called for $1,060,000,000 for new equipment and additions and betterments to property.

In the electrical field the outlook is altogether hopeful, according to a statement read by Matthew S. Sloan, president of the New York Edison Company, and president of the National Electric Light Association.

Mr. Sloan repeated the assurance previously given Mr. Hoover that the public utilities of the country would spend $1,400,000,000 during 1930 for new construction, an increase of $110,000,000 over 1929, and $410,000,000 in maintenance. He said that, speaking generally, the public utilities are healthy. He could foresee no reason why it should not continue so during 1930. The electric utilities, he added, will spend $665,000,000, an increase of $65,000,000 over 1929. In addition, they will spend $125,000,000 for maintenance. This program represents normal provision to care for the power demands of the nation's homes and work places. It is estimated that expenditures for 1929 for all purposes—construction, maintenance, wages, taxes, fuel and other costs—will amount to $2,100,000,000.

STEEL OUTLOOK

J. A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corporation, said he liked "this idea of co-operation between business and government," and "we have a great opportunity to expand the business prosperity of the country right now."

"I can assure you that there will be stable wages and prices in the steel industry next year," he continued. "If there are any people in the steel industry who think they'll pinch a few pennies off wages in 1930 the rest of the people in the industry will attend to their case. Though I don't know how near this building is to the Federal Trade Commission, I want to say that there will be a very early recovery in business in the United States."

He predicted further that "foreign trade in 1930 in all lines will be better than in 1929," and advised his auditors not to see any menace in increasing imports, because "other countries have got to have a basis of exchange."

MOTOR INDUSTRY

Alvan Macauley, president of the Packard Motor Car Company, and representative of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, announced that "the country need not worry about the motor industry—we shall never be down seriously for long."

He said there is no likelihood of wage reductions, that 4,335,000 workers directly or indirectly are employed, and that a manufacturing output of 5,000,000 new cars per year could be considered normal.

A market for that number of machines is in sight for 1930, he asserted, because of replacement demands by present car operators for 2,750,000 new machines, because of export requirements for 1,000,000 vehicles, and because of increased demand for trucks and busses and for natural growth.

An estimate that general construction next year will require $8,000,000,000 was presented by R. C. Marshall for the Associated General Contractors, who remarked that "speculative money is now flowing back into investment fields, stimulating particularly residential construction activity in many sections."

Frank L. Smith, president of the Portland Cement Association, said that the effect of business conferences had been to "establish the hope that demand for building materials in 1930 are equal that of 1929."

AMPLE CREDITS

In discussing credits, John G. Lonsdale, president of the American Bankers' Association, predicted that there will be ample credit available during 1930 on reasonable terms for business conduct and expansion.

Trowbridge Callaway, president of the Investment Bankers' Association, and Hiram S. Cody of the Mortgage Bankers' Association, reviewed briefly conditions which led them to agree in general with Mr. Lonsdale's judgment.

S. W. Wilder, for the Manufacturing Chemists' Association, said that its members had "entire confidence in satisfactory business during 1930," and intended to carry forward an improvement program that would involve $250,000,000 for the industry.

A. D. Whiteside of the American Wool Institute said that industry was "holding its own and would do everything it could to maintain its present situation in production and employment," and had confidence in its being able to do so because there was only a thirty-day supply of worsteds on hand.

SHIPYARDS BUSY

Homer L. Ferguson, president of the Newport News Shipbuilding Company, reported vast improvement in shipyard activities during recent months and an outlook for further expansion soon. Under construction in American yards today, he said, is a $90,000,000 total of commercial vessels and a $32,000,000 total of naval vessels in addition, with export trade prospects that promise further development.

A review of merchandising conditions by great executives in various lines was asked by Chairman Barnes at the night session.

"Holiday business is off to a good start generally over the United States and Christmas buying seems to be up to normal," said Alfred B. Koch, president of the National Retail Dry Goods Association. "Taking a test group of stores located in different parts of the United States, we find that business for the first three weeks of November is showing a substantial increase over the same period last year."

He said the trade judgment is that dry goods sales during the next six months will equal or surpass those of last year "unless some untoward condition, industrially, developed."

Among those attending the conference were Arthur S. Bent, president Bent Brothers, Inc., Los Angeles, and Herbert Fleishhacker, president of the Anglo and London Paris National Bank, San Francisco.

HOOVER OUTLINES NEW RELATION OF BUSINESS TO WELFARE OF PUBLIC

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—The text of President's Hoover's address before a special meeting today of several hundred business men called by the United States Chamber of Commerce follows:

This body represents the industries of the United States. You have been invited to create a temporary organization for the purpose of systematically spreading into industry as a whole the measures which have been taken by some of our leading industries to counteract the effect of the recent panic in the stock market. There has, necessarily, been some unemployment, starting with diversion of capital from the channels of business into the channel of speculation and, after the break, by some reduction in the demand for luxuries and semi-necessities from those who met with losses. But the large effect was to create undue pessimism, fear, uncertainty and hesitation in business. These emotions, being emotions, if they had been allowed to run their course would, by feeding on themselves, create difficulties. The American mind is prone to revert to previous occasions when we were much less able to organize to meet such situations.

EXPERIENCE REVERSED

These are potential difficulties which cannot be cured with words. If we could do so, the merest description of the fundamental stability of our vast organism of production and distribution, touched with the light of the future of the United States, would cure it instantly. The cure for such storms is action; the cure for unemployment is to find jobs.

We have, fortunately, since our previous crashes, established the Federal Reserve System. The first step in recovering confidence was made by the powerful effectiveness of that system, and the strong position of the banks, the result of which has been steadily diminishing interest rates, with a smooth and rapid return into the channels of business of the money previously absorbed in the speculative market. This is a reversal of our historic experience and is a magnificent tribute to the system. Capital is becoming more abundant in all parts of the country, the bond market is growing stronger each day and already public issues, held back for months, have begun to appear.

FEAR REMOVED

The second action necessary to maintain progress was the standard set by leading employers that so far as they were concerned there would be no movement to reduce wages, and a corresponding assurance from the leaders of labor that not only would they use their utmost influence to allay labor conflict, but would also co-operate with the employers in the present situation. These assurances have been given and thereby we not only assure the consuming power of the country, but we remove fear from millions of homes.

The third line of action has been to undertake through voluntary organization of industry the continuity and expansion of the construction and maintenance work of the country, so as to take up any slack in employment which arises in other directions. The extension and organization of this work are the purpose of this meeting. The greatest tool which our economic system affords for the establishment of stability is the construction and maintenance work, the improvements and betterments, and general clean-up of plants in preparation for cheaper production and the increased demand of the future.

BALANCE WHEEL

It has long been agreed by both business men and economists that this great field of expenditure could, by its acceleration in time of need, be made into a great balance wheel of stability. It is agreed that its temporary speeding up to absorb otherwise idle labor brings great subsequent benefits and no liabilities. A very considerable part of our wage earners are employed directly and indirectly in construction and the preparation and transportation of its materials. In the inevitable periods when the demand for consumable goods increases and labor is fully employed, the construction and maintenance can slacken and we actually again gain in stability. No one would advocate the production of consumable goods beyond the daily demand; that in itself only stirs up future difficulty.

I am glad to report that such a program has met with universal approval of all those in responsible positions. Our railways and utilities and many of our larger manufacturers have shown a most distinguished spirit in undertaking to maintain, and even to expand, their construction and betterment programs. The State, county and municipal governments are responding in the most gratifying way to the requests to co-operate with the Federal government in every prudent expansion of public works. Much construction work had been postponed during the past few months by reason of the shortage of mortgage money due to the diversion of capital to speculative purposes, which should soon be released.

TO CO-ORDINATE MOVEMENT

It is to make this movement systematic in all branches of the industrial world that we are here—that is the task. I believe that with the great back logs which are already assured by the public-service institutions and the governmental works, you will be able to build up the construction and maintenance activities for 1930 to a higher level than that of 1929, and that is what we require.

Another of the great balance wheels of stability is our foreign trade. But in stimulating our exports we should be mainly interested in development work abroad such as roads and utilities, which increase the standards of living of peoples and thus increase the demand for goods from every nation, for we gain in prosperity by a prosperous world, not by displacing others.

All of these efforts have one end—to assure employment and to remove the fear of unemployment.

NEW CONCEPTION

The very fact that you gentlemen come together for these broad purposes represents an advance in the whole conception of the relationship of business to public welfare. You represent the business of the United States, undertaking through your own voluntary action to contribute something very definite to the advancement of stability and progress in our economic life. This is a far cry from the arbitrary and dog-eat-dog attitude of the business world of some thirty or forty years ago. And this is not dictation or interference by the government with business. It is a request from the government that you co-operate in prudent measures to solve a national problem. A great responsibility and a great opportunity rest upon the business and economic organization of the country. The task is one fitted to its fine initiative and courage.

Beyond this, a great responsibility for stability and prosperity rests with the whole people. I have no desire to preach. I may, however, mention one good old word—work.

SENATE VOTES ON VARE TODAY

Long, Costly Row for Seat at Capital Near End

Even Friends Predict He'll Lose Final Skirmish

Former Governor Pinchot Bitterly Attacked

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—The Senate votes tomorrow at noon on the right of Senator-elect William S. Vare of Pennsylvania, to the seat for which he campaigned in 1926 at a cost of $785,000 and friends conceded privately tonight that he will be excluded.

Immediately after voting on the resolution of Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, barring the Philadelphia Republican leader, the Senate will vote on the contest for the seat of William B. Wilson, Democratic opponent of Vare in the 1926 election.

The elections committee unanimously has declared that Wilson was not elected. If the predictions of those who conducted polls today hold good, the Pennsylvania seat, which has been in controversy for three years, will be vacated formally by tomorrow and subject to being filled by Gov. Fisher of Pennsylvania.

Declaring that in the general elections Wilson failed to prove his case against Vare, Chairman Waterman of the Elections Investigating Committee, condemned severely former Gov. Pinchot.

SQUANDERED THOUSANDS

"We have squandered hundreds of thousands of dollars in ferreting and running this thing down," he said, "all occasioned by the indecent methods that were sponsored by Gov. Pinchot and his class in Pennsylvania, not for the purpose of electing Mr. Wilson, but for the purpose of exploiting at public expense and the expense of the Senate this man.

"I say that there never was such a fiasco brought to the attention of the Senate as this has been shown to be. What is the result? It is that the contestant (Mr. Wilson) has not made good his case, and, in my judgment it results fairly in the conclusion that Mr. Vare was elected by a plurality of more than 120,000 legal votes."

OTHERS DELIVER BLOWS

Senator Caraway, Arkansas, and Bratton, New Mexico, the Democratic members of the investigating committee, were just as severe in their denunciation of Vare's campaign. Both averred that his election was "saturated with fraud" and could not be allowed. They conceded that Wilson had not received a plurality of the legal votes and was not entitled to the seat.

The investigation into Vare's primary campaign and the subsequent inquiry into the election by Senate committees has taken more than three years of study at almost $200,000 expense.

creased inu 1929 over 1928 by 12 1-4 per cent in production, 43 1-3 per cent in distribution and 17 1-4 per cent in theater operation.

The plans for the first six months of 1930 compared with the first six months of 1929 provide an increase in the number of employees in production of 8 1-4 per cent, in distribution, 5 1-2 per cent, and in theater operation, 1 1-2 per cent.

ATTENDANCE TO GROW

There will be an increase of 15 1-4 per cent in the total expenditures on account of production in the first six months of 1930, as compared with the same period of 1929, in distribution, an increase of 3 per cent and in theater operation, 1 2-3 per cent. In all three of these branches there will be an aggregate wage increase amounting, in the case of production, to 23 3-4 per cent.

Alternations and repairs to theaters will increase 10 1-2 per cent in the first six months of 1930, over the like period in 1929. And the additions, betterments and repairs to studio and studio equipment will increase 11 1-2 per cent. Theater construction and purchases will not proportionately increase.

Plans for the first six months of 1930 call for an increase in exploitation expenditures over the like period in 1929 of 17 4-9 per cent in the studios, 17 1-2 per cent in distribution and 3 1-2 per cent in theater operation.

Because the increased production of the quality sound pictures of the last six months will be in circulation in the first half of 1930, there will be a still further substantial increase in this attendance. This increase in attendance and the increase in production are both significant, not only as a measure of this industry's progress, but in relation to the film's value as the sales instrumentality for all other American manufactured products.

BOOST IN AUTO PRICES LOOMS

Dealer Association's Head Forecasts Increase

He Says Manufacturers Will Keep Within Demand

Scrapping and Exports Make for Firm Market

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (Exclusive)—Definite forecast of increased automobile prices during 1930 over 1929 were made today by C. A. Vane of Chicago, general manager of the National Automobile Dealers' Association. Vane was in Washington with J. R. Histed of Chicago, the next president of the National Automobile Dealers' Association, attending the conference of business leaders called together by President Hoover at the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

"As is well known to those economists who follow practices in the automobile business," said Vane, "estimates of probable production during a twelve-month period are made by the manufacturing units and prices are predicated upon reaching those maximums. The greater the volume for the factories the greater the profit, because while direct costs increase proportionately to the number of cars built, indirect costs such as overhead, occupancy and depreciation, go down per unit, because the total amount of this plant occupancy overhead and depreciation is spread over a greater number of units.

OVERPRODUCTION ADMITTED

"Normal markets in the automobile industry for the last two years have been considered somewhat between 4,500,000 and 5,000,000 motor vehicles. This includes cars and trucks produced by American and Canadian manufacturers and American cars assembled abroad from units produced in this country. The continental United States market has been considered at 3,800,000 to 4,000,000 passenger cars and trucks.

"No one in the industry will deny there was an overproduction in the automotive industry this year. This overproduction has been estimated by C. E. Eldridge, general sales manager of Reo, as high as 1,000,000 vehicles. About half of this overproduction, taking the Eldridge figures at their face value, has been in the months since July 1. A part of this overproduction, of course, has been sold already, and at a loss to the dealer.

KEEP WITHIN DEMAND

"Mindful of the situation, American automobile producers have reached the conclusion, according to my own talks with them, that it is the part of wisdom to keep 1930 production within dealer demand. This demand, of course, will not support a 5,500,000 unit total, which will be the 1929 total production figure. Indeed, estimates are now that 1930 will be from 1,000,000 to 1,250,000 cars beneath the 1929 figures.

"Already fourth-quarter sales in the field have reflected the fact that the 1929 market and a part of the 1930 market have been sold. Production lines are being held now at lower levels than ever before in the history of the business, in percentage of last quarter to total year's business. They will continue to be held low during the first quarter of 1930 until the actual sales demand at profitable prices begins to register itself.

PRICES ALREADY RAISED

"Two manufacturers already have recognized this fact. Both the Studebaker Corporation and the Cadillac Motor Car Company have instituted increased scales of prices. There is no doubt that new models offered at the New York and Chicago shows will be introduced at prices advanced to offset the increased costs of lower production.

"Some concern is felt over the future of the automobile industry. This concern is groundless. There are 25,500,000 motor vehicles now in operation. The annual scrap is 2,500,000 cars and trucks. The export demand is for 1,000,000 units. Here are 3,500,000 units clamoring for recognition. Add to that the new buyers, the two-car families and miscellaneous hitherto undiscovered, and the automobile industry has a natural demand for 4,000,000 to 4,500,000 vehicles.

"The automobile industry is among the first to respond to periods of depression, but by the same token it is the very first to recover. Even if we have a 20 per cent curtailment in 1930 over 1929 we will still make more than 4,000,000 units, and that will be the largest manufacturing business in the United States."

ACTOR SAYS MARRIAGE POSSIBILITY

Lionel Atwill Admits He May Wed Mrs. MacArthur, Stotesbury Heiress

NEW YORK, Dec. 5. (Exclusive) Lionel Atwill, actor, admitted today that his marriage to Mrs. Douglas MacArthur, heiress to a part of the Philadelphia Stotesbury millions, is a "possibility."

"Of course, you know," Atwill explained, "there has been no formal announcement, but our marriage is within the realm of possibility."

"That's just a coincidence," was Atwill's explanation of the fact that both Mrs. MacArthur and himself occupy apartments at the Beverly Hotel here.

The matrimonial careers of Mrs. MacArthur and Atwill include two marriages and two divorces each.

Mrs. MacArthur, daughter of Mrs. E. T. Stotesbury of Philadelphia, first married Walter Brooks, Jr., of Baltimore in 1911. They had two children. Following her Paris divorce Mrs. MacArthur, in 1922, wed Gen. Douglas MacArthur of Washington. She obtained a divorce in Reno last June, charging incompatibility.

Atwill divorced his second wife, Elsie Mackay, last year, naming his protege, Max Montenol, as co-respondent. He was divorced in 1919 by his first wife, Phyllis Relph Atwill.

STEP FOR RIVER PEACE RENEWED

The conference is to reconvene at the call of Chairman Wilson or of William J. Donovan, former assistant Attorney-General, who is well acquainted with the Colorado River problem.

Francis Wilson, temporary chairman of the upper basin conference, called to discuss the division of 7,500,000 acre feet of water annually, said the three-day meeting "accomplished all that it set out to accomplish."

ENGINEERS TO REPORT

The conference, said Wilson, approached the question of water division cautiously, giving over to engineers of the four States the work of arriving at a basis for division of the water under the terms of the Santa Fe compact. These engineers will report to the conference when their work is done. The water to be given each State will be determined by taking into account the supply, maximum application and acreage to be irrigated.

Donovan has been offered the permanent chairmanship of the conference, but has not yet accepted, the temporary chairman said he has been advised by the Secretary of the Interior. Assurance was given that if the former member of the Attorney-General's staff, who has acted heretofore as chairman of lower basin conferences, will accept, the appointment will be made immediately by President Hoover.

Wilson observed that the preliminary meeting of the upper basin States was one of "entire accord among the delegates."

NO APPROPRIATIONS MADE FOR DAM ACT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—No appropriations for the carrying out of the Boulder Canyon Dam Act is made in the Interior Department's annual supply bill, since certain necessary preliminary steps incident to the project, including contracting of power to be produced, have not been carried out.

Appearing before the House appropriations subcommittee considering the Interior Department measure, Dr. Elwood Mead, reclamation commissioner, explained that no survey for actual construction of the project can be made until these steps have been taken.

These surveys will include studies for design of the cofferdam, which Mr. Mead estimated will be eighty feet high, surveys to get a correct topographic map of the dam site, and preparation of plans for waterworks.

ARIZONA'S DAM SUIT SOON READY FOR COURT

TUCSON (Ariz.) Dec. 5. (AP)—John Mason Ross, member of the Arizona Colorado River Commission, told students of the University of Arizona in an address today that Arizona's suit challenging the constitutionality of the Boulder Canyon Dam Act will be filed in the Supreme Court of the United States in the latter part of this month.

The papers have passed through the third draft, Ross said, and will be turned over to the printer in a few days. Ross and Commissioner A. H. Favour addressed the students on Colorado River problems.

Court Declares Purchaser as Guilty as Seller

Opinion Given Under State Bone Dry Measure

MONTGOMERY (Ala.) Dec. 5. (AP) The Alabama Supreme Court, in construing this State's "bone-dry" prohibition law, today declared the purchaser or possessor equally as guilty as the seller of liquor.

Justice Bouldin, who wrote the opinion, declared:

"Receiving prohibited liquors into possession, having them in possession, whether by manufacture, gift or purchase, and whether held for sale or for personal use, is an offense under our law.

"It follows," the opinion continued, "a man cannot 'buy' prohibited liquors in the ordinary sense, acquiring actual possession thereof, without a violation of the prohibition law in Alabama. A charge that an accused person did buy prohibited liquors is a charge that he accepted delivery, receiving same into possession."

Reduction Laid to Drop in Sale Volume

NEW YORK, Dec. 5. (Exclusive) The United Cigar Stores cut the price of cigarettes which had been selling for 15 cents a package to 12 cents a package today and the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company forthwith followed suit. The grocery chain had been selling the popular brands two packages for a quarter. The United cut is said to be nation-wide.

The cigar chain plans to meet all competition, A. C. Allen, executive vice-president, said today. On the new basis the company is conducting the sale of popular cigarettes at a loss. "We did not want it, but were forced to it to keep up volume of sales," Mr. Allen said. "You can lose either way. Our volume was suffering."

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs, chronic colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

DIRIGIBLE SITE REPORT ASKED

Recommendations Will be Given Public Soon

Choice of Southland Laid to Strategic Reasons

North and South Prepare for Fight in Congress

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (Exclusive)—The report of the Navy General Board upon which Secretary Adams based his recommendation yesterday for selection of Camp Kearny, near San Diego, as the west coast dirigible base will become public, probably early next week, upon request of the House Naval Affairs Committee.

It is believed the report will show that the general board, whose findings usually remain secret as a matter of defense policy, favors the Southern California site, as against the rival Sunnyvale location near San Francisco primarily for "strategic" reasons.

Chairman Britten of the Naval Committee is waiting for a printed copy of the material filed with Congress yesterday. When he gets this and has read it he intends calling his committee and asking authority to request that the Navy Department supplement it with the report of the general board. Secretary Adams is said to have no objection to furnishing it upon this request.

Britten said today that hearings on the dirigible base probably will be started next week or the week following. Adherents of both the San Diego and Sunnyvale sites are girding themselves for a determined fight—the Southern California contingent to hold the advantage obtained in the Navy Department's recommendation for Camp Kearny and the northerners to upset this if arguments and political maneuvering can do it.

BAY CITY ROLLS SLEEVES HIGHER IN FIGHT

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5. (Exclusive)—A special committee appointed by various organizations to map the campaign for selection of Sunnyvale as the west coast dirigible base despite the recommendation of Camp Kearny at San Diego by Secretary of the Navy Adams, today sent telegrams and letters to all organizations in Northern and Central California, Pacific Northwest and Rocky Mountain States that previously indorsed Sunnyvale, urging them to stand unitedly as "Sunnyvale still is in the fight."

The Naval Affairs Committee of the House will take up the dirigible-site matter after passage of the naval appropriations bill. It is the plan now to send the special committee to Washington to fight for the bay site.

City Treasurer Matheson said that the bonds must be sold in one block of $41,000,000 and for cash.

BUDGET-IN-BRIEF GIVEN TO PUBLIC

Federal Compilation Follows Hoover's Suggestion

Vast Costs of Past Wars and Preparedness Listed

Seventy-two Cents of Each Dollar So Absorbed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—President Hoover today gave the public his Federal "budget at a glance," for those who have not the time to wade through the staggering compilation of figures which accompanied his budget message to Congress.

The statement of today shows that approximately 72 cents of every dollar to be spent by the Federal government during the next fiscal year must go to pay for past wars and preparedness for any that may occur in the future.

Only 8 cents of every dollar will be spent to keep the actual machinery of the government functioning; 13 cents will be devoted to the social aids and subsidies, and the remaining 7 cents to maintaining the government's fiscal affairs.

GREATER PART OF OUTLAY

Of the $3,830,445,231 which Congress has been asked to appropriate for the fiscal year beginning July 1, next, the sum of $2,733,313,283 must be provided for payment of principal and interest on the public debt, incurred to prosecute war, outlays for pensions, hospitalization and other expenses incurred on behalf of veterans of former wars and for national defense—the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and National Guard.

All of the government's extensive activities, including public health, Indian affairs, aid to labor and agriculture and the far-flung public holdings program, will consume only 13 per cent of the Federal outlay. The total recommended for all these activities is only somewhat in excess of $500,000,000.

The statement of "government expenditures at a glance" was prepared for President Hoover so that the country could receive an intimate glimpse of where the taxpayers' money goes. The statement, naturally, is confined to Federal expenditures.

SLIGHT REDUCTION

The total recommended to be spent next year is somewhat under that for the present fiscal year, not counting any appropriations that may be made to carry on the work of the Federal Farm Board. The proportion of expenditures, however, is approximately the same for the various groups.

In comparison with the total sum recommended, the comparatively insignificant outlay of $300,307,880 is for the executive, legislative and judicial branches, fiscal administration and control of banking, foreign relations, administration of territories and dependencies, civil pensions, to assume the huge post-office deficit and for kindred activities.

In contrast to the nearly $2,750,000,000 for past and possible wars, only approximately $14,500,000 may be spent for education; $51,750,000 for agriculture (exclusive of the new farm relief fund;) $6,500,000 for aids to labor; $15,000,000 for aids to industry and trade and $57,300,000 for building up the merchant marine. The sum of $246,000,000 for public buildings throughout the country is the largest single item outside of those for outlays pertaining to national defense, the public debt and veterans' expenses.

Cut to be Made in Mexican Army

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 5. (AP)—The newspaper El Universal today stated it has learned officially that as soon as President-elect Ortiz Rubio takes office he will reduce the standing army to 55,000 troops. Ten regiments of cavalry are to be disbanded in February.

The paper says the move will be taken to reduce expenses and because of a feeling that a larger army is unnecessary.

"Although I am only 22 years old, I have four babies to care for. Words cannot explain what your Vegetable Compound has done for me. My mother always kept it in her house for years. She calls it "the old reliable." Before my last baby was born she urged me to take it because I was so terribly weak, and I gave it a good trial. After three bottles I could feel a great improvement. At one time I had to lie down four or five times a day. I still take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound whenever I need it for I find that it gives me strength to be a good mother to my little family. I will gladly answer letters asking about it."—Mrs. Vern L. Dennings.

MRS. WILLIAM PARENT

"When my little daughter was born we were living on a homestead way up in northern Alberta, Canada. I had four other children and I worked so hard that I suffered a nervous breakdown. The doctor's tonic didn't seem to help me and when a friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I began to take that instead. One day I felt good, the next day I might feel bad but I kept on with the Vegetable Compound until I felt well again. It is a wonderful medicine for it surely brought back my strength. Today I can do anything, thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If any woman will write to me I will tell her all I can about this medicine."—Mrs. William Parent.

MRS. DELLA HUTSELL

"Three years ago I was in bed three months with a nervous breakdown. For years I suffered, having to lie down frequently and often I felt so weak I could hardly stand up. I have four children, the youngest 21, and I board two little school girls. I try to keep my home as a mother should but I am at the age so many women dread. Since taking six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I feel 100% stronger. I am not so nervous and my appetite is better. My head only bothers me once in a while for which I praise your Vegetable Compound. I am always recommending it to other ladies when we get talking together."—Mrs. Della Hutsell.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—Persons who smuggle jewelry and fine clothes into the United States should be classed as pirates and buccaneers, in the opinion of Seymour Lowman, in charge of the customs service, who revealed tonight that milady returning from abroad is the chief offender in the smuggling of such articles.

A new fur coat, a glittering necklace and the like hold such attraction for many women that Lowman said some seem unable to resist the impulse to try and slip them past the customs agents. His supervision over customs results in his post as assistant Secretary of the Treasury. Enforcement officers, he emphasized, are instructed to shoot only in self-defense or to prevent a felony. He said there have been only eight deaths resulting from shootings by enforcement agents in 1929. It must be remembered, he added, that agents deal with a "smart and

M'MANUS FREE IN MURDER CASE

Judge Orders Jury to Return Acquittal Verdict

Rothstein Mystery Slaying Still Unavenged

Sensational New York Trial Lasted Three Weeks

NEW YORK, Dec. 5. (AP)—By directed verdict George McManus was cleared today of the charge of murder of Arnold Rothstein, king of Broadway gamblers. The trial started three weeks ago. McManus was an associate of Rothstein.

Judge Charles C. Nott, Jr., in directing the jury as to their verdict, said:

"It is not sufficient to prove that a man might have committed a crime. It is necessary to prove that he must have done so."

That, he continued, the State had not done and he had no alternative but to throw the case out of court.

The verdict, which was not unexpected, came as an anticlimax to the case that had stirred the city for more than a year, a case which had cost a police commissioner and several ranking policemen their jobs.

McManus, smiling, rushed from defense table inside the rail to where his wife sat in a second-row spectators' seat. They embraced. Mrs. McManus wept. The verdict ended for him a year of court appearances and police surveillance and four months in Tomb's prison.

"I am very happy," was all he would say. "I am going to my mother."

Three men remain under indictment for the murder, none of them in custody. They are Hyman (Gilly) Biller, pay-off man for McManus, and John Doe and Richard Roe.

Dist.-Atty. Banton would not say today whether he will quash the indictments against them, but that course is expected as he had said he believed McManus was the man that actually fired the shot.

The failure of police and District Attorney to prosecute the case to their satisfaction led administration opponents to make it a major issue in the last city political campaign.

BOWMAN RAPS AT SMUGGLERS

Customs Offenders Target of Customs Chief

He Lists Them With Pirates and Buccaneers

Liquor Killings Also Topic in Church Talk

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—Those who smuggle jewelry and silk cloths into the United States should be classed as pirates and buccaneers, in the opinion of Seymour Lowman, in charge of the customs service, who revealed tonight that nearly returning from abroad is the chief offender in the smuggling of such articles.

"I see for one, a glittering necklace on the like hold such attraction for many women that Lowman and some seem unable to resist the temptation to try and slip past the customs agents. It must be remembered, he added, that we again deal with a "smart and desperate class of criminals" and often it is simply a question of whose gun barks first as to who lives.

Summarizing conditions, Lowman said liquor clearance figures from Canada are decreasing; that all cleared does not reach the United States; that even the total clearance is far below America's $2,500,000,000 drink bill in the last year before prohibition, and that of the 750 men assigned to border patrol work, two-thirds are on the northern border.

STATE GAS-TAX FUNDS DIVIDED

Riley Announces Portioning of $5,924,820

Large Increase Over Last Year Recorded

Los Angeles County Gets Largest Share

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 5. (Exclusive)—An apportionment of $5,924,820 in gasoline-tax funds to California counties for highway construction and maintenance was announced today by State Controller Riley. The money was collected in the six months' period from April 1 to September 30 and is an increase in the apportionment for the corresponding period of 1928 of $897,915.09.

Riley also announced the allocation of $3,924,820.21 to the State Division of Highways for repair and maintenance of highways, and $5,786,077.79 for the construction of new State highways.

UNDER NEW LAW

"This is the first apportionment made under the 1929 law, fixing a minimum of $20,000 per year to be paid each county from the gasoline-tax receipts," said Riley. "Under the new method of apportionment, fifteen small counties will receive $10,000 each for highway work for the half-year period, or $150,000 in all, as compared to $91,713 under the old system. This represents a gain in highway funds to the small counties of $58,286 or 63 1-2 per cent."

Riley declared the new apportionment law was designed to aid sparsely settled counties that have few automobile registrations but heavy motor vehicle travel on their roads, especially during the touring season. To all counties other than the fifteen the apportionment of the gasoline-tax funds is on the basis of auto registrations.

LOS ANGELES DOES WELL

Alpine county made the greatest gain under the new system, her allotment of $10,000 comparing with $237.79 the county would have received on a basis of former registrations. Los Angeles county got the biggest share of the six-months' division, her total being $2,387,353. San Francisco receives $454,797 and Alameda county $417,716. Fresno gets $174,540.23; Imperial, $68,603.30; Inyo, $10,000; Kern, $105,922.20; Kings, $29,035.83; Orange, $143,144.68; Riverside, $91,583.41; San Bernardino, $138,135.10; San Diego, $223,071; San Luis Obispo, $94,918.19; Santa Barbara, $71,821.73; Tulare, $96,227.81 and Ventura, $64,136.52.

Governor Said to be Eying Southland for Appointee as Private Secretary

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 5. (Exclusive)—Reports were current today in Capitol circles that Gov. Young is looking for a Southern Californian well versed in practical politics to accept appointment as his private secretary for the duration of the 1930 gubernatorial campaign. The Governor is expected to announce his candidacy soon after January 1, next.

Keith Carlin, the present private secretary, will leave the Governor's office in January to be attorney for the State Department of Vocational and Professional Standards.

Gov. Young, it is declared, is considering the selection of an able southern man on a temporary basis. Following the campaign, if the Governor is re-elected, the plan would be to promote Vincent D. Kennedy, the Governor's executive secretary, to the private secretaryship. Kennedy has many boosters for Carlin's post, but it is understood he prefers to remain at his present job, to complete special work he has undertaken for the Governor.

FIRST SUPPLY BILL REPORTED

Interior Department Total Set at $283,189,973

Measure Fixes Smaller Sum Than Hoover Asked

Indian Affairs Bureau Will Get Larger Amount

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—A $283,189,973 bill for carrying on the activities of the Interior Department for the next fiscal year was reported today to the House by its Appropriations Committee as the first of the large supply measures to be worked into shape for action by Congress under the Hoover administration.

The measure compresses the budget estimates for the department to $40,674 less than the sum recommended under the President's program and is $3,442,102 smaller than for the last year. It allows $20,963,700 for the permanent and indefinite appropriations, bringing the total appropriations for the department to $304,153,673 for the next fiscal year.

The outstanding features of the measure are the reduction by $8,111,000 of the requirements of the pension bureau, due to the increasing number of deaths of Civil War veterans, and the increase by $3,112,000 for the Bureau of Indian Affairs, [illegible]

FIRST SUPPLY BILL REPORTED

Interior Department Total Set at $283,189,973

Measure Fixes Smaller Sum Than Hoover Asked

Indian Affairs Bureau Will Get Larger Amount

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—A [illegible] bill for carrying on the activities of the Interior Department for the next fiscal year was reported today to the House by its Appropriations Committee as the first of the large supply measures to be rushed this session for action by Congress under the Hoover administration.

The measure compresses the budget estimates for the department to $283,189,973 from the sum recommended under the President's program and is $2,447,102 smaller than for the present year. It allows $20,963,700 for the permanent and indefinite appropriations, bringing the total available for the department to $304,153,673 for the next fiscal year.

The outstanding features of the measure are the reduction by $8,111,000 in all of the appropriations of the pension bureau, due to the increasing number of deaths of Civil War veterans, and the increase by $2,112,000 for the Bureau of Indian Affairs, as compared to the outlay last year.

To meet the decreased needs of the pension bureau, $235,099,400 is recommended, as compared with $243,211,000 for last year.

More attention is paid to the requirements of the Indian Bureau and the total expenditure recommended amounts to $19,786,129, as compared with $16,673,215. This represents an increase of approximately one-fifth in the expenditures for the benefit of the Indian.

NATIONAL PARK BUDGET LARGER

Appropriations Committee Reports Supply Bill

California Playgrounds Get $675,560

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—The importance of the nation's parks as recreation centers was pointed out by the House Appropriations Committee when it reported to the House today the annual supply bill of the Interior Department and provided an increase for the National Park Service over the last fiscal year and the budget estimates. The $8,070,935 allotted exceeded the appropriation for the current year by $474,995, and the budget by $318,420.

A part of the increase is to be used to permit the park service to study areas proposed for national parks and monuments and proposed changes in boundaries of established parks.

The committee also set aside $200,000 for the purchase of privately owned lands in the national parks and pointed out that the fiscal year 1931 would see for the first time in effective operation the program of $5,000,000 a year for construction of roads and trails in the national parks.

Allotments for national parks include: Gen. Grant, California, $15,-950; Grand Canyon, Arizona, $153,-600; Grand Teton, $30,700; Lassen Volcanic, California, $30,500; Sequoia, California, $113,100; Yosemite, California, $510,100.

The sum of $75,000 was set aside for purchase of land and protection of animals in Yellowstone National Park.

For road construction $5,000,000 was provided and $75,000 was set aside to care for national monuments.

INSURANCE FIGHT WON BY SLAYER

Convict Serving Life for Wife's Death Gets Verdict in Arizona Court

FLORENCE (Ariz.) Dec. 5. (AP)—One of the most unusual incidents of southwestern jurisprudence took place in Superior Court here when Granville W. Johnson, serving a life term in the State prison for murdering his wife, won a fight against an insurance company for payment to him of the dead woman's insurance.

The case was tried by a jury and as a result Johnson's attorneys announce that they will use the verdict in an effort to obtain a pardon for their client.

An eleventh-hour commutation of sentence saved Johnson from hanging May 13, 1927.

His wife was slain in an automobile camp near Williams and Johnson immediately was arrested and tried. He had taken out a joint insurance policy with his wife a short time before the killing.

The judgment, should it be granted, gives Johnson $6220, which includes interest on the policy, which amounted to $5000.

OWNERSHIP OF LIQUOR TEAM TOLD

But Owners Aver Outfit Used to Haul Booze at Hueneme Beach Stolen

VENTURA, Dec. 5.—The District Attorney's and Sheriff's offices here today revealed that the team and wagon used by rum-runners Tuesday night near Hueneme to haul seventy-five cases of "Christmas cheer," which was confiscated by Deputy Sheriffs Ed Hearne and Grant Fraser when they surprised the rum-runners at work, are the property of Frank and Jim Eastwood, ranchers of the Oxnard district.

Officers also announced that Ralph Long, tile setter, who said his home was in San Francisco, was captured as a suspect in the home of Roy Launz, son-in-law of Jim Eastwood, shortly after the wagon-load of liquor was confiscated by the deputies.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Don R. Holt announced today that the Eastwood brothers told him the team and wagon had been stolen from their place Tuesday.

Long was arraigned before Judge Malvern Dimmick in the Justice Court this morning on a charge of possession of 180 gallons of liquor, and bail was fixed at $1000. He begged for time in which to plead to charges, and his preliminary hearing was set for the 11th inst., at the request of Dep. Dist.-Atty. Holt. Long is attempting to get in touch with friends in Los Angeles to bail him out of jail.

All day yesterday Long was grilled by Sheriff R. E. Clark, Dist.-Atty. Hollingsworth and Dep. Dist.-Atty. Holt, but he refused to commit himself. He has given officers several different addresses for himself, and several different names for his sister who, he says, lives in Los Angeles.

First Gun Fired in Politics War

REDLANDS, Dec. 5.—Redlands promises to have a hot political fight in the spring, for the opening gun was fired in the Council meeting this week when Capt. Theodore Krumm, the only holdover member of the Council, gave notice that the campaign would be fought on a reorganization and "cleaning up" of the city water department. Capt. Krumm alone does not come up for re-election in the spring. Mayor Allen Wheaton, Councilmen W. L. Fowler and H. H. Ford, Jr., and Harry Nott will retire unless they run and gain their seats. It is generally predicted they will be candidates for re-election.

Capt. Krumm, in an hour's talk before the Council, said that he feels the domestic water user has been discriminated against by the city water department, which has been furnishing water to orange growers at a much lower cost than to the small consumer. He demanded an investigation and Mayor Wheaton appointed a committee to go thoroughly into the matter.

STRAW VOTE SOUGHT ON TWO QUESTIONS

ARCADIA, Dec. 5.—Before two impending issues are called for a special election City Council in session last night instructed City Clerk Mead to mail out cards to voters calling for a straw vote.

The issues to be considered are, whether the city should expend $12,500 in improvements to the City Hall, and $12,500 for a municipal swimming pool, and the second proposition: Shall the city call for a bond election to purchase the ten-and-one-half-acre tract of the Santa Anita Riding and Hunt Club, located at the northwest corner of Huntington Drive and Santa Anita avenue at a cost of $69,800?

Providing the issues are favored in the straw vote, the Council will take immediate action in calling a special election. Complete returns from the vote should be in within the next two weeks as cards were mailed today, City Clerk Mead stated.

PALM SPRINGS, Dec. 5.—A large attendance is anticipated at the first winter swimming event to be held at the El Mirador Hotel here the afternoon of next Sunday. Among the entries is Josephine McKim, the diminutive little swimmer from the Canal Zone who is unquestionably the greatest woman swimmer in the world. Miss McKim proved this recently in the national meet at Honolulu by breaking one world's record, winning the all-round championship and the national championship in the 220, 440, 880 and mile swim. She also broke another world's record in the Olympic tryouts at Rockaway Beach, New York.

Mickey Riley, the only diver to ever hold all four senior national A.A.U. diving championships at one time, will give an exhibition. He also will put on a clown diving act with Dutch Smith, former national diving champion. Their act is among the cleverest and has brought many a laugh in Honolulu, the national meets and wherever they have put it on.

Georgia Coleman, who holds three national diving titles, the indoor ten-foot board, the outdoor three-foot board and the outdoor high diving board, will do some fancy high diving.

Negotiations are also under way to have Buster Crabbe, who won the outdoor national championship single-handed, take part.

After the regular A.A.U. races, in which there will be some keen competition, Tiny Joy Crew, the 3½-year-old aquatic marvel, will perform. Life saving, plain and fancy diving from the three and ten-foot boards are a few of her marvelous feats.

Some of the entries to date are:

Harold Booth and George Harris of the Hollywood Athletic Club; Norman Kittering and Earl Piecia of the Pacific Coast Club, and Herb Barthels, Dutch Smith, Mickey Riley, Olive Haich, Josephine McKim, Blanche Turner, Jenny Cramer and Olive Burke from the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

Saturday evening, preceding the swimming meet, the regular informal dinner-dance will be held in the beautiful new dining-room of El Mirador Hotel.

Legion Post to Retain Salaried Service Officer

VENTURA, Dec. 5.—The City Post of the American Legion will employ a paid service officer soon after January 1, members decided last night in meeting here.

Work of the new officer will be to handle all claims against the government by veterans, to secure hospitalization of disabled veterans, and to transact any other business needed.

Plans for a Christmas party for children were outlined. In event the churches do not stage a Yule festival for needy youngsters, the Legion will sponsor a Christmas tree and gifts at a Santa Claus celebration.

Programs on the Fourth of July, Armistice Day and Memorial Day in 1930 will be sponsored by the city, it was decided.

Mountain Resort Interest Bought

MENTONE, Dec. 5.—Mary B. Ketter of Columbus, Or., has just purchased from D. Rhea Igoe and George Humphrey a two-thirds interest in Mill Creek Canyon Resort for a total of $50,000 and has announced it will be developed extensively in the spring. K. N. Bright owns a one-third interest in the property.

The resort is better known as Kamp Kill Kare and is halfway between Mentone and Forest Home, in Mill Creek Canyon. It is an easily accessible mountain resort with paved road all the way and easy grades.

Mrs. Ketter takes over the general store which Igoe has owned and operated there and also the forty acres of mountain playground with several cabins.

CHRISTMAS PARCELS MAILED

HUNTINGTON PARK, Dec. 5.—Christmas parcels for foreign lands are arriving at the local post-office for mailing and many are now on their way to their destination. There are, however, only two foreign countries represented in the outgoing mail, so far, and these are England and Canada.

TWO CITIES DINE AS ONE

Glendale Municipal Officials Hosts to Council and Department Heads of Burbank at Banquet

GLENDALE, Dec. 5.—City officials of Glendale last night entertained the members of the Burbank City Council and department heads at a banquet in Chevy Chase Country Club, in one of their annual get-together meetings to foster closer co-operation between the two cities in the solution of problems that affect the two municipalities. Mayor C. E. Kimlin, toastmaster, urged that the two communities unite with Pasadena in safeguarding their interests in the Metropolitan Water District and in working out joint methods for fire prevention and reforestation.

Mayor H. E. Bruce of Burbank responded on behalf of the visitors. Peter Diederich, superintendent of the Glendale public-service department, was presented with a scroll bearing the city seal, in recognition of the completion of twenty years' service in the employment of the city. This makes him the oldest employee in point of service.

School Children Prove Benefits of Fire Drills

PASADENA, Dec. 5.—Pupils of the Lincoln-avenue school, who had just been ordered to stage a fire drill, kept their heads and filed out in orderly fashion today when flames suddenly shot out of a telephone switchboard cabinet and firemen rushed past them into the building to extinguish the fire.

An instant after the warning bell sounded the fire drill signal this morning, the small fire in the telephone cabinet was discovered and every available piece of fire apparatus raced to the scene.

The pupils quietly awaited their turn to march from the school, although they knew from the sirens that they were faced with a real fire.

The small blaze caused by a short circuit was soon extinguished and within a few minutes the children had filed back to their classrooms and resumed their studies.

Suspect Held in Phone Booth

LONG BEACH, Dec. 5.—A telephone toll box told on John Ferris of 134 Northwestern avenue Hollywood, and police are holding him as a suspected member of a ring which has robbed phone booths throughout Southern California over a period of several months.

An alarm rigged by telephone mechanics to sound when the money box in the booth at a North Long Beach drug store was unlocked, started ringing while Ferris was in the booth. Drug-store clerks imprisoned him in the booth and called police. Four dollars in nickels was found in possession of Ferris. The money in the cash box in the booth where he was captured was not taken.

Police announced today that Ferris was identified as a man who was held at Venice and Sawtelle on investigation of robbing telephone toll boxes but was not prosecuted.

STREET TREE SURVEY COMPLETED AT BELL

BELL, Dec. 5.—Having completed a survey of the number of street trees within the city limits, after being instructed to secure these data by the City Council, City Engineer Tracy Bousman has finished his work, and informs the Council that there are 1449 trees in the parkways within the city limits; that 283 of this number are of the black acacia variety and that there are twenty-three varieties throughout the city.

Practically all the existing trees are in a healthy condition and were set out more than five years ago. The city is securing this data for the purpose of later planting trees throughout Bell.

ONTARIO FIRE SIREN SILENCED SUNDAYS

ONTARIO, Dec. 5.—Sermons in Ontario churches will not be disturbed Sunday by the fire siren, which is blown daily at high noon. Ministers appealed to the City Council to have the shrieking siren silenced on Sunday, claiming their sermons were dead losses due to the fright caused the silent congregations when the blasts are sounded.

Last night Fire Marshal A. E. Wilcox and the fire department members voted to give the whistle a rest on Sundays, but on week days the shriek will be resumed.

VAN NUYS PLANS TO FINE JAY WALKERS

VAN NUYS, Dec. 5.—Van Nuys is edging into the metropolitan-city class. Capt. Hodson of the local police today issued an order to his men to more strictly enforce the law against jay-walking. The local court has agreed to "stick" each offender $3. "Jay walking helps to make a jay town look jay," Capt. Hodson said today. "Van Nuys is not in the jay-town class."

LEGION PLANS YULE PARTY

COURT BRINGS WATER WITH IT TO BLYTHE

BLYTHE, Dec. 5.—Wary judges and lawyers brought 100 gallons of Riverside drinking water across 187 miles of desert to this city this week, to keep them alive during a seven-day session of Superior Court now under way here. Although Superior Court is held here once a year, some one told the court staff that the drinking water here was contaminated.

In spite of the fact that Los Angeles and the Metropolitan Water District are entertaining plans to bring their water from the Blythe vicinity, court members, from Judge O. K. Morton down, are drinking home-grown water.

Recently, the State gave the Blythe deep well water a clean bill of health. The town is considered one of the healthiest cities of the county. The lawyers did not state what they would have brought for drinking purposes if this were the pre-Volstead era.

REALTY BROKER SUES FOR COMMISSION FEE

REDLANDS, Dec. 5.—Failure to pay commission in a real-estate sale is asserted in a complaint filed in Superior Court by E. A. Bethurum of Redlands against Mrs. P. H. Wadleigh. The plaintiff demands commission of $400 for the sale of property at 453 Cajon street.

Bethurum asserts that Mrs. Wadleigh signed an agreement on August 10, 1928, whereby she was to pay him a 5 per cent commission for sale of the property irrespective of who sold it. The property, it is said, was valued at $10,000. The agreement was to end August 10 of this year. Prior to that time, according to Bethurum, Mrs. Wadleigh sold the property for $8000.

PETERSEN CHOSEN TO HEAD ODD FELLOWS

MONROVIA, Dec. 5.—O. F. Petersen, local manager for a well-known chain store, was elected Noble Grand of Monrovia Lodge of Odd Fellows at the semiannual election of officers last night.

Other new officers elected were: W. B. Temple, Vice-Grand; Henry Voris, Recording Secretary; E. C. Bidwell, Financial Secretary, and Arthur Rheingans, Treasurer.

Although definite plans have not been formulated, it is probable that the new officers will be inducted into office at a joint installation with Rebekah officers.

MAN ACTING AS HIS OWN ATTORNEY FAILS

SAN BERNARDINO, Dec. 5.—Carl Gantner of Beverly Hills today acted as his own attorney in defending himself against a damage suit filed by Mrs. L. C. Wilhoite of Upland and lost a $2500 judgment. Gantner, asserted by Mrs. Wilhoite to have backed his car into a machine in which she was riding on the Arrow route last July, matched his courtroom ability against State Senator Ralph E. Swing, one of the outstanding members of the San Bernardino county bar.

TRAIN KILLS OCTOGENARIAN

John E. Carey, Resident of Glendale, Struck Down While Attempting to Cross Brand Boulevard

GLENDALE, Dec. 5.—John E. Carey, 82 years of age, of 617 East Palmer street, died last night a short time after he had been struck and injured by a two-car Pacific Electric train on South Brand Boulevard. Carey had just left his son, Fred Carey, at the latter's store at 926 South Brand Boulevard, and when attempting to cross the street walked into the path of the train, which traveled eighty feet before it was brought to a halt.

Carey was rushed to the Emergency Hospital, but died within half an hour of being admitted. Fred Carey told police investigating the accident that his father was deaf, and other witnesses testified that the whistle on the train was sounded for some distance before the aged man was hit.

The motorman was H. Greenfield, 1816 North Avenue 52, Los Angeles, and the two conductors were H. H. Hichardson, 2151 Madera street, and W. Wilson, 2922 Bevera street, Los Angeles.

AGED TWINS HAVE BIRTHDAY

Seventy-ninth Natal Day Observed

Mrs. Sarah Johnson and Mrs. Cynthia La Rowe

Sisters' joint anniversary enjoyed with group of fifty descendants, other relatives and friends, in Alhambra gathering.

ALHAMBRA, Dec. 5.—Twin sisters celebrated their birthday anniversaries today. That in itself is not unusual, but in this case it was a seventy-ninth anniversary.

Mrs. Sarah Johnson of 828 South Fourth street, Alhambra, and Mrs. Cynthia La Rowe of 1339 East Harvard street, Glendale, spent the day at the latter's home, surrounded by a happy family group of more than fifty children, grandchildren and other relatives.

Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. La Rowe, who are both widows, were born in Leslie, Mich., on December 5, 1850, the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Harlow, Michigan pioneers. Michigan was then a frontier State and the twins relate thrilling adventures of being chased by wolves which roamed near the settlement. They were two of a family of ten children. Mrs. La Rowe married at the age of 17 years and Mrs. Johnson two years later.

Mrs. Johnson with her husband came to California in 1892. She now lives with her daughter, Mrs. Mary E. Phillips. She has a keen memory but confesses that the first seventy-nine years of her life have been rather uneventful. She declares that she is looking forward to the next twenty years with interest.

The twins won first prize at the last meeting of the Alhambra community sing when a twin night program was presented, with awards for the oldest and youngest twins in attendance.

NEW PLANE FEAT TOLD BY VISITOR

Minnesota Man Tells of Taking Off from Sheet of Half-inch Ice

PASADENA, Dec. 5.—Taking off in an airplane equipped with pontoons from the frozen surface of a Minnesota lake, M. S. Kingston, Eveleth (Minn.) business man, arrived here today with his wife and daughter, following a two weeks' journey by air. The California-built Ryan plane made the trip from the Gopher State in twenty-nine hours and forty minutes flying time.

Kingston voiced the opinion that the feat of his pilot, C. R. Rhodes, in taking off from a half-inch sheet of ice, has never been duplicated.

The airplane, according to the Minnesota resident, has made it possible for hundreds of persons, who could not otherwise do so, to visit remote summer resorts in the lakes region of his State.

"The recent agreement between the United States Department of Commerce and Canadian air officials which allows airplane travel between the two countries, has facilitated travel to a great extent," he asserted.

"American planes can now fly over into Canada with passengers, although there is still some red tape to be cut at the border."

In the last two years, Kingston has traveled 125,000 miles by air without a single upset or injury of any kind.

His plane, which in the fall is used by hunting and fishing parties, will be housed at the Grand Central Air Terminal in Glendale.

After placing his daughter Jean in the Orton School for Girls here, Kingston will fly to Florida, where he will spend a month.

Walton League Head in Confab

UPLAND, Dec. 5.—David Vasbinder of Upland, president of the Izaak Walton League of America in California, flew to San Francisco today to attend a conference of the California conservation committee regarding proposed changes in the State fish and game laws.

He was accompanied on the aerial journey by Carl Johnson, president of the Tuna Club.

Plans for dedication of the State game farm at Chino Sunday will also be discussed by Vasbinder with State fish and game officials. The dedication program is sponsored by the Izaak Walton League and the Sportsman's League of Northern California.

Details of the program are in charge of Old Baldy Chapter of the Izaak Walton League, which embraces Upland, Ontario, Chino and other near-by communities.

BAN ON LANDINGS IN CITY LIMITS URGED

SANTA BARBARA, Dec. 5.—A resolution recommending that the City Council pass an ordinance prohibiting airplanes from landing within the city limits of Santa Barbara was adopted at a meeting yesterday of the City Planning Commission. The resolution characterizes the landing of airplanes in either the residential or business districts of a city as "a menace to life and property," and urged early action on the suggested ordinance by the City Council.

The Planning Commission also recommended that a clause be incorporated in the proposed ordinance giving the Council the power to designate landing fields, but not until after a special hearing had been granted on each application, thereby giving all concerned an opportunity to be heard.

FOUR QUIZZES IN MANHOLE BLAST

Investigations of San Diego Fatality Under Way

Two Die as Result of Burns Received in Explosion

Officials Hold Line Faulty or Current on Too Soon

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 5.—As a result of a manhole explosion yesterday which injured two men and caused the death of two more, four separate investigations are under way today. The dead are Fred C. Eberhardt, 44, 4362 Forty-eighth street, and John Larkin, 40807 Sutter street.

The injured: Arthur Ryder, 28 years of age, 4345 Felton street, burns of the body, and D. J. Kelly, 50, 4069 Idaho street, burns of the face and both hands.

The leading inquiry being pressed into the fatal blast is being conducted by gas and electric company officials, who are said to be working in conjunction with State Industrial Commission investigators. In addition to these two inquiries, Coroner Schuyler C. Kelly is investigating preparatory to holding an inquest into the deaths and the police department has detailed Detective Sergeant Jerry Lightner to inquire into the blast.

Larkin and Eberhardt, according to K. B. Ayers, superintendent of construction of the gas company, were working in the manhole when the blast occurred. The pair had just completed connecting two ends of a cable when 11,000 volts of electricity was shot through the line, the investigators declare. Either the line was faulty or the "shooting" of the electricity into the cables was immature, officials have said. They hope to determine which of the two causes resulted in the explosion.

The blast was accompanied by a sheet of fire which penetrated every corner of the eight-foot-square manhole and witnesses said the flames shot through the opening more than fifteen feet into the air. Ryder was standing near the manhole opening and was severely burned, although he is expected to recover. Kelly received his burns while assisting Ray Rademacher, another employee, in rescuing the two men trapped in the manhole.

Firebug Suspect to Face Charge of Arson Soon

HUNTINGTON PARK, Dec. 5.—Charged with arson, in a complaint filed by Officer William Haislip, Joseph Spacal was before Judge Edward H. Miller late yesterday for arraignment. He was placed under bail of $5000 and his preliminary hearing is set before Judge Miller, for Saturday, the 14th inst.

Spacal was arrested early yesterday morning, when he was found in the hallway in a second-story building leading into Dr. F. T. Carey's offices. The officer was attracted by smoke in the hallway. As he reached the top of the stairway, he found Spacal standing in the hall near the door entering Dr. Carey's office. A small rug at the bottom of the door had been ignited. Spacal was arrested and landed in the City Jail. The police believe Spacal's arrest, found eight or nine other small fires, which had been started near the midnight hour, all of these, with one exception, being at the front or rear of business houses, or in the second stories of the buildings.

Spacal says that he is a carpenter by trade.

He was taken to the County Jail by Constable Herman Boshard and Deputy Leslie Keays late last night, where he will be held until his preliminary hearing, unless he provides bail.

Among the problems to be studied together are the highways that link Glendale and the valley and that will later extend to the Antelope Valley.

Approximately 800 signatures, 10 per cent of the registered voters, will be required on the petitions before they are presented to the Council. The petitioners have until the 19th inst to complete their work.

LONG BEACH, Dec. 5.—C. O. Haines, motorist who caused the arrest of Terry F. Twice Haines was driving when, he asserts, Bruce crashed into his machine and once Haines was sitting in his parked car. "Out of several thousand cars why did he pick on mine?" Haines asked. RUM FOE IRKING TO COAST GUARD

Organization Eager to Wage War on Smugglers

Means Needed to Put Them Out of Business

Accomplishments Reviewed in Annual Report

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—The United States Coast Guard is ready to carry a war of extermination toward liquor smugglers and can put them "out of business" if given the necessary means to accomplish that end, Admiral F. C. Billard said today in his annual report to Secretary Mellon.

The operation of the Coast Guard in preventing liquor smuggling, he continued, "is just another kind of war with a lawless element."

President Hoover in his annual message to Congress recommended that border patrols whose duty it is to prevent liquor smuggling be confined under the command of the Coast Guard and urged an increase of $2,298,000 in the appropriation for the service.

FUNDS NEEDED

"It is perfectly evident that the smuggler has no intention of voluntarily abandoning his unlawful pursuit," Admiral Billard said. "In plain words, there is nothing to do but to put him out of business. This can be done and the Coast Guard will do it if the necessary means to accomplish that end are placed at its disposal."

While emphatically expressing himself regarding the smuggling of liquor, Admiral Billard's report showed that this phase of the work of his organization is but a minor part of the duties required of the force which guards the coast line of the nation and renders aid to vessels in distress.

During the year the Coast Guard, he said, aided 2296 persons in distress, assisted 18,725, saved the lives or property of 4419, destroyed 267 derelicts, while the value of vessels and cargoes assisted totaled $49,128,375 during the year. The service also boarded and examined the papers of 80,263 vessels.

ANOTHER KIND OF WAR

"Added to these normal activities of the Coast Guard are the ever-exacting, responsible, serious duties connected with the law-enforcement operations of the service having to do with the prevention of smuggling liquor into the United States from the sea," Admiral Billard said. "These operations are but another kind of war—a war with a lawless element who seek, both covertly and openly, by all sorts of devices, to violate the laws of the country and thwart the service in execution of its bounden duty.

"These law-enforcement operations were carried on during the year in a satisactory manner. They were not permitted in any way to interfere, hamper or retard the usual normal duties of the service in saving of life and property. The work of the service in these directions for the year bears unmistakable testimony to this end."

The admiral said that five seaplanes acquired by the Coast Guard a year ago were of great value in detecting liquor and alien smugglers on the Atlantic coast and in searching for lost fishermen, disabled vessels and distressed aircraft.

HART TAKEN BY DEATH AT TACOMA

Washington Ex-Governor Succumbs in Hospital; Apoplexy Blamed

TACOMA (Wash.) Dec. 5. (AP)—Former Gov. Louis F. Hart, 68 years of age, is dead. The end came just before midnight last night without warning.

The former Governor had been at a local hospital for four days. He was suffering from a diabetic condition but the immediate cause of his death, according to attending physicians, was a stroke of apoplexy.

Born in Missouri in 1862, and one of a family of eight, Mr. Hart was educated in the common schools and academies of the State and admitted to the Missouri State Bar. In the late eighties he moved to Washington, settling in Snohomish, where he practiced law as an associate of J. A. Coleman, now of Everett. In the nineties he moved to Tacoma, where he has resided since.

In 1912 he was elected Lieutenant-Governor and again in 1916. He assumed the office of acting Governor when Gov. Ernest Lister collapsed on February 12, 1919. He served two years of Lister's term and was elected seventh Governor of the State in 1920. Since completion of his term of office he had taken no active part in politics and had lived a retired life here with the exception of his recent election to the presidency of the Washington State Good Roads Association last October.

Potters Defend Their Lobbyist

CLEVELAND, Dec. 5. (AP)—The United States Potters' Association today condemned Senator Thaddeus Caraway of Arkansas for an attack upon the late William Burgess, lobbyist of the potters' association.

Burgess, said a resolution adopted by the potters at their convention, died last week in his New Jersey home from "a broken heart induced by Caraway's unwarranted attack."

Children March to Safety in Fire

BIGGS, Dec. 5. (AP)—Marching in perfect order as though merely in one of their drills, 125 children left their classrooms in the Biggs grammar school today when a fire started.

A few minutes later the building was a mass of flames and was destroyed. None was hurt.

DEFENSE TURNS TO DOCUMENTS

McCormick Case Featured by New Evidence

Effort Made to Show Wife Agreed on Kempf

Sister of Incompetent Spends Hour on Stand

SANTA BARBARA, Dec. 5. (AP)—Foundational evidence was presented today at resumption of Superior Court hearings into the medical care and treatment of Stanley McCormick, incompetent multimillionaire, in an effort of the defense to show that Mrs. Katherine McCormick, Stanley's wife, agreed in 1927 to the employment of Dr. Edward J. Kempf, psychoanalyst of New York.

The basis of the defense contention was laid with submission in evidence of numerous documents, including letters and telegrams, exchanged between Mrs. McCormick and the guardians whom she is seeking to oust—Harold F. McCormick and Mrs. Anita McCormick Blaine, brother and sister of the wealthy incompetent. In addition to having herself appointed sole guardian, Mrs. McCormick seeks the removal of Dr. Kempf as her husband's chief physician.

SISTER ON STAND

Mrs. Blaine spent an hour on the witness stand identifying telegrams, letters and reports of conferences of the personal board of care, made up of herself, the wife, Harold, and Cyrus H. McCormick, brother brother of Stanley.

The witness testified that before Stanley's marriage she had been "very close to him," but that from 1908 until recently she scarcely had seen him because his physicians kept him under guard.

In April of 1927, Mrs. Blaine said, the board of personal care began conferences looking toward a change of physicians. At that time Dr. Adolph Myer of Chicago was in charge; Katherine, the witness said, suggested the change, and brought forward the names of Dr. Kempf and of Dr. Edward A. White of Washington, present consultant.

A report of a conference of the board of personal care in the latter part of April, 1927, was identified by Mrs. Blaine and read into the records.

AGREEMENT CITED

"It was agreed," the report said, "that no one unsatisfactory to Katherine should be engaged, and it was agreed by all four to include Dr. Kempf in partial charge; it was agreed that we did not want Dr. Kempf in sole charge." The conference also brought out that Dr. White had agreed to enter the case for $6000 a year retainer, and $5000 for each visit of two weeks to Stanley in Santa Barbara; and that Dr. Kempf required as his retainer $6000 a year, with $5000 for a visit of two weeks to Stanley, and $5000 additional for each additional two weeks spent in Santa Barbara with the patient. Dr. Myer, who had been consulted in regard to the change, and whom Mrs. Blaine said the board of personal care still desired to retain as a consultant, resigned, and Kempf and White were engaged by telegraph from Santa Barbara, Dr. Kempf agreeing to take over the case on an even basis with Dr. White if psychoanalysis was not to be made, but insisting that he be in full charge in the event of psychoanalytical treatment.

KEMPF'S ARRIVAL

Dr. Kempf, the witness testified, arrived in Santa Barbara on June 1, 1927, Harold and Katherine arriving with him.

Direct examination of Mrs. Blaine had not been completed when court recessed until tomorrow.

Kenneth McKillip, for twenty-three years head of Stanley's male nurse staff, and Miss Margaret Gleason, 42-year-old Canadian nurse, at present in full charge of the routine at Stanley's estate in Montecito, near here, preceded Mrs. Blaine on the stand, their testimony dealing largely with eccentricities manifest in Stanley's daily life.

Part of Fishing Fleet Still Lost

ST. JOHNS (N. F.) Dec. 15. (AP) With the rescue at sea of the crew of the schooner Cander Deal today by the liner Republic and the sighting of the schooner Effie May Petite, Merry Widow and Jean Blackwood, all but three of the fleet of ten fishing vessels which disappeared from here in last Friday night's storm have been accounted for.

Still missing are the schooners Lloyd Jack, Neptune and Northern Light. All were bound for Brookfield and carried crews of from six to eight men.

Your physician will tell you that your baby needs the protection given by Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil. All good drug stores have it. Plain and Mint-flavored.

Girl Flees War and State Department Building as Fumes Rise

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP) A bottle labeled cider, but with contents possessing the odor of strong whisky, slipped from the hands of a girl and broke on the tile floor of a corridor in the War and State Department Building today and immediately disrupted work in that section of the building.

The girl left in a hurry. She got out so fast that no one had time to ask her name and so no one could say how she happened to have the bottle.

EX-HUSBAND AWAITED BY MRS. CHURCH

She Says He Will Meet Her in San Francisco for Remarriage Ceremony

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5. (Exclusive)—Declaring she is deeply in love with the husband she divorced ten days ago in Reno, Agnes Aurelia Church arrived here today and prepared to be rejoined by her divorced husband, Francois Louis Church, heir to the millions left by the late Elihu Church, baking-soda king.

"The divorce was forced on us by Francois's stepmother," said the 25-year-old ex-wife. "We adore each other still, but his relatives offered me $100,000 if I'd divorce Francois, and he said, 'go ahead and divorce me and take the $100,000 and then we'll go away on a honeymoon again.' That's what I did. And I've got the $100,000, too.

"And Francois is hurrying to San Francisco as fast as trains will bring him.

"And if they try to interfere again I'll go back to New York and sue his mother for $1,000,000 for alienation of my husband's affections."

Mrs. Church registered at the Sir Francis Drake Hotel, accompanied by her aunt, Mrs. Winifred Bateman. They motored from Reno, where Mrs. Church obtained her divorce decree November 25.

After granting interviews to a score or more of reporters, Mrs. Church was so fatigued her aunt took her to a physician's office, where rest was prescribed, and the patient was taken back to her hotel room.

TEXANS PAY TRIBUTE TO ORTIZ RUBIO

Mexican President-elect Honor Guest at Banquet; Perez Trevino Speaks

HOUSTON (Tex.) Dec. 5. (AP)—Surrounded by friendly representatives of another nation, Pascual Ortiz Rubio sat smilingly at the banquet board here today, while Gen. Manuel Perez Trevino, head of the Mexican Revolutionary party, told of the recent political developments in Mexico which led to the election of Ortiz Rubio to the Presidency.

Perez Trevino spoke in Spanish with Luis Quintanilla, secretary of the Mexican Embassy at Washington, translating phrase by phrase.

"Mexico now is undergoing a transformation in the idealism of her revolution," the general said. "Her people are turning from the military to the social leadership. Evidence of this is given in the election of Ortiz Rubio, a distinguished engineer and not a military man. And though he had been absent from the country on official duty for eight years, his people knew him to be a stanch adherent of the principles of the revolution."

Chemical Test Laboratory at Harbor Urged

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (Exclusive)—Asking that the port of Los Angeles be given a chemical testing laboratory costing $25,000 to carry on governmental tests for the Agriculture and Treasury departments, Representatives Evans and Crail and Ivan Goodner, representing the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, appeared before a subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee today.

They based their request for the laboratory on the fact that all intricate chemical tests now must be run at the San Francisco laboratory as the city laboratory only can handle the simpler ones. With the tremendous increase in shipping and food production in Southern California it is imperative that delay be done away with.

AMERICA'S AIR STATUS SHOWN

Leadership in Passenger Service Forecast

Aeronautics Report Sent to Congress

Cutting Cost of Aviation Main Problem

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—A forecast that it is only a question of a time until the United States will lead the world in air-passenger traffic was made today in the annual report of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, submitted to Congress by President Hoover.

"America is producing the requisite technical knowledge," the report said, "to improve the safety and efficiency of aircraft as to bring this about without direct cash subsidies, and for the further reason that the nation's great area will make an important factor of the time to be saved by air travel."

America leads the world, the committee reported, in the use of aircraft for commercial purposes, in the extent and lighting of airways, in weather-report service, in the development of radio communication and directional-finding facilities, in air-mail transportation, in crop dusting and forest patrol from the air, and in the development of cowling for air-cooled engines and engine starters.

"Increasing safety and decreasing the cost of aviation," the committee reported, "confront America, as other nations, as the most vital and serious fundamental problems.

"America holds the world's altitude record but is far behind in maximum speed. The committee has recently recommended a program for the development of liquid-cooled engines, which are deemed essential for the attainment of maximum speed."

FOX RUMORED IN SALE DEAL

Report Says Negotiations Under Way to Dispose of Loew Stock to Hearst and Mayer

NEW YORK, Dec. 5. (Exclusive)—Fox Theater interests are reported to be negotiating with William Randolph Hearst and Louis B. Mayer to sell their holdings in Loew's, Inc. The Fox interests are believed to hold what amounts to control of Loew's, according to reports given credence in Wall-street circles.

In March of this year it was announced that Fox Theaters Corporation, associate of Fox Film Company, had purchased a substantial block of common stock of Loew's, Inc., from the widow and family of Marcus Loew and a group associated with Loew's management. No information was given as to the actual amount of the shares purchased, nor their price. Loew common, however, was selling at around $120 at the time, compared with today's close of $48 a share.

On this basis and provided the deal is consummated, a large cash loss is indicated for the Fox interests.

Reports, which as yet are unconfirmed, state that the proposed sale is the result of William Fox and his associates being confronted with antitrust proceedings in connection with the Loew acquisition. An action was instituted in United States District Court last week seeking to void the sale of the Loew family interests in Loew's, Inc., to Fox Theaters on the ground it would give the Fox interests control of two of the leading corporations in the motion-picture industry.

Another rumor is that Fox, because of its widespread expansion program in domestic and foreign fields, has deemed it necessary to divest itself of certain interests on account of recent unfavorable action of the stock market. Sources close to the company, emphasizing the current cash position of the various companies and high ratio of earnings, deny that this is the case.

Characteristically French is the clock set (illustrated left) with vivid blue French porcelain elephants and ornamented with Dresden flowers.

THE SON OF TARZAN

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

As the father told his son this story of his life, he forgot one thing—the principal one—that the boy at his side, listening with eager ears, was the son of Tarzan of the Apes. After the two said good night, Lord Greystoke told his wife of the evening's events. Lady Jane, foreseeing that their son must sometime know of those frightful years, prayed that the boy would not inherit the lure she knew was still strong in the father's heart.

Often, thereafter, the boy stole away to spend hours with his ape-friend, until little by little Paulvitch came to know his story and identity. Now into that evil brain crept a plan whereby he might revenge himself for fancied wrongs and further increase his pile of gold. Left alone with Akut, the boy soon found he could make the great beast understand him. Many words of the anthropoid's language came instinctively to him.

Tarzan visited Akut, as he promised, but refused to take Jack along. This time, Tarzan met the wily owner of the ape, but failed to recognize in the decrepit wretch his Russian enemy of former days. Influenced by Akut's pleadings, he tried to purchase the beast, but the crafty Paulvitch refused to sell. . . . . Several days later the boy himself found his way into that mean section of London where he had discovered the Russian and Akut lived.

After having discovered Tarzan, the ape had consistently refused to perform upon the stage. No longer was he a source of revenue, and Paulvitch at last accepted a fabulous sum from Lord Greystoke whereby Akut was to be delivered to a vessel soon sailing for Africa. Lady Jane was delighted as her husband spoke of this arrangement. Now her son would think of other things, she thought. But Jack listened with far different thoughts!

FATAL AUTO ACCIDENTS ON INCREASE

Federal Report Shows More Than 1 Per Cent Gain Over Toll of Last Year

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—Deaths from automobile accidents in the United States in 1928 increased slightly more than 1 per cent over 1927, totaling 23,765.

There were 542 deaths due to collisions between automobiles and street cars, and 2041 in collisions between automobiles and railroad trains.

The figures were made public tonight by the Department of Commerce in a statement which said the deaths due only to automobile accidents consituted 1.9 per cent of all deaths, and 29.0 per cent of accidental deaths in the nation.

The total deaths due directly to automobile accidents were 20.8 per 100,000 population. The rate in 1927 was 19.3.

New York led in number of deaths with 2554, an increase of 170 over the previous year. Pennsylvania was second with 1882, an increase of twenty-two, and California third with 1788, an increase of 127.

Reopening of Quiz in Nurse's Death Urged

MANILA, Dec. 5. (AP)—Reopening of investigation of the case of Esther Louise Klein of Cleveland, O., navy nurse found dead mysteriously in a roadhouse near Fort McKinley last August, was demanded tonight at a women's mass meeting conducted here under the clubs of Manila.

Descriptions of the roadhouse where Miss Klein met death, together with affidavits by physicians and other nurses stating it was unlikely, if not impossible, for the woman to have committed suicide, were introduced at the meeting. A council on which each of the women's clubs was represented was formed to interview Gov.-Gen. Davis and request the reopening of the investigation.

Priest's Body to Rest in Shrine

The body will be placed in a vault. The original chalice stone, from which water pilgrims believed to be healing was scooped, will be preserved.

RADIO PROBLEM OF LAWMAKERS

Few Industries Subject of as Much Legislation

Still Plenty to be Achieved in Way of Regulation

Music Publishers Link With NBC in New Concern

The Times Forum over KHJ at 10:30 a.m., will present Dr. Frank Dyer in the fourth of his series of talks on "Great Living Americans." Today Dr. Dyer will discuss John Steven McGroarty.

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

Few industries in the United States have been the subject of as much Federal legislation during the past twenty years as radio, it is disclosed by a study of radio enactments by Congress, and there still is much to be done to control the industry in its future development. Fifteen measures dealing with this subject have been adopted since the first radio law was passed in 1910.

The 1910 law was the first to confer official recognition on radio. It was adopted as a result of the collision between the White Star liner Republic with the Italian steamer Florida in 1909, when the first distress call recorded was sent out by radio, making possible the saving of 1500 lives. The law required ocean liners carrying fifty persons or more, including passengers and crew, but not including coastwise vessels making trips of less than 200 miles, to carry radio apparatus and an operator.

CONTROL ASSIGNED

Two years later these requirements were extended, and shortly thereafter Congress enacted the so-called Radio Act of 1912, under which the Department of Commerce operates, and which was the basis of its broadcasting control until a court decision in 1926, holding that the Secretary of Commerce could not refuse to license any broadcaster, necessitated new legislation. The first appropriation for radio for the Navy also was made in 1912.

Entry of the United States in the World War resulted, in 1918, in legislation authorizing the President to take over control of all communication services for the duration of the conflict.

In 1919 Congress authorized participation of the United States in an international conference to consider questions relating to world communication, the first of a number of such meetings in which this country has taken part. The following year Congress approved a joint resolution authorizing the operation of government-owned radio stations for the use of the general public, which was amended twice, first in 1922 and again in 1925.

CHANGES CONTINUE

The first of the modern radio legislation was enacted in December, 1926, limiting time for which licenses for radio transmission should be granted, designed to meet the emergency caused by the Chicago court decision stripping the Secretary of Commerce of power. The following February the Federal Radio Commission was created, to act as an administrative body for one year and thereafter as an advisory agency unable to complete its work of straightening out the broadcasting situation in the period alotted, the commission obtained an extension of one year in March, 1928, and in March of this year another extension was granted, continuing it until the 31st inst. It now is necessary for Congress to act again, either to extend the life of the commission or make provision for radio control by some other body.

Other legislation enacted this year includes an authorization for the construction of a constant frequency monitoring radio station by the radio division of the Department of Commerce, now nearing completion, and the Cousens resolution for an investigation of the communications situation.

MUSIC COMBINE

Two great music publishing companies and the largest radio network in the United States have combined to form the Radio Music Company, according to incorporation papers filed at Albany, N. Y., by a group of executives of the National Broadcasting Company, of Carl Fisher, Inc., whose editions of classic works have been known for generations by the music world, and of Leo Feist, Inc., protagonists of the popular style of music in world-wide distribution.

E. C. Mills, ex-chairman of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, is president of the new concern, while M. H. Aylesworth, president of the N.B.C., will be chairman of the board of directors. Other directors include John Golden, producer; David Sarnoff, executive of the Radio Corporation of America; E. E. Shumaker, president of the Radio Store Corporation; Hiram S. Brown, president of the Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation; Carl Fisher and Leo Feist.

The new company, according to N.B.C. officials, will effect a working combination of the two publishers with the network system in encouraging American composers and in affording them facilities for performance which will assure them an audience of millions at all times.

"The Radio Music Company will use its influence to put jazz in the background of the American musical picture," Mr. Mills said today. "We have had too much jazz. It is high time for somebody to assume leadership in a movement away from the cacophony of today's fashionable music to the folk songs of our people."

GOLD LURE CONTINUES FOR DEAD

Five Deceased Kin of Pioneer Reinterred Near Historic Mining Town

GRASS VALLEY, Dec. 5. (AP)—The lure of the forty-niner's gold country of California, strong even in death, caused five deceased members of the Parish family of San Francisco to be reinterred today in the little graveyard of the historic mining town of Timbuctoo, twenty-five miles west of here. An immense vault received the bodies.

Bodies of all but one of the men, John Bolton Parish, widely known mining engineer who died at the age of 75 November 29, last, were disinterred from the Masonic Cemetery in San Francisco.

The head of the family in California, Adam Parish, reached California from Tennessee early in 1849 and mined in Nevada and Yuba counties.

The burials today were in keeping with a cherished family plan that all deceased members should rest near the scene of the early successes of Adam Parish, founder of the family fortune.

JUICIEST PRICE PAID FOR STEER

Iowa Boy's Champion Brings $8.25 Per Pound

CHICAGO, Dec. 5. (AP)—Twelve dollars a pound for beefsteaks—this epitomizes what occurred at the stockyards today, when Elliott Brown, 20-year-old Iowa farm youth, sold his grand champion steer of the livestock show to a New York millionaire for $7837.

The actual price paid was $8.25 per pound on the hoof, for 950 pounds of beast, but after the steer is dressed the steaks and roasts would have to retail at $12 to keep from showing a loss. However, the chances are there'll be no loss, because J. C. Penney, the chain-store merchant who outbid several other millionaires to buy the steer, donated the animal to the United Charities of Chicago, who announced the steer will be sold again to enrich the Christmas fund.

TWO INSURANCE UNITS PROGRESS

Indemnity and Fire Reports Reveal Growth

Premium Increases Told by Both Companies

Pacific Indemnity Earnings Placed at $21.24

Reports on operations of Pacific American Fire Insurance Company and Pacific Indemnity Company, two of the Pacific Mutual group, were submitted yesterday to the boards of directors of the respective concerns.

Total premiums of $899,741 were written by Pacific American Fire in its first year of operation up to November 1, last, an amount more than double that anticipated when the company was formed, D. W. Pierce, Sr., vice-president and general manager, reported at the semiannual meeting of the company's directors. Of this amount $489,982 has been placed as reinsurance, leaving net writings for the period of $409,759.

Mr. Pierce further revealed a favorable loss and expense ratio for the year and pointed out the fact that out of the net premiums written of $409,759 an allocation of $300,000 had been made to unearned premium reserve in accordance with State law, while an increase in the net surplus of $165,-149 could still be shown.

INCREASES SEGREGATED

Increases in assets since the company was formed were shown as follows: Real estate, $275,000; mortgage loans on real estate, $348,060; bonds, $413,804; stock, $1,227,118; premiums in course of collection, $59,120, and other admitted assets, $40,665. Collateral loans during the twelve months have been reduced $1,201,400 and cash in banks and offices, $353,043, the fund having been reinvested in real estate, mortgage loans, bonds and stocks. The total increase in assets for the period was $809,326.

Receipts from repayment of loans, sale of securities and calling of call loans for the ten months ended October 31, last, amounted to $3,136,936, all of which has now been reinvested, plus an additional $336,859, which represents the net increase in the company's investments for the period under review.

Premium income for the whole year of 1929 will probably exceed $1,000,000, Mr. Pierce estimated.

INDEMNITY UNIT GAINS

Pacific Indemnity Company during the first ten months of this year showed an increase of more than $1,000,000 in gross and net premiums written as compared with the 1928 period, according to the report of M. R. Johnson, vice-president and general manager.

Total admitted assets now stand at $7,199,685, with a surplus to policyholders of $3,416,982, the balance, $3,730,733, being listed under the heading of liabilities.

Gross premiums written by Pacific Indemnity totaled $6,946,838, as against $5,301,565 for the first ten months last year, an increase of 19.7 per cent. Net premiums after deducting premiums ceded total $4,309,707, compared to $3,270,927 last year, a gain of 31.7 per cent.

Excess of income over disbursements before dividends was shown as $1,067,377, of which $780,563 was assigned to various insurance reserves, the largest single item being an increase in the premium reserve amounting to $503,068. There was credited to surplus account $193,813, after providing for dividends in the amount of $135,000.

EARNINGS SHOWN

After giving effect to the stockholders' equity in the increased unearned premium reserve, earnings for the first ten months are at the annual rate of $21.24 per share, or more than three and one-half times

MERGER OF ICE CREAM UNITS DUE

Head of Western Dairy Products Starts Huge Holding Company

Arctic Ice Cream Company and the Home Ice Cream Company, two leading organizations of their kind in St. Louis, Mo., have been purchased by a group headed by S. H. Berch, president of Western Dairy Products, Inc., and of California Dairies, Inc., it was announced yesterday. The deal is reported to have involved a sum in the neighborhood of $1,000,000.

This deal, according to rumor, is the first of a number of acquisitions of dairy products companies that will be made on behalf of Mr. Berch and his associates. D. M. Dorman, a director of Western Dairy Products and chairman of California Dairies, is a member of the group.

The purchase involves no new financing, according to the announcement.

Absorption of the two midwestern companies follows closely on the heels of a series of expansions carried out by Western Dairy Products. One of the largest of these was consummated in Los Angeles recently when the Arden Certified Dairy at Del Monte was brought as part of a $4,900,00 milk plant purchasing program negotiated by Mr. Berch.

Through California Dairies, its affiliated company, Western Dairy Products also acquired the properties of the California Co-operative Creamery Company, the Burr Creamery Company and the Sanitary Gold Seal Creamery Company. All of these have since been combined into a new operating organization designated Arden Sanitary Gold Seal Farms, Inc.

The company is completing a special air yacht for A. Nafziger, millionaire baking man of Kansas City. The cabin of the yacht will be fitted with a lounge and buffet, while the decorations are along futuristic lines.

UNION OIL OFFICER HONORED

St. Clair Follows E. W. Clark Into High Councils of Petroleum Industry; Chosen Vice-president

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Recognition from the petroleum industry has come to L. P. St. Clair, executive vice-president of the Union Oil Company of California, for his untiring service in the interests of the industry, particularly on the surplus production problems in California. Mr. St. Clair was honored by the American Petroleum Institute at its convention in Chicago by election Wednesday as vice-president at large.

In stepping into this high place in the councils of the petroleum industry Mr. St. Clair sets foot on the same path that took E. W. Clark, his predecessor as executive vice-president of the Union Oil Company, to the presidency of the American Petroleum Institute for two terms. Mr. Clark retired from active service with Union Oil a few months ago, although he was one of the company's representatives at the Chicago meeting.

Another oil man well known to the industry in Southern California was accorded additional honors at Chicago through his re-election as president of the Institute. E. B. Reeser, president of the Barnsdall Corporation, is a frequent visitor to the Los Angeles basin fields in the interests of his company's operations and of affairs pertaining to his duties as president of the institute.

ACTIVE WORKER

Ever since surplus crude oil production became a serious problem in California, L. P. St. Clair, or "Prize" St. Clair, as he is known in the oil business, has been in the thick of the fight on the side of co-operative regulation. He has served on innumerable committees of operators to work out and present solutions of the production difficulties and his company is generally given credit for playing its part in whatever programs were adopted.

He was one of the first, however, to abandon hope for the success of co-operation among the operators in the control of production. His stand in favor of legislation to achieve the desired end has been vigorously opposed by other petroleum leaders and, almost unaided, he carried on the early stages of the fight for the gas-wastage bill, recently adopted as a State law.

FATHERED GAS LAW

In the industry credit is given to the Union Oil officer as the father of the gas law, the first attempt by any State to compel oil operators and landowners to prevent wastage of natural resources. The major oil companies eventually swung into line behind the bill and after its passage approximately 85 per cent of the operators in the State pledged their support in enforcing the law. Enforcement to date has been delayed by contests initiated by a minority group of operators.

Mr. St. Clair is a native Californian, having been raised in Bakersfield, center of the pioneer oil district in the State. His first business connection was with the public utility industry as manager of the Bakersfield Gas and Electric Company, now a part of the San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation. He was one of the builders of the company's gas plant.

From the gas business he went into oil and was one of the organizers of the Independent Oil Producers' Agency, of which he has been president for twenty years. In 1920 he came to the Union Oil Company as a member of the board of directors and as an officer associated with producing activities. He was made a vice-president in 1924 and executive vice-president in July of this year when E. W. Clark retired.

FEDERAL EXPENSES MOUNT

Budget for 1931 of $3,830,445,231 Makes Pigmy of Sum Spent in Washington's First Term

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—It's hard for a government to reduce expenses once they fixed themselves on the government books. This is shown impressively in President Hoover's request, asking Congress for $3,830,445,231 for the fiscal year of 1931.

This is a far cry from the modest $4,269,000 spent by George Washington in his first administration.

Even in the heaviest year of the Civil War (1865,) the government of Abraham Lincoln spent but $1,297,000,000, less than one-third of what the government asks today.

Government expenses are not decreasing, but constantly increasing. The 1931 appropriations are higher than any year, except the current one, since 1921.

Think of a government spending more than $10,000,000 a day. But that is only the Federal government. Then add to that the expenses of all of the forty-eight States and the thousands of counties, cities and towns as well.

The big spending departments are the United States Veterans' Bureau, for which $589,000,000 is asked; the War Department, asking $466,-000,000, an increase of $3,000,000 over the preceding year; and the Navy, $380,000,000, an increase of over $17,000,000 over the preceding year.

How will the government get the money? In four ways—from customs, $602,000,000; internal revenue, $640,000,000; income tax, $2,460,000,-000; and miscellaneous receipts, $523,000,000.

So the government expects a surplus and, therefore, has recommended a reduction in the income taxation of about $160,000,000.

Some eastern bankers were disappointed at the suggestion of President Hoover in his annual message, that "a joint commission embracing members of Congress and other appropriate public officials" be selected to study the whole problem of branch and chain banking.

A month ago at the American Bankers' Association meeting in San Francisco, comptroller of the Currency, J. W. Pole, suggested that Congress appoint the Secretary of the Treasury, the governor of the Federal Reserve Board and the Comptroller of the Currency to make such an investigation.

Naturally, the President took no stand with reference to amending the National Banking Act to permit greater expansion of national banks through the creation of branches. If the commission reports in favor of branch banking, amending the law would be the next step.

The act at present allows national banks to create branches within their own State in accordance with the State laws. The larger city bankers have expressed the view that the limitations ought to be reduced. On the other hand, the rural bankers at the San Francisco meeting went on record as favoring the continuance of the unit bank.

The more light that is thrown on the subject the better, for it is a problem of major importance to business and industry.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5. (AP)—Offering by the United States Treasury of $425,000,000 new financing to replace in part $700,000,000 becoming due the 15th inst. was announced late tonight by the San Francisco Federal Reserve Bank.

E. C. Maillard, assistant cashier of the Twelfth District Bank, gave the Associated Press the announcement of Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon, and asked that it be given the widest possible publicity.

The Treasury offer includes $325,000,000 Treasury certificates of indebtedness, maturing in nine months and bearing 3 1-8 per cent interest. The price is par and accrued interest. The offer is made through the Federal Reserve banks. Interest dates from the 16th inst. This portion of the financing will be opened to the public tomorrow.

In addition, on the 10th inst. the Treasury will offer about $100,000,000 of ninety-day Treasury bills, to be sold on a discount basis to the highest bidders. Details will be made public at the time of offering.

The $700,000,000 due the 15th inst. is Treasury certificates. There is another sum of around $27,000,000 due as interest on the public debt, also payable the 15th.

In the official announcement Secretary Mellon said:

"The Treasury is today offering for subscription, at par and accrued interest, through the Federal Reserve banks, an issue of nine months 3 1-8 per cent Treasury certificates of indebtedness of Series TS-1930, dated and bearing interest from December 16, 1929, and maturing September 15, 1930.

"The amount of the offering is $325,000,000, or thereabouts. Applications will be received at the Federal Reserve banks. The Treasury will accept in payment for the new certificates, at par, Treasury certificates of indebtedness of Series TD-192 and TD-3-1929, both maturing December 15, 1929.

"Subscriptions for which payment is to be tendered in certificates of indebtedness maturing December 15, 1929, will be given preferred allotment up to $200,000,000. Bearer certificates will be in denominations of $500, $1000, $5000, $10,000 and $100,000.

"The certificates will have two interest coupons attached payable March 15, 1930, and September 15, 1930. In addition to the offering of certificates of indebtedness, the Treasury will offer on the 10th inst. about $100,000,000 of ninety-day Treasury bills, to be sold on a discount basis to the highest bidders. Details as to this offering will be made public on the morning of December 10.

"About $700,000,000 of Treasury certificates of indebtedness and nearly $27,000,000 in interest payments on the public debt become due and payable on December 15, 1929.

SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5. (AP)—Year-end trading kept the San Francisco stock market on a fairly even keel today. Income-tax selling was offset by investment buying. Speculative turnover was at a minimum, although the volume increased considerably, especially in the last hour.

One of the features in the brisk late-afternoon trading was a selling SPIZZ in Bank of California, which sent that stock tumbling 20 points in successive 5-point drops. No news accompanied the incident, and the tendency along Montgomery street was to attach no importance to this erratic move, although the remainder of the market showed little change in price levels.

Pacific Lighting spurted up more than 4 points during the day, following a whirl upward on the New York Stock Exchange. It was said by some brokers that this leading western utility had not participated in due proportion in rallies of the public service stocks earlier in the week.

Pacific Gas and Electric, with somewhat heavier volume than that of its southern neighbor, moved up nearly 2 points, but like Pacific Lighting fell back at the close when profit-taking came into the market, although Pacific Lighting retained about half of its gain. Pacific Public Service A climbed a fraction, while Spring Valley Water lost ½.

Most of the oils were steady, although Standard of California, Richfield, Shell, selling ex-dividend, and North American declined a few cents.

Kolster Radio steadied at 5, and Mascot, lost ½.

Anglo and London-Paris Bank gained 2 points, while Transamerica lost ¼, and West American Finance preferred slipped to a new low at 77½.

Several strong issues moved up a point or more in the industrial list. They included Atlas Diesel, Aviation Corporation of California, Langendorf A and B, Byron Jackson, Fireman's Fund and Home Fire and Marine, the last selling ex-dividend.

Weak industrial issues were headed by Golden State, which lost 1¼ points. Caterpillar, Crown Zellerbach, Occidental Insurance and Schlesinger A lost fractions.

Trading in bonds slipped a total off of eight, total money changing hands being only $2000. Stock sales totaled 52,300 with a value of $1,403,803.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

New York Stock Exchange today. It was the largest number of 1929 maximums for a single session since the market began its advance, and indicated the increasing depletion in available supplies of high-grade issues. Most of the gains were in the rail group.

The time money market was dull and unchanged at 4½ to 4¾ per cent for all maturities. Maintenance of the rate at about these levels, which contrast with the maximum of 9⅛ per cent attained late in the summer at the peak of the credit stringency, is expected for the remainder of the month, but many observers look for lower changes after the turn of the year.

Liberties were quiet and without change, but there was considerable activity in the Treasury certificates, which shaded off about ½ of a point. The 3¾s, 1943-47, touched a high for the year.

Trading in the domestic list slackened, but corporations representing investment type held to their upward trend. First-grade rails displayed the strongest tone and the averages advanced to the highest level since early in the year. Among the rails making new tops were Baltimore & Ohio preferred, Canadian Nationals 5s, Carolina, Clinchfield and Ohio 6s, Erie convertible 4s, Nickel Plate 4½s, Missouri Pacific convertible 4s, New Haven debenture 4s, Northern Pacific prior lien 4s, Southern Railway general 6½s and Virginian 5s. Miscellaneous issues in high ground were Shelly Oil 5½s, Midvale Steel 5s, General Petroleum 5s and Bethlehem Steel 5½s. Activity in the utilities diminished.

Convertibles displayed considerable irregularity. The new Chicago and Northwestern 4½s turned over to the extent of nearly $500,000, compared with $100,000 yesterday, and held around par, the price at which that part of the $72,335,000 loan not taken by the stockholders was offered publicly this morning. The subscription books on this offering, which was less than half of the total, closed soon after the opening.

American Telephone convertible 4½s traded in large volume and were on a downward course, closing with a net loss of 2½. International Telephone 4½s lost 1½, but Reading Coal and Iron 6s rose a point and Public Service of New Jersey 4½s advanced it.

The foreign group was irregular. Australian loans were active at small declines. German Republic 7s advanced nearly a point.

Another large municipal bond issue was placed today. The city of Detroit awarded to a bankers' company syndicate a $24,268,000 one to thirty-year loan in 4½s, 4¼s and 4s on a bid of 100.009.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in order given. To parallel transactions in one issue, it omitted when the same as the low, and both low and close when same as high.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Dec. 5. (AP)—The rally in prices which had been under way on the New York Curb Exchange since the beginning of the week showed signs of petering out today as profit-taking and bear selling increased in volume. Early gains were cut down to small quotations before 2 o'clock, or rather long list of net declines although many of them were fractional in character.

While business news generally continued favorable, and Wall street was treated to another series of "Christmas dividends" and optimistic trade forecasts, there was a rather general feeling among traders that the market was entitled to a technical reaction.

Niles Rieley and Shenandoah Investment Trust were relisted today on the announcement that arrangements had been made for increasing their assets. Falcon Holding Group, leading investment corporation issue moved within rather narrow limits. Temporary weakness in Insull issues, and Commonwealth Edison, persisted despite the Interstate Commerce Commission's request for a Congressional investigation of those companies with a recommendation that serious consideration be given to pending regulatory legislation.

Electric Bond and Share retained the leadership of the public utility group, closing the day's dealings at 91 3/4, a net gain of fractional 3/4. American Superpower also closed more than 2 points higher. Standard Gas and Electric, Electric Power and Light and Standard Power and Light rallied 1 to nearly 3 points. Other utilities moved within a narrow range, and closed fractionally lower. Oils continued to present several features of strength. Colorado Manufacturing Company jumped 3 points and Gulf advanced 2 1/4 with half a dozen other active issues showing gains of around a point. Aluminum of America and Deere & Co., each scored 17 points. Buckeye Pipe Line and Wilcox rose 10 points on the declaration of an extra dividend of $2. Newmont Mining Company nearly 7 points and Nevada Co. 1 1/2, but Hasbrook Heath was strong.

New low prices for the year were registered by Amerol Corporation, B. J. Motion Picture Theaters, Mangel Stores, and Schulte United preferred.

The closing sale is qualified white sales are the last and lowest and close when none at the bid.

OIL NEWS

BY HOWARD KEGLEY

Discovery of considerable gas in the Signal Petroleum Company's No. 1 well on Section 18, 28-22, southeast of the Lost Hills district, Kern county, appears to have stimulated the leasing activity among the larger operators in that region of late months ago.

Signal is drilling cautiously in order to keep BHP test. No oil sand has been penetrated, according to officials of the company, but indications during the past few days have been encouraging to indicate that sometime today may develop before a depth of 3000 feet is reached.

Every gas measure a week ago caused considerable anxiety to the operators, and many tons of baroid were forced into the hole to control the gas so drilling operations could be resumed. The project is being financed by the same section where Signal Oil Company prospected several years ago, but developed a series of mechanical difficulties that resulted in abandonment of the well.

By Rube Pierce

Assistant Secretary Kilgour of the California Oil and Gas Association reported yesterday that his office already had received hundreds of requests for the annual Christmas luncheon, to take place at the Biltmore Hotel on the 20th inst.

The festivities are under the auspices of the wildcat committee of the association, which committee has staged several similar affairs. There will be a splendid program in keeping with the holiday season. San Francisco is sending a delegation down to attend the luncheon.

The Kist Prospect

Drillings developed in an oil sand considerably deeper than the lower Chanslor sand at Santa Fe Springs have proved so convincing to operators that the new discovery may soon be opened up until the curtailment program has been rounded out and additional oil is required.

Dover Reward recently halted drilling operations in his Hathaway No. 1 in the southwesterly portion of the Santa Fe Springs field when he struck what is believed to be an upper zone producing sand. According to reports on this deep well it was drilled to a depth below 7000 feet, and found sufficient oil and to justify a production test.

The only thing standing in the way of Reward's completion is the effort to curtail production. Two days ago the output at Santa Fe Springs averaged 167,200 barrels while before more than 16,000 barrels over the established figure set by major companies. The new flood of oil resulted when at least fifteen new projects were brought in from the lower Clarke sand.

But for the suspension of operations in the Hathaway No. 7, it would have bettered the world's record for deep holes set by the Shell Company on which its Nena No. 1 drilled to 10,000 feet in search of oil at Signal Hill. This undertaking is also suspended for the present, but may be gone back into to depth.

Deeper Drilling

The effectiveness of having an option for the Elwood and Ventura avenue fields is showing results through the sharp decline in output of oil in one field and the curtailment of oil and gas output in the other.

Effect of the drive to cut production is especially noticeable in the Ventura-avenue field. On November 30 the total yield of oil averaged 60,000 barrels daily. This figure has been slashed 25 per cent and to yield two days ago averaged 45,000 barrels daily. The flow of gas as of November 30 was estimated at 300,513,000 cubic feet, and the daily rate that had been cut to 240,000 cubic feet daily.

A number of the principal operators in the Ventura-avenue field have made radical efforts to help the situation. The Associated Oil Company has killed outright twenty-two producers; the Shell Oil Company killed twenty-nine; Pacific Western Oil Company and the General Petroleum Corporation killed five producers apiece.

Completion Add Flow

Completion of several wells in the Elwood field has kept the production figures there slightly higher than the desired amount, and everything possible is being done to bean down output. The Barnsdall-Rio Grande combination's Luton-Bell No. 1, which came in for 3100 barrels of oil per day, has given the field a daily yield of 22,205 barrels, and has the Luton-Bell No. 10 coming in today or tomorrow as an additional increase is promised.

Another new completion may be brought in this week by the Elwood Exploration Company. That may boost the output for the field up to at least 34,000 barrels daily, or possibly higher, and indications are the 34,000 barrels daily yield may not be reached until the middle of next week.

Still Active

Operators are continuing their efforts to develop substantial production in the town-lot area at Potrero. The Associated Oil Company has been scrubbing Prairie No. 2, with interests at 3844 feet, but with poor results. The Prairie No. 1 is idle with interests at 3880 feet.

Barnes & Thomas No. 1, drilled to a depth of 4160 feet and one of the largest of the town-lot tests, came in wet several days ago and has been plugged to 3000 feet for redrilling. The Globe Lease and Royalty No. 6 is swabbing for production at 3825 feet.

George F. Getty, Inc., is meeting with success in Parker No. 1, and is flowing about sixty-five barrels of oil per day from a depth of 3165 feet. It is testing 46-deg. gravity and will probably continue to be a small producer providing it does not check the output.

On the Potrero Country Club tract Associated is getting about 100 barrels of oil per day from Potrero No. 1. The oil is cutting 37 gravity and is flowing from a depth of 3885 feet. It is thought to be an edge producer.

Wicklund Test Starts

George F. Getty, Inc., has just obtained its Wicklund Permit No. 28-1 on the coast at Carpinteria, and drill for oil beneath the waters of the ocean. By December 15 the Wicklund Permit No. 130-1 will have spudded in. Both projects are located on a thirty-acre tract and are a short distance from a permit to be prospected by the Continental Oil Company.

BURIAL GROUND OF PAST FOUND

Road Excavators Unearth Bones of Early Indians

Skeletons Face Downward, Foreheads on Stones

Graves Yield Arrowheads and Cooking Utensils

Students of early California history turned their attention yesterday to the discovery of an early Indian burial ground near Carpinteria, uncovered unexpectedly by a group of workmen making a cut through a cliff for a road to the beach.

Scores of the traditional Indian dead minus vases were revealed as the road scraper shovel tore open the graves. The skeletons were found lying face down, foreheads resting on crossed stones, with arrowheads, cooking utensils and other articles buried with them.

The story of the savages' graves was related in Los Angeles yesterday by George A. McDonald, local engineer, on whose property the burial ground was uncovered by a steam shovel over for George F. Getty, Inc., engaged in running a road to the beach for oil-drilling work.

SCORES OF SKELETONS

Thirty feet from the place where a steam shovel started digging in to the edge of the cliff, with steps straight to the ocean's edge, skeletons of Indians were unearthed by the score, according to Mr. McDonald.

In the majority of the graves the bodies were lying on their faces, with feet toward the west. In one grave a mother and her child were discovered, the mother with arms half-circling the infant. One by one the skeleton of a man imbedded in his forehead an arrow, one which undoubtedly struck him down during battle more than a century ago.

According to McDonald, he found traces of war paint on the skulls of many of the Indians, indicating that the coloring substance had soaked into the bones during the centuries period while the bodies were buried. Most of the bodies discovered were found from six to three feet under the sod.

MANY ARROWHEADS

Hundreds of arrowheads, a number of grinding and mixing bowls and other articles were buried with the bodies. Many of the skulls have been removed from the property with permission of the owners.

Ross Rozas Eames, drilling superintendent for George F. Getty, Inc., uncovered the old burial ground he immediately halted excavations and made a preliminary investigation. He asked Mr. McDonald for permission to continue work down the right, resumed building the road to the edge of the cliff and throughout the entire distance turned up many of the skeletons dead. The huge shovel at times turned entire skeletons into the air and then dropped them to one side, often breaking into small pieces.

STUDENTS VISIT SPOT

When word was received of the discovery at Carpinteria, classes in near-by schools were dismissed and the old burial grounds and nearby the various finds. According to Mr. McDonald, the cemetery stretch for many feet out around the road under conditions and hundreds of skeletons probably would be found if entire area were excavated. Piles of skeletons could be seen sticking out over the edge of the newly excavated portion of the road where bones were pulled out of the ground by members of the steam shovel crew and tossed in a heap, before removed the pieces.

McDonald owns the property for some feet into the ocean fronting the burial ground. The oil well is to be drilled out in the ocean and within a stone's throw of the cemetery. The property involved is just south of the Cerca Del Mar Club property and in an isolated section. No roads run along the cliff's edge and the road built there is the first to penetrate that region. The country around is quite smooth and devoid of trees or boulders.

CITY HALL SCENE OF SHOOTING

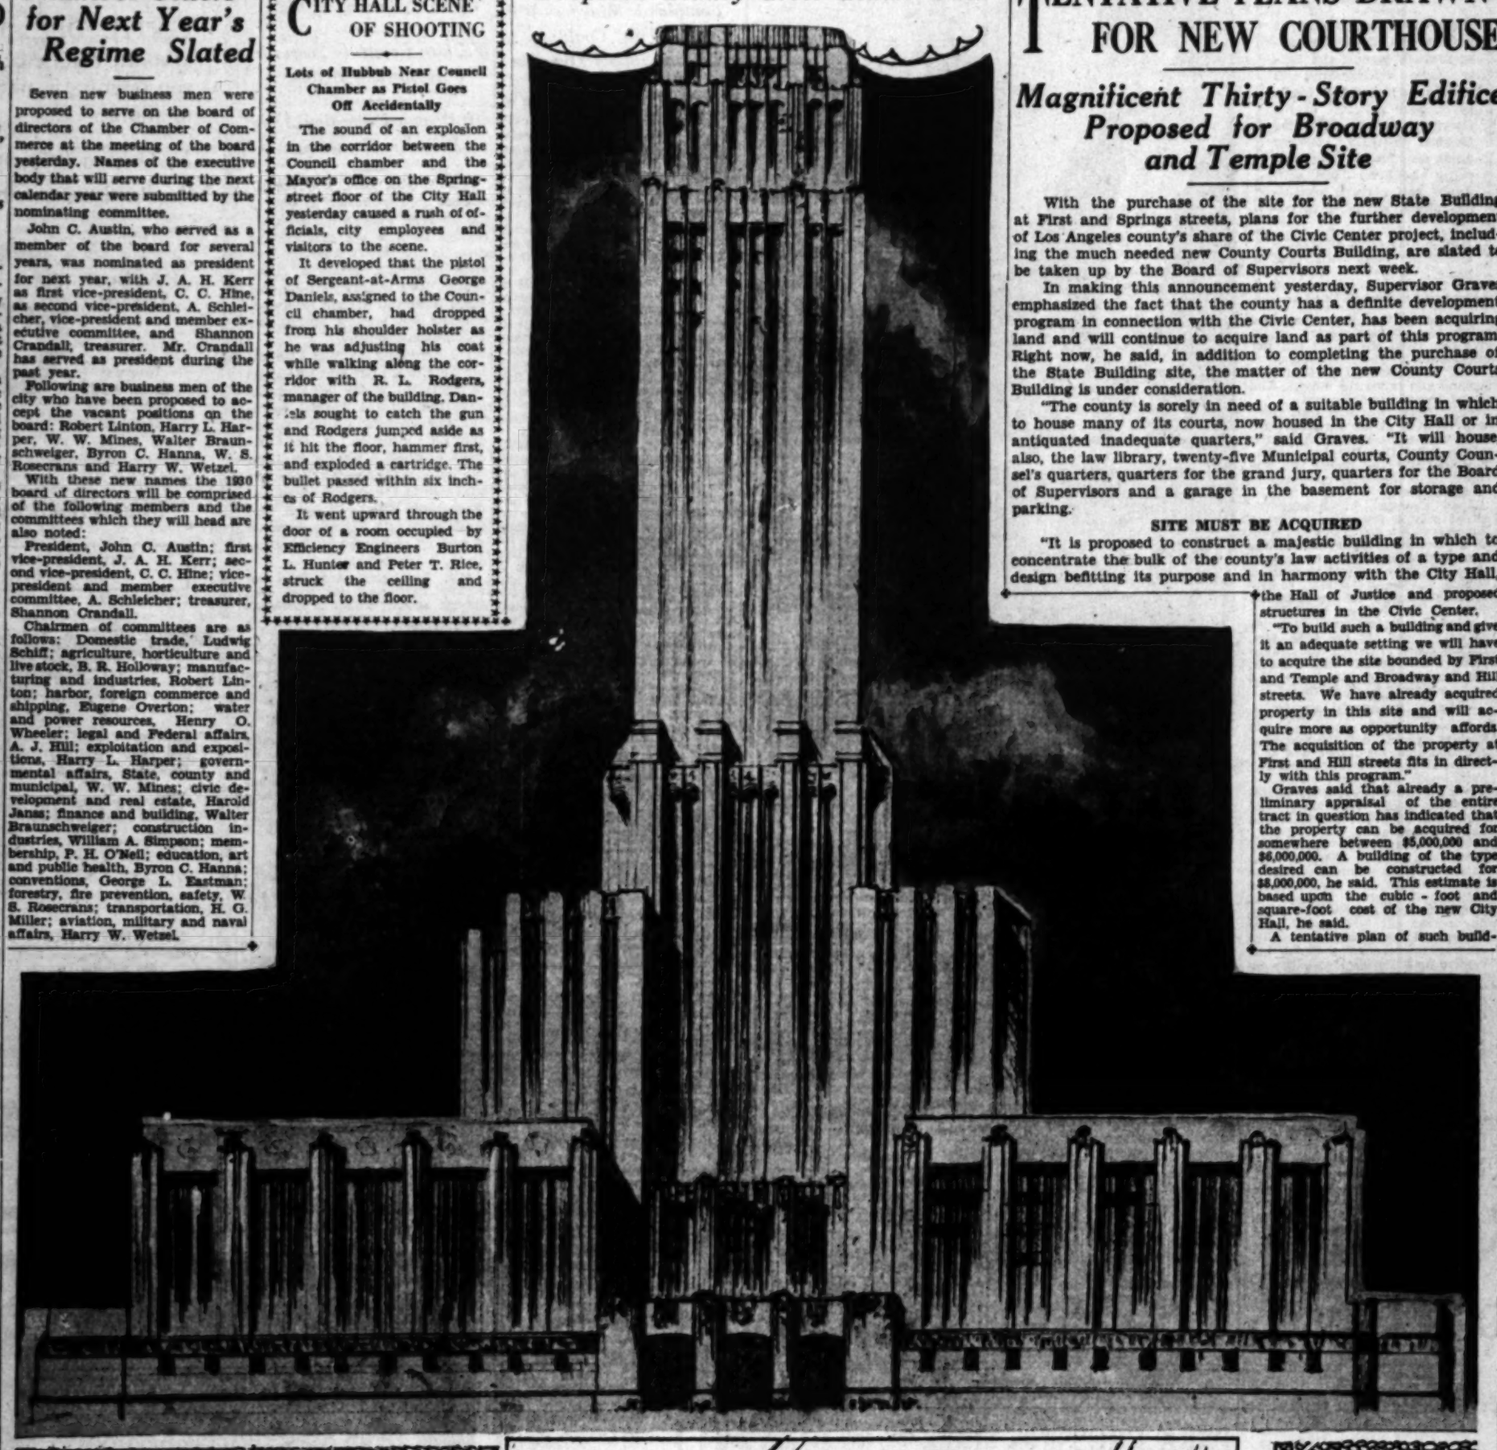
Lots of Hubbub Near Council Chamber as Pistol Goes Off Accidentally

The sound of an explosion in the corridor between the Council chamber and the Mayor's office on the Spring-street floor of the City Hall yesterday caused a rush of officials, city employees and visitors to the scene.

It developed that the pistol of Sergeant-at-Arms George Daniels, assigned to the Council chamber, had dropped from his shoulder holster as he was adjusting his coat while walking along the corridor with R. L. Rodgers, manager of the building. Daniels sought to catch the gun and Rodgers jumped aside as it hit the floor, hammer first, and exploded a cartridge. The bullet passed within six inches of Rodgers.

It went upward through the door of a room occupied by Efficiency Engineers Burton L. Hunter and Peter T. Rice, struck the ceiling and dropped to the floor.

Proposed County Civic Center Unit



TENTATIVE PLANS DRAWN FOR NEW COURTHOUSE

Magnificent Thirty-Story Edifice Proposed for Broadway and Temple Site

With the purchase of the site for the new State Building at First and Springs streets, plans for the further development of Los Angeles county's share of the Civic Center project, including the much needed new County Courts Building, are slated to be taken up by the Board of Supervisors next week.

In making this announcement yesterday, Supervisor Graves emphasized the fact that the county has a definite development program in connection with the Civic Center, has been acquiring land and will continue to acquire land as part of this program. Right now, he said, in addition to completing the purchase of the State Building site, the matter of the new County Courts Building is under consideration.

"The county is sorely in need of a suitable building in which to house many of its courts, now housed in the City Hall or in antiquated inadequate quarters," said Graves. "It will house, also, the law library, twenty-five Municipal courts, County Counsel's quarters, quarters for the grand jury, quarters for the Board of Supervisors and a garage in the basement for storage and parking.

SITE MUST BE ACQUIRED

"It is proposed to construct a majestic building in which to concentrate the bulk of the county's law activities of a type and design befitting its purpose and in harmony with the City Hall, the Hall of Justice and proposed structures in the Civic Center.

"To build such a building and give it an adequate setting we will have to acquire the site bounded by First and Temple and Broadway and Hill streets. We have already acquired property in this site and will acquire more as opportunity affords. The acquisition of the property at First and Hill streets fits in directly with this program."

Graves said that already a preliminary appraisal of the entire tract in question has indicated that the property can be acquired for somewhere between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000. A building of the type desired can be constructed for $8,000,000, he said. This estimate is based upon the cubic - foot and square-foot cost of the new City Hall, he said.

A tentative plan of such building has already been prepared by one of the county architects to be used as the basis for studies to be made for such a building. An edifice is indicated whose imposing beauty and majesty will make it a landmark in the institutional architecture of the country.

Because of the fact that it will take some time to acquire all of the property needed and the construction of the building complete itself will require probably several years, Graves pointed out that the first step in this development program must be made in the immediate future. He plans to bring the matter up before the Board of Supervisors next week. It is thought that a bond issue of about $15,000,000 to cover the cost of building, land and attendant items will be placed on the ballot at the next general election in November.

RENTING POOR BUSINESS

"I know that bond issues are not at all popular just now," said Graves, "but I also know that the need for a County Courts Building or a new Courthouse is imperative. It is simply good business to prepare for it now. The space is needed and needed badly. We are paying out money for rentals, and that, as every taxpayer knows, is poor business. Moreover, our lease on the City Hall space where some of our courts are located, will expire in about seven years and I would imagine that it will take us nearly that long to acquire the site for the new courts building and put up the structure."

Preliminary sketches of the new building show a structure about thirty stories in height. Just where it would be located in the site discussed has not been determined, of course. It will set far enough back off Broadway, however, so that the Law Building, now leased by the county, can be utilized until the new building is completed. One suggestion that will be considered is that a portion of the building could extend over Hill street, with street and electric tracks running under the building and the great tower of the building overlooking Hill street itself.

KANSANS TO GET TOGETHER

Kansans will close their 1929 program of monthly rallies with a gathering next Thursday evening at Veterans' Hall, 246 South Hill street. Entertainment of particular interest to Jayhawkers is promised in the invitation to residents and tourists from Kansas.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

TO SAVE further mental wear and tear on the part of various frenzied correspondents, let me hasten to remark that I am not going to avenge the young men who got walloped by the cops for tearing up the football goal posts; or avenge the policemen who were carried home on a stretcher after the fight.

I don't know anything about it. I didn't read it in the paper. I have never read the paper. I don't know what a goal post is; I don't know what a policeman is; I don't know what a football game is.

SAVE THE GAME!

By way of footnote, however, I might add that if the football coach quoted in an evening paper puts over the proposed change in the rules you can kiss football good-by.

These subnormal intellects want to abolish the time limit in games and let each team, in turn, make fifty plays.

Cricket would become, by contrast, a hell-roaring speed debauch. It is the "four minutes left to play" that gives the game its thrill and its drama.

WOT TO DO? WOT TO DO?

An enthusiastic gentleman writes me that the piece about the front lawns is the best thing that ever appeared in the Lancer.

An infuriated young lady writes me that the Lancer is getting worse and worse, and that this truck about front lawns was even worse than the Lancer is usually.

In the circumstances, I'll be darned if I know what to do.

ANOTHER LIFE STORY

One thing cheers me greatly. If they hang the gentleman accused of wrecking a Southern Pacific train at Saugus, they will be hanging the author of one of these crook autobiographies. His life story has not yet been published; but I am willing to wager that seven-eighths of it is given up to a pious explanation of how the truth dawned upon him that crime does not pay, and he resolved to be a worthy member of society.

NIGHT RIDERS

It is a wonder that more accidents like that of the daughter of Alphonzo Bell do not happen. No one of us who drives a car but can remember a hundred narrow escapes. With the headlights of an approaching car shining in your eyes, the chances of a pedestrian to cross the street are slim and deadly.

ETERNAL SUMMER

The city of eternal summer is right. Eternal hosing of the front lawn. If the next Noah wants a substitute, I'm him. My idea of a grand time would be a flood. And I wouldn't send out any dove, either. I'd just ride on and let the flood flood.

RITES CONDUCTED FOR FORMER SECRETARY

Mrs. Mabel Knight Roberts, for thirty-one years secretary to George J. Kuhrts, president and general manager of the Los Angeles Railway Company, was laid to rest in Forest Lawn Memorial Park yesterday following funeral services at the Los Angeles Undertaking Company Chapel, 2517 Pasadena avenue. She died Monday at her home, 472 East Avenue 28, at the age of 65 years. Mrs. Roberts, widow of John S. Roberts, came to Los Angeles thirty-five years ago from Minneapolis. She was in the employ of the local railway company from her arrival until her retirement four years ago.

PARK STREET PLAN UP AGAIN

Wilshire Boulevard Link Skirting Westlake Lagoon Urged by Commissioner Barnes

The project for carrying Wilshire Boulevard across Westlake Park was revived yesterday before the Park Commission by Commissioner Barnes. While he did not have the plans and estimates to present to his colleagues, he stated that the documents will be available within a few days and will be presented to the commission at its next meeting.

The proposed plan contemplates a causeway or fill, running on a curve around the north rim of the lake on a grade.

Mayor Porter said the matter had been brought to his attention.

"It seems to be a good thing," he said, adding that there should be some means of carrying traffic across the park. He said that he is leaving the matter in the hands of the Park Commission.

TWO PROJECTS UP

At present proceedings are running for the widening of Wilshire Boulevard to ninety feet from Alvarado street to Figueroa street, while last week a petition was filed with Council asking for the opening of Wilshire, as an eighty-foot street, from Figueroa street to Grand avenue.

The matter of crossing Westlake Park has been before official bodies in past years. The most recent plan was an ornamental bridge over the lake. Much opposition developed and it was proposed to submit the matter to a vote of the people. This plan died out.

Commissioner Barnes said that plans also are being worked out for a tunnel under the park and lake, which can be used as an alternate scheme to the causeway. Mr. Barnes, in bringing the matter before the commission, did not give any estimates of cost.

IMPORTANT ARTERY

Provided the proceedings for opening and widening Wilshire Boulevard from Alvarado street to Grand avenue are accomplished, the new artery will be one of the most important outlets for traffic from the downtown district westward. However, unless some plan is adopted to cross Westlake Park, upon reaching Alvarado street, traffic will be forced to divide, turning left or right to Seventh or Sixth streets,

Architect Visions Majestic Building

Above is the sketch of proposed new County Courthouse from tentative plans based upon the county's part in the development of the Civic Center. The plans call for one of the most majestic structures of its type in the country in harmony with the City Hall, Hall of Justice and other structures in the Civic Center. The building will be located on the site bounded by First and Temple streets and Broadway and Hill streets, as shown in the map. Building and site would be paid for out of a proposed $15,000,000 bond issue to be placed on the ballot next November.

CEMETERY'S DEAD MOVED TO NEW SITE

Playground and School Will Share Location of Ancient Calvary

Calvary Cemetery, one of the oldest burial grounds in Los Angeles and, perhaps, in Southern California, soon will be no more. Work of removing the bodies from the tract, which is situated at Broadway and Bishop's Road, was under way yesterday and workmen estimated that it will require from a week to ten days. The bodies will be transferred to the new Calvary Cemetery.

The old churchyard, which dates back almost to the beginning of the nineteenth century, was abandoned as a burial ground more than thirty years ago and in recent years has been closed to the public. It was one of the most interesting and historic landmarks in the Southland, since many early Spanish settlers were buried there.

One-half of the tract, which comprises more than two city blocks, will be converted into a public playground and another portion will be used as the site for the proposed new Cathedral High School. It was announced unofficially yesterday. Definite announcement of plans will be made by Bishop John J. Cantwell within the near future, it was stated.

SUIT SEEKS MORE LAND FOR RIVER

Eminent Domain Case of County Flood Control District Under Way

A hearing in an action in eminent domain brought by the Los Angeles county flood-control district to condemn property along the San Gabriel River now is under way before Superior Judge Yankwich.

The suit, which is directed against Tessie May Graham, Andrew Wright and some forty or fifty other property owners, seeks to obtain the land for widening the river bed from 200 to 400 feet between Downey and Artesia, a distance of four miles. The widening is sought by the flood-control district, to prevent overflowing of lands and inundations when the San Gabriel River goes on a rampage during the freshet seasons.

The improvement project involves more than ninety pieces of property. Settlement already has been made with some forty landowners.

HEIGHT LIMIT VIEWS AIRED

Groups at Chamber of Commerce Session Outline Ideas on Construction in County

Preliminary to a series of conferences on height-limit construction to be conducted by the Los Angeles County Regional Planning Commission, a meeting of interested groups was held yesterday under Chamber of Commerce auspices. Representatives from various cities in the county met with architects, builders, planners and members of builders organizations on invitation from the Construction and Industries Committee of the chamber's domestic trade department.

Carl Bush of the County Regional Planning Commission, announced that the commission intends to begin a series of five conferences in the next ten days, arranged to enable two meetings with city and county officials, and meetings with architects, building engineers, contractors and property owners especially concerned in the height - limit question. The commission will seek opinions to guide it in submitting a report to the Board of Supervisors. While this report will be intended to suggest county height-limit attitude, it will not be binding on municipal action in such regard. However, it is believed that it will provide the way for county and municipal concord on the subject.

Building Inspector Barnwell of Beverly Hills, at yesterday's meeting advocated the non-height-limit method under which his city operates. W. Ross Campbell advanced the idea of roof airplane landings as possibly one of the details to be given consideration in height-limit conferences. W. A. Simpson, chairman of the Construction and Industries Committee and of the meeting, said that four large building projects here await the determination of the height-limit question and declared its settlement is imperative.

Fire Chief Scott advocated county building regulations similar to those in Los Angeles. L. T. Clark, manager

POLICE CHARGE EXTORTION PLOT

Assert $1000 Sought from Mrs. Baumgarteker

Accused Repudiates Story as Police Appear

The arrest last night of Dorothy Dustin, 24-year-old girl, in a downtown hotel, after police officers said she attempted to extort $1000 from Mrs. Mary Baumgarteker, wife of the wealthy Frank Baumgarteker who has been mysteriously missing for the past ten days, is expected to bring an early solution to the strange case.

The Dustin girl was apprehended as she was talking with Mrs. Baumgarteker during a prearranged meeting which was overheard by the police. The girl related a story of her knowledge of acquaintanceship of the missing man with her girl friend, and is asserted to have threatened to take the matter to the newspapers unless given the money.

REPUDIATES STORY

Following her arrest and questioning at Central Station, the girl declared that her entire story was a hoax and that she knew nothing of Baumgarteker or his affairs. She said she conceived the blackmail plot as a method of getting money, and declared that she could not aid police in their search for the missing wine merchant.

Under orders of Captain of Detectives Cato, and at the express wish of Mrs. Baumgarteker, the girl was booked on a charge of suspicion of blackmail, and officers were detailed to check closely her activities since she arrived here from San Francisco three years ago.

The girl gave her address as 812 South Westlake street, and the police investigators then revealed that Baumgarteker and his auto was seen on the day of his disappearance a few blocks from this section, at 1:15 p.m.

The meeting last night between Mrs. Baumgarteker and the arrested girl followed a telephone conversation in which the girl told Mrs. Baumgarteker she had information that would aid in finding her husband, and also give her a side of his life that she has never known.

DETECTIVES IN WAITING

The girl at first arranged the meeting for the Baumgarteker home at 3230 Seventh avenue, but early last night changed her plan and asked for a conference in the hotel. Police were advised of the meeting and Police Matron Schreiner accompanied Mrs. Baumgarteker. Detectives Allen and Condoffer were stationed in the vicinity to watch the proceedings.

The girl said that her chum's name is Katherine Russo, and that they live in the same apartment. She said that Baumgarteker had been very friendly with her roommate for more than three years, and unless Mrs. Baumgarteker would give her $1000 she would sell her information to the newspapers.

Mrs. Baumgarteker refused the demand and called the officers, who placed the girl under arrest.

Other telephone calls that have been received at the Baumgarteker home were being checked last night in the belief that they will establish definitely the motive for the abduction of the wine merchant in a ransom plot.

These messages, which were received only a few days prior to Baumgarteker's disappearance, were all a part of the kidnaping scheme, according to the police. In one instance the wife was told to go to a certain downtown street corner. There she would see her husband drive by in a closed car with a fashionably dressed and attractive young woman. At the time Mrs. Baumgarteker received the strange message her husband was sitting in the living-room of the home, and had no intentions of leaving.

PLANS BELIEVED UPSET

At still another time, the son Herbert, was called to the telephone and told that his father was at a certain address enjoying a drinking party with a woman. The [illegible] called the ranch home of the Baumgarteker's near Cucamonga and found that his father was there, and had not been away.

Police believe that these messages were used in laying a foundation for the abduction plot, in the hope that the wife and son would not become alarmed at Baumgarteker's absence over a two-day period. It is also the police theory that the kidnapers of the vineyardist planned to hold him captive for a few days and then return him for a stipulated sum. The move of the wife in notifying police of the disappearance and the start of the hunt is now believed to have conflicted with the original plan, and delayed the culmination in ransom moves.

Both were given emergency treatment and then sent home.

of the Subway Terminal Building, discussed the subject from the standpoint of land valuation and advocated such height-construction elasticity as he said would enable business structures to bring a return properly proportionate to the value of their sites.

OWNERS' SIDE TOLD

Declaring that the owners of the present business buildings here built their structures under what tacitly is a contract with the city in regard to height-limit, A. L. Lathrop, president of the Los Angeles Building Owners' and Managers' Association took the position that to remove the height-limit restriction would be unfair to these owners. The latter, he said, in effect have pioneered business building construction here and are entitled to consideration for having had to comply with height-limit restrictions. Mr. Lathrop said there is no desire on part of business building owners to oppose architectural and other construction progress, but that in fairness to them the question of height-limit building should be adjudicated along thoroughly equitable lines.

PARK CROSSING PLAN UP AGAIN

an l turning again west of the park into Wilshire Boulevard.

While the importance of providing this traffic outlet has been presented to official bodies, opponents of the plan base their contentions on the fact that either a bridge or causeway will deface the park. The matter of a tunnel is regarded as involving a heavy expense.

Hit-Run Driver Kills Aged Man

Struck by a hit-and-run driver, knocked into the path of another machine, thence catapulted into the path of a Pacific Electric car Henry Balsinger, 68 years of age, 1812 South Western avenue, last night received injuries which caused his death at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

The accident occurred at Venice Boulevard and St. Andrews Place and the hit-and-run driver, police learned, was a negro. The driver of the other car was not held.

Warrant Issued for South Gate ex-Police Chief

Deputy sheriffs of the fugitive detail last night were searching for F. W. Bridcott, former Chief of Police of South Gate, on a warrant signed by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Coleman charging him with embezzlement of public funds.

According to a complaint on file in the office of the District Attorney, Bridcott is asserted to have appropriated to his own use money paid in as traffic fines while he was acting as a police executive. The money, according to the complaint, totals $200, collected in two transactions.

The charges against Bridcott, according to Coleman, resulted from the recent grand jury investigation into the disposition of between $3500 and $4000 asserted to have been collected as traffic fines in the South Gate court. The money is declared never to have reached the City Treasury.

The grand jury last Friday indicted Earl Cunningham, then Chief of Police of South Gate, charging him with embezzlement and grand theft.

Bridcott, subsequent to leaving the South Gate police department, became a State motor patrol officer, acting in this capacity until recently, according to Coleman.

ANTI-MEXICAN IDEA SCORED

Inter-American Foundation Executive Declares Barriers Needless, in Talk to Trade Club

There is no occasion in this country for agitation to restrict free Mexican immigration, Dr. James Hoffman Batten, executive director of the Inter-American Foundation, told the Foreign Trade Club last evening at the City Club. Mexicans are not showing any disposition to cross the border in wholesale numbers, he declared.

In the fiscal year ending June 30, last, Mexican immigration to this country totaled 20,000 less than that of the preceding year and the number of Mexicans returning to their country from the United States was 24,500 more than in the year before, the speaker said.

Dr. Batten contends that the imposition of unduly restrictive immigration regulations at the Mexican border will work an economic hardship on the American southwest and at the same time militate against an international friendship that is extremely valuable to this country in its efforts to promote good will and trade relations with all Latin-American nations.

Dr. Batten gave a vivid word picture of Mexican progress in government, education, art and other factors for national welfare.

Clarence H. Matson, manager of the department of foreign commerce and shipping, Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, described incidents of the recent excursion to Mexico under auspices of the chamber and stressed its good results. Dr. Ricardo Uribe announced a forthcoming Mexican excursion.

Motion pictures taken by T. L. Tally during the chamber's excursion and additional Mexican reels visualized community and other progress in Mexico.

President R. E. Dorton of the Foreign Trade Club presided.

CITY HEADS TO CONFER ON WATER

Southland Mayors Will Meet With Conkling to Discuss Supply Question

Mayors of more than a score of Southern California cities will attend the meeting today of the board of directors of the Metropolitan Water District to discuss the water supply situation with Harold Conkling, chief of the Division of Water Rights in the State. Chairman Whitsett of the district board in announcing the conference, declared that Mr. Conkling will report in detail on the results of a recent Statewide water survey.

The mayors and other officials of all of the eleven cities included in the Metropolitan Water District have indicated particular interest in the conference with Mr. Conkling. These cities are Los Angeles, Pasadena, Glendale, Burbank, Beverly Hills, Santa Monica, Colton, San Marino, Santa Ana, San Bernardino. The meeting also is to be attended by the full membership of the district board of directors.

Prior to the address by Mr. Conkling, it is expected that the district board will receive a report from the field indicating the progress being made by the three members of the board of review now engaged in the study of data leading to the selection of the best possible route for the Colorado River Aqueduct. This board, which is composed of A. J. Wiley, Thaddeus Merriman and Richard R. Lyman, is now on the Colorado River inspecting a number of possible intake sites for the aqueduct.

Attended by Chief Engineer Frank E. Weymouth and the other water district engineers, who have been in charge of the various aqueduct survey tasks, it is expected that the board of review will return to Los Angeles Sunday evening.

British Vessel Seized by Guard to be Released

Probable release today of the British motor vessel Kagoma, seized Wednesday morning sixty miles southwest of San Pedro by the Coast Guard cutter CG-901, was announced yesterday by Commander Roger C. Weightman, commanding the local base.

Commander Weightman said that investigation of the activities of the fast seventy-five-foot craft revealed no conclusive proof that she had been running contraband liquor. Her master, Arthur J. Lilly, and three other members of the crew, all British subjects, still are being detained at the Coast Guard base. The Kagoma, powered with three 450-horsepower Liberty motors, hails from Vancouver, B. C., and was devoid of cargo when captured by the CG-901 sixteen miles off San Nicolas Island.

HOLDER OF OIL ROYALTY LOSES

Court Rules Rights at End With Deepening of Well

Wilshire Company Scores in Accounting Action

Oft-Disputed Question Again Raised in Proceedings

Mrs. Theresa Lien, who was an original royalty holder in one of the discovery wells in the Santa Fe Springs field, is not permitted to share in the profits from the well after deepening, under a ruling handed down yesterday by Superior Judge Haslett in the suit for an accounting she brought against the Wilshire Oil Company.

The court held that Mrs. Lien lost her right to a 1 per cent royalty on oil produced from the well when the lease held by the original operators was surrendered after the well went off production at the first depth at which it was drilled. Later the Wilshire Oil Company took over the well and deepened it to another pool. The well again produced much oil. Recently, however, it went off production at the deeper depth, it is asserted.

Mrs. Lien contended that her royalty right still was good even though another group of operators deepened the well, and asked for an accounting.

One of the interesting questions raised, which has not as yet been settled by the California Supreme Court, was whether a royalty holder has a right to the oil while it is in a well, or whether the right comes only after the oil is produced. In many other States high courts have held that the oil is personal property and the royalty holder can take nothing until after it is produced. Judge Haslett held likewise, as did Superior Judge Yankwich in a recent oil suit where the question was raised.

GRAVES READY FOR SLAYINGS

Youth Says Woman Dictated Family's Slaughter

Inquest on San Fernando's Tragedy Opens Today

In an amazing new confession yesterday Armando Boltares, 24-year-old San Fernando truck driver, named his asserted sweetheart, Rita Dolores Guichapa, 30, as the master plotter in the "shovel murders" of the five members of the Alvarez-Garcia family to which Capt. Bright of the Sheriff's office says he confessed after his capture Wednesday.

The new and amplified statement of Boltares asserts that he and Rita Guichapa woman plotted the deaths of the Alvarez-Garcia family for more than a year in revenge against the family for having informed on him and his sweetheart for bootlegging.

WOMAN IN DENIAL

While Boltares grimly recounted the murder of the five and face to face dramatically accused his erstwhile sweetheart, and she heatedly denied his accusations, Coroner Nance announced an inquest for 10 a.m. today over the slain five.

The inquest will be conducted over the bodies of Charles Alvarez, and his mother, Mrs. Helena Alvarez-Garcia; her two small daughters, Carmelita, 12, and Elisa, 6, and of the husband and stepfather, Luciano Garcia. The bodies of the woman and three children were found in Bootleggers' Canyon near San Fernando last week and a few days later Garcia's body was found in a shallow grave near Azusa.

GRAVES PREPARED

According to Boltares's story to Capt. Bright, he went under orders from Miss Guichapa a few days prior to October 10, last, and prepared three graves in Bootleggers' Canyon.

On October 10, he says, with the Guichapa woman he lured Mrs. Alvarez-Garcia and her three children to the canyon on the pretext that he could unearth some buried wine for them.

While searching in the heavy undergrowth for the supposed wine Charles was struck and killed by a shovel carried by Boltares. Mrs. Alvarez-Garcia next was lured into the faked wine hunt and died from blows with the shovel, near where her son had been slain a few minutes before.

SAYS DEATHS ORDERED

Then came the question as to what to do with the small girls, according to Boltares, and that portion of his story is denied by the Guichapa woman.

"Kill them," he says Miss Guichapa ordered.

While he protested, he says, that

GRAVES READY FOR SLAYINGS

Youth Says Woman Dictated Family's Slaughter

Inquest on San Fernando's Tragedy Opens Today

In an amazing new confession yesterday Armando Boltares, 24-year-old San Fernando truck driver, named his asserted sweetheart, Julia Dolores Guichapa, 30, as the master plotter in the "shovel murder" of the five members of the Alvarez-Garcia family to which Capt. Bright of the Sheriff's office says he confessed after his capture Wednesday.

The new and amplified statement of Boltares asserts that he and the Guichapa woman plotted the deaths of the Alvarez-Garcia family for more than a year in revenge against the family for having informed on him and his sweetheart for bootlegging.

WOMAN IN DENIAL

While Boltares grimly recounted the murder of the five and face to face dramatically accused his erstwhile sweetheart, and she heatedly denied his accusations, Coroner Nance announced an inquest for 10 a. m. today over the slain five.

The inquest will be conducted over the bodies of Charles Alvarez, 12, his mother, Mrs. Helena Alvarez-Garcia; her two small daughters, Carmelita, 13, and Elisa, 6, of the husband and stepfather, Jesus Garcia. The bodies of the victims and three children were found in Bolteggers' Canyon near San Fernando last week and a few days later Garcia's body was found in a shallow grave near Azusa.

GRAVES PREPARED

According to Boltares's story to Capt. Bright, he went under orders from Miss Guichapa a few days prior to October 10, last, and spent three graves in Bootleggers' Canyon.

On October 10, he says, with the woman he lured Mrs. Alvarez-Garcia and her three children to the canyon on the pretext that he could unearth some buried whisky for them.

While searching in the heavy undergrowth for the supposed wine Charles was struck and killed by a shovel carried by Boltares. Mrs. Alvarez-Garcia next was lured into a fake wine hunt and died from blows with the shovel, near where her son had been slain a few minutes before.

GIRL DEATHS ORDERED

Then came the question as to what is to do with the small girls, according to Boltares, and that portion of his story is denied by the Guichapa woman.

"He does," he says Miss Guichapa ordered.

When he protested, he says, that "it was a little too much to kill so many," Miss Guichapa held firm, and Carmelita hearing the conversation began screaming and fighting.

"I had to kill her," he told Capt. Bright, "and when she fell dying her small sister ran and bent over the body crying. So I hit her with the shovel, too."

Miss Guichapa, he says, picked up the smallest girl's body and threw it in one of the prepared graves. The mother and her eldest daughter were buried in other graves, but night came on and they had to leave Charles's body lie in the brush.

On October 14, Boltares says, he shot the husband and stepfather in Rabbit Acres near Azusa, and buried the body because Miss Guichapa "hated him so." Later he took the woman to see Garcia's grave, he says.

Boltares and his asserted sweetheart are held in the County Jail, pending further investigation, and both will appear today at the inquest.

CONVICT'S WIFE OPENS SUIT

Mrs. Seitz Seeks Antelope Valley Land Return, Charging Fraud Practiced in Deal

Mrs. Nina Lee Seitz, wife of Evan B. Seitz, now serving a term of from five years to life in San Quentin prison for robbery, went before Superior Judge Price yesterday with a suit to regain possession of 6000 acres of land in Antelope Valley which, she asserts, was taken from her by fraud. One of the defendants in the action is Frank Kelley, now under parole from San Quentin, where he served eighteen months for grand theft, according to evidence introduced at the hearing yesterday.

Mrs. Seitz and her husband are in law. Mr. and Mrs. Seitz were to receive the entire stock of the finance corporation in return for their land.

During the hearing yesterday Kelley admitted forming the Antelope Valley Finance Company, but denied that he ever had posed as a lawyer, or that he obtained the land from the plaintiffs by fraud.

Attorneys for the defense are preparing to oppose any move on the part of the plaintiffs to obtain depositions from Seitz in San Quentin prison whom they assert is "civily dead" because of his conviction. He was septenced from five years to life on November 30, 1928, by Superior Judge Aggeler following his conviction on an asserted charge of participating in a $19,000 jewelry robbery on April 12, 1927.

PIONEER HAS BIRTHDAY IN BANK OFFICE

Jackson A. Graves Keeps Busy at 77 Years of Age and Scoffs at Retirement

Hale and hearty, and firm in the belief that retirement is far in the future, Jackson A. Graves, veteran lawyer, banker and author, yesterday celebrated his seventy-seventh birthday at his desk at the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank, with which he became connected in 1903. He became president of the institution in 1920.

Seventy-two years ago Mr. Graves was brought to California by his parents from his birthplace at Hauntown, Iowa. The Graves family settled at Marysville. He was attracted to law early in his career as a student and after graduation from Marysville College moved to Los Angeles in 1875, when he was admitted to practice.

He became active as counsellor for practically all the banks of the city at that time, and made permanent connection with the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank twenty-six years ago.

Two years ago Mr. Graves published a book of reminiscences and bits of history and titled it "My Seventy Years in California."

Mr. Graves has been active in all moves meant for the progress of Southern California and still retains a lively interest in the development of natural resources, citrus farming and other agricultural and in industrial and social development.

Masons Dispel Hospital Gloom

Patients at the Santa Fe Hospital were entertained last night by the Santa Fe Masonic Club, presenting their third annual program. Harold Bowden directed the affair. Appearing on the program were Geneva Whitaker's ladies' orchestra, Ardis May, dancer; Doc Warner, accordionist; Doc Miller, monologist; Gladys De Witt, radio reader; Millie Watts, soprano, accompanied by Vance D. Smith at the piano; Marie Gennerette, whistler, accompanied by Frank Clark, and Vera Gennerette, violinist.

Two hundred patients and friends were in the audience.

Highest Bidder to Make Badges

Receiving a communication from the Mayor in which he disapproved the arrangement for an agreement with Glenn L. Cox, jewelery manufacturer, for the manufacture of the new police badges to be issued January 1, the Police Commission yesterday passed a resolution to grant the contract to the highest bidder.

The commission will have to purchase dies for the badges at a cost of between $1000 and $1200, which will be loaned to the successful bidder. The officers will be compelled to pay $5 each for the badges, totaling $16,000.

ILLINOISANS TO RALLY

Illinois folk living here will hold a reunion next Monday evening at Veterans' Hall, 246 South Hill street, it was announced by H. J. Brubaker, president of the Illinois Society. He invites tourists from that State to attend the affair. Dancing will follow a surprise program.

JOKER IN WILL REOPENS VANITY CASE FOR HEIRS

Rouge, lipsticks, short hair, motion pictures and dancing will be no part of the lives of Dr. Malcolm Murray, Miss Alice B. Murray, and Jean Murray from now on if they abide by the terms of the will of the late John Quincy Murray, admitted to probate by Superior Judge Stephens yesterday.

Miss Alice Murray and Dr. Malcolm J. Murray get $1000 each, and Miss Jean Murray, a favorite grandchild, $2000, if they do none of the things their grandfather mentioned in his will. If they do a fund for superannuated ministers of the Free Methodist church gets the money.

A condition of this bequest, however, forbids the aged pastors of this faith, of which there are only two or three in California, from wearing watch chains, and their wives must not wear wrist watches. The residue of the $7881 estate will be divided among three grandchildren and Mrs. L. A. Murray, a daughter-in-law of San Bernardino.

Attorneys yesterday pointed out a "joker" in the will, which will prevent the superannuated ministers from benefiting if Dr. Murray, a San Bernardino dentist, ever wants to wear a "Charlie Chaplin moustache," which was forbidden in the will, or his sisters want to slip into a quiet film house some time.

If any of the beneficiaries spend the money they get from the estate, no means is provided for the old preachers to get the money. They could claim it if it were not spent, if terms of the will were violated, but once converted into securities or property the money is safe in the possession of John Quincy Murray's heirs even if they go to theaters every night and dance in marathon contests in the day time.

Hospital Donor Honor Guest of Old Home Town

Charles E. Dimmitt, former vice-president of the J. C. Penny Company and founder of the Golden Rule Stores, is an honored guest of his old home town, Humansville, Mo., where a modern hospital was recently dedicated. The hospital was the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Dimmitt as a memorial to their son and it cost $100,000.

In addition to the hospital and its equipment, which is of the most modern character, their former townsman has given to Humansville a plot of ground for a park. This forms the setting for the hospital and a new Community Building, recently completed by popular subscription.

Mr. and Mrs. Dimmitt are residents of Hollywood. They came here seven years ago and their home is at 7254 Hollywood Boulevard. They are expected to return about January 1.

"Verily I say unto ye, whatsoever ye shall bind on earth, shall be bound in heaven; and whatsoever ye shall loose on earth, shall be loosed in heaven." Matthew xviii:18.

THE SKY GLIDERS

A San Diego aviation enthusiast is doing things with gliders. The other day he kept one aloft for an hour and a half. This is quite a mark for aircraft of this type. The glider is going to be the great plaything for Young America. It will be a sort of kindergarten for pilots.

MAKE IT FLEXIBLE

President Hoover still wants his tariff flexible. If anything comes up to make a change in certain schedules important it generally takes Congress about eleven years to get around to it. Really a tariff should be elastic enough to stretch over an emergency. Leaving it to Congress is like filing it away in a plaster cast. Commerce and industry need a little pliability in their world contacts.

DIPLOMATIC STUFF

If Ambassador Morrow becomes Senator from New Jersey it is reported that Reuben Clark, now Undersecretary of State, will be given the Mexico appointment. This would be pleasant all 'round so far as the administration is concerned. Ambassador Morrow has done wonders in ironing out all friction and it was felt that he neither expected nor contemplated remaining for any great length of time. He would fit splendidly into the Jersey Senatorship. Mr. Clark is one of the country's ablest performers in the diplomatic arena and knows his Mexico like a primer. He could carry on in finished manner.

THE WOMAN PAYS

A court has decided that if a man gives the wife a regular monthly allowance and tells her not to incur any debts he is not responsible for bills for her raiment. This is not in tune with former practice, but will be welcomed by divers and sundry benedicts. It was Congressman Huddleston who set the pace. He gave his wife $75 a month for her expenses and then refused to pay a bill for a fur coat on the side. The court says he doesn't have to. Of course some folks will say he is stingy, as $75 a month is not so much of an allowance. But there it is, and also there is the ruling of the court, which is still open to contemplation.

OUR ANNUAL DOG SHOW

Los Angeles, among its other conspicuous features, is a city of dog fanciers—and what is more essential—of dog lovers. Man's favorite four-footed companion, whose other name is loyalty, has a lasting place in the affections of a community where faith and loyalty are so highly prized.

Next Saturday and Sunday the dog will have his day—or rather his two days—in the limelight where once a year he occupies the center of the stage. In the Ambassador Auditorium on the 7th and 8th inst. the Los Angeles Kennel Club will hold its thirteenth annual dog show with the certainty that the event will arouse the interest of all owners and friends of the canine race. This, by the way, is the largest dog show west of New York City.

From the big German police to the tiny papillion or butterfly dog all breeds and types of the dog family will be on parade. One of the big aims of the show is to instill consideration for dogs in the minds of the people. Trainers will exemplify how dogs are trained to do tricks and perform duties because they like to do so and how such work can be made a pleasure for both the dog and his master.

There is no need to write a panegyric on the manifold fine qualities of man's best friend to induce Los Angeles dog lovers to pay their respects to the aristocrats of their kind who will be assembled next Saturday at the Ambassador Auditorium. And no matter how many may be the fine points recorded among these pedigreed representatives of their kind, the owner of the obscurest and most unnamable mongrel will come away with the firm conviction that his own pup has no equal among these winners of blue ribbons and trophies and cash prizes. Such a show only makes a man more attached to the little fellow at home.

AN ASTOUNDING DECISION

The decision of the City Planning Commission recommending the granting of a permit to Alphonso Bell and associates to conduct a quarry and slurry-mill in one of Southern California's finest residence districts is an astounding one. If by any chance it should be confirmed by the City Council, it will serve notice on all prospective and present property owners that the city's zoning restrictions are meaningless, that the city's pledge of protection to home buyers is absolutely worthless and that the heaviest type of industries may be established anywhere in the city at the whim of three officials. The City Planning Commission may think this is an exceptional case, but it will find it has established a precedent which will plague it and the city for years to come. Its effect on the real estate market may well be disastrous.

The landscaping and other features which the commission seeks to require as conditions to the operation of the plant merely serve to emphasize the objections to it. If the slurry-mill and quarry were legitimate and appropriate to the vicinity in which the commission consents that they be placed, there would be no need for disguising them or masking them with trees. If blasting is not calculated to make any neighborhood less desirable, there would be no need to restrict it in time or amount. If such a plant is not a dust-creator there is no occasion for insisting on "the most effective dust-collecting machinery and devices possible to be obtained"—which experience proves will not be effective. If heavy trucking was not felt to be undesirable over the fine boulevards of the region there would be no reason for limiting it to moving in machinery and construction materials. Point by point the commission's findings prove that this proposed plant has no place in a residence district.

The Planning Commission by its ruling declares in effect that commercial interest is paramount to anything else, and that the only test of how a man may use his property is the probability of profit. The fundamentals of zoning theory are uprooted and all protection stripped from property owners anywhere when such a vicious principle finds acceptance. In this particular case the commission finds that a man may repudiate his own implied pledges, since Bell himself imposed stringent restrictions on every foot of ground he sold in that area, and was certainly morally bound to observe them himself.

The commission shied away from discussion of the pipe-line scheme which is one of the most dubious features of the plant, both from the standpoint of its practicability and the probably objectionable results of its operation. There is in the conditions imposed by the commission no requirement for the protection of beaches or the waters of Santa Monica Bay from pollution by limestone dust, nothing said about the enormous waste of water that would ensue. The city faces a water shortage and has none to spare for flushing slurry through an eight-inch pipe extending half a mile to sea—it is obvious an enormous volume would be required under pressure, with continuous flow to prevent the pipe from clogging. The Bell company talks of developing its own water in the Santa Monica hills and of using sea water. But if there is water in these hills the city should take it over to supplement its supplies, and to talk of using sea water is to talk nonsense. If it did not ruin the slurry for cement-making purposes it would most certainly eat the pipe line, which might possibly be protected on the outside from corrosion, but could not be from the inside. The leaking of slurry into the pleasure waters of the bay, especially in case of a breakdown, could not be prevented.

For these and a host of other reasons the City Council should refuse its sanction to this scheme, grant the protection to homes and to beaches that the city has promised and let cement-making be conducted where it belongs, in distant industrial areas.

CAMP KEARNY FAVORED

In recommending to Congress the construction of a dirigible base at the Camp Kearny site, San Diego, Secretary of the Navy Adams has with little doubt been guided by the opinions of the Navy General Board, which has not yet been made public, founded on strategic conditions. If a guess may be made as to what conditions the Navy General Board had in mind, it is the superior suitability of Camp Kearny as a base from which to defend the Panama Canal and its location on the best transcontinental and trans-Pacific air routes, as well as its nearness to the airplane base which makes it readily defensible.

Other factors in the Secretary's decision probably were the climatic data furnished by Dr. Ford A. Carpenter which gives Camp Kearny a superior rating in every meteorological particular of importance to lighter-than-air craft. Camp Kearny is ahead of Sunnyvale in having five inches less average rainfall, in having twenty fewer rainy days a year, in having a week less dense fog a year, in having very much less light fog, in a lower average maximum temperature, a higher average minimum temperature, an average temperature variation of only 14 deg., as compared with 24 for Sunnyvale, and in a slightly lower average wind velocity.

The Carpenter report, giving accurate and dependable weather data based on all the records there are, was not available in time for consideration by the special investigating committee which, by a divided vote, recommended the Sunnyvale site.

The question is now up to Congress. So far as California Congressional delegation is concerned the northern part of the State has an illegitimate advantage through the rotten-borough Congressional districts resulting from the failure of reapportionment. But this should not be sufficient to overcome the vote of the Congressmen who will decide the question on its merits. Those merits favor San Diego, and if Southern California presents its case vigorously before Congress there should be little doubt of the outcome.

MORE PLIANCY

Possibly a massage would have done Congress more good than a message. It needs limbering up.

The LEE SIDE O' L.A.

By Lee Shippey

A GOOD deal got into the papers, a few months ago about the problem created by Filipino dance halls where white taxi-dancers danced with the Filipino boys. Yesterday we learned that a definite campaign is on to provide the Filipinos with other amusement. We learned that from Mrs. Felix Abcede, manager of a Filipino restaurant at 128½ Weller street. Above the restaurant is a clubroom for Filipinos, where amusement for hundreds of them is provided, and in the same building is another club for Filipinos operated by the Catholic Welfare Board. Between them, the two organizations are keeping many Filipino boys out of the dance halls, though as yet they have not succeeded in getting many of them to the point of saving money.

Six Thousand Men, Thirty-five Girls

"There are only about thirty-five Filipino girls here, and all of them are married," Mrs. Abcede said. "And they say there are about 6000 young men in this vicinity. That naturally creates a problem, and you cannot blame the Filipinos for all of it. In the Philippines, American books are taught in the schools and every Filipino schoolboy learns more about America than about his native land. He also learns to speak English and he learns to think of America as the land of romance and achievement. He can get very good education at home, but he prefers to come here if he can. If he can't, he will go as far as Hawaii first, then come on here as soon as he can. So many Filipino boys are in America now that there are not enough of them to do the agricultural and other manual work of the islands, and the Philippine Legislature is more eager to restrict emigration of Filipino laborers than the United States is to restrict immigration.

Naturally Dressy

"In the Philippines, life is comparatively easy and indolent. There, as here, the young Filipino is very dressy. You would be surprised to learn how many Filipino boys here pay as much as $100 for a suit of clothes and have silk shirts made to order. That is partly because they are small men and ready-made shirts do not fit them. But in the Philippines they are among relatives and friends, and whether they have money or not they always have a roof and something to eat. Here they soon learn that they must work to live. But they cannot learn that they must save for the future.

Girls Stay Home

"The ambitious or adventurous Filipino boys come to America, except those who study for teaching and such work at home, but the girls are not allowed so much liberty. Their parents rarely will permit them to leave home. The result is that there are too many girls over there, just as there are too few here. The American soldiers and others over there like to dance with them, just as our Filipino boys dance with American girls here. But there are just as few marriages resulting from that intercourse there as here. The problem, you see, is not all on this side.

"I was allowed to come to America because I was a double orphan and wished to study to be a doctor. I attended the University of Washington, where my husband was a student. But we married there and I decided to take up domestic science instead of medicine. Mr. Abcede and I took up this work because we wanted to make a home for our boys."

Filipinos Have Own Language

The tables, chairs and lunch counter in the restaurant are very low, as most of the Filipinos are very short legged. The menus are printed in an odd mixture of English and Filipino (not Spanish.) Mrs. Abcede explained that at present more Filipinos speak English than Spanish, but that most of them speak Filipino also. The menu included pansit, sarciadong manoks, trotillang hipon, adobong baboy, asadang baboy, all names which no Spaniard or Mexican could be expected to translate. They were the Filipino names for noodles, Filipino style; spring chicken with sauce, shrimp omelet, pork with seasoned sauce and pork chops, Filipino style. Rice was served instead of bread or tortillas, the latter being little known in the Philippines.

Four hundred years of Spanish rule never wiped out the Filipino language. Nowhere in Mexico today could you find a menu printed in Aztec or any native language except Spanish. How the Filipinos must have clung to their own speech and traditions!

No Old Maids—Here

The girl who waited on us was a very pretty little thing who appeared to be about 16. "Is she married, too?" we asked. "Of course," said Mrs. Abcede. "Every Filipino girl here marries just as quickly as her guardians will let her. All our boys would marry if they could. There simply are not girls enough—not one girl to 100 men."

ALL-YEAR CLUB RECORD

In the year 1921 a group of forward-looking Los Angeles business men got together and organized a movement to advertise the advantages and attractions offered to health, pleasure and vacation seekers by the summer months of California. They saw an annual influx of winter tourists and no corresponding summer travel to the Pacific Coast. They recognized that this neglect to take advantage of our exhilarating summer season was due to the fact that its charm was practically unknown outside our State borders. They resolved to supply the needed information. Thus was born the All-Year Club.

What they have effected since they started their campaign of education is a veritable drama of American business. Previous to their taking a lead in this national and world-wide advertising there seemed to be a general conviction that if Southern California's winters were so mild, the summers must be unbearable. That misapprehension no longer exists.

One simple comparison drives home the results obtained by the All-Year Club through spreading abroad the gospel of the California summer. This year as many summer visitors came here as there were permanent residents in the city of Los Angeles in 1920, the year before the All-Year Club started its tourist crusade. Eight summers ago Southern California had a negligible number of summer visitors. In 1929 570,085 persons by motor, railroad, steamship, stage and air lines came summering to Southern California mountains, beaches and pleasure resorts. This was an increase of 19.3 per cent over the previous year.

The figures are from the Department of Agriculture, two bureaus of our State government and the Motor Vehicle Division, who have kept accurate count at th. State borders. Of the total who came here by motor, 176,599 arrived directly in Southern California via Yuma, Blythe and Daggett, 93,076 came through the central-eastern border stations and 137,682 by the Oregon border.

Such an addition to our summer population has naturally had an immense influence on the business of our hotels and summer resorts and all affiliated with these enterprises. Registration of guests this summer in an analysis of sixty-seven hotels shows an increase of 12.8 per cent over the figures of last year. Two leading hotels report that August supplanted March as their peak month of the year. Yet only eight years ago most of our resort hotels were closed in summer.

In addition, the winter tourist season has been extended from two to three months until now Southern California can count a million tourists annually. These remarkable results were obtained by a businesslike organization which knew its California and was determined that the rest of the world should know it equally well.

ENFORCEMENT TALK

Anyhow, it sounds more sensible to have the matter of law enforcement in the Attorney-General's office instead of the Treasury Department. This would apply to prohibition or anything else. Dividing the responsibility is also apt to be poor policy. President Hoover is anxious to put the question up to the Department of Justice, which is where it belongs. Then see what happens. But the chief is also right when he says that good citizens must both practice and preach prohibition before complete enforcement comes.

THE BIG BILL

They say that Henry Ford's latest wage boost is likely to cost him $20,000,000 a year. That's what he gets for employing a lot of men. If he could get along with one helper he could save a lot of dough.

ONE-WAY ROADS

By James J. Montague

I've passed full many a shady nook
Beside the winding way
And many a singing, silver brook
With sailing flecks of spray;
And many a tidy tree-clad isle
Was swiftly glimpsed and gone,
As mile succeeded sunlit mile,
But I have hurried on.

I've heard a snatch of robin's song,
The murmuring of bees—
I've caught the chorus of a throng
Of catbirds in the trees.
Yet in my eagerness to view
Some distant glen or glade
I've never paused to listen to
The music that they made.

Through glowing woods of gold and red,
When morning skies were bright,
Along October roads I've sped
Nor gazed to left or right.
I've seen the filtered sunshine gleam,
Through clouds that hovered high,
On painted peak and swirling stream
Yet still I've hastened by.

I've always hoped, with easier pace
And with a calmer mind,
That I might fare forth to retrace
The roads I've left behind.
But in my heart full well I know,
However much we yearn
For that lost land of long ago,
We never shall return.

Sprinkling Hours . . . Maybe

BEVERLY HILLS, Nov. 30.—[To the Editor of The Times:] We are again reminded to be careful in the use of water. It has always seemed strange to the writer that no restriction whatever is put upon the use of water on lawns. In Chicago and other cities lawn sprinkling is not allowed after 8 a.m. and before 5 p.m. in spite of their greater water supply, shorter season and the frequent occurrence of rain in the summer. The gardeners here very often turn the sprinkling system on in the blazing sun and go off to take care of another lawn, and frequently the sprinkling system is pouring water onto the pavement. A great deal of water is also wasted in cleaning off cement driveways with the hose instead of a broom. Sprinkling hours could also be established for golf courses to eliminate evaporation and secure the best results from the use of the water. Housewives do not, as a rule, waste water, and it seems to the writer that the effort to conserve our water supply should be made in other directions.

Too Prodigal With Water

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I was much interested in your account of the necessity of saving water for Los Angeles. It has been a matter of much surprise that the people of your city are so prodigal with water. Even in my native city of Springfield, where it rains on an average of every four days, we never waste water as you do here. The Japanese gardeners let water run all over the streets, the lawns are doused with ten times more water than they need. Even outlying storekeepers drench their sidewalks in order to save sweeping! Common sense should teach people of Southern California to conserve water, use enough, but not too much.

Goes Stokes One Better

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Regarding the article of Charles E. Stokes wherein he would employ the Army to patrol the Canadian border I think his point is well taken, only instead of an army of 137,000 we should raise the standing army to 5,000,000 men so we could be sure of adequate numbers to supply our needs. Los Angeles should have at least 137,000 for this purpose, then our police force would not have to be chasing bootleggers, but could leave it to the Army. They should be fully equipped for any emergency and should have tanks, machine guns, bombing planes, also poison gas at every prominent intersection and should be able to make a house-to-house search at least once every week and in this way deal a knockout blow to demon rum, and I sincerely hope the War Department will act on Mr. Stokes's suggestion and get to work at once.

The Will to Health

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Some hidden link in the relationship between mind and body holds the secret of these strange cures which we call miraculous, because they seem due to no human agency. No doubt the state of one's mind is an important factor.

Since to believe you are going to get well aids recovery, to know that you are going to get well would insure recovery—or would it? I am inclined to think so, and this no matter what the nature or stage of your illness.

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

A free class, offering individual instruction in various branches of mathematics, is held at the Lincoln Evening High School, 3625 North Broadway, on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 9.

At present the members of the class are studying vocational mathematics, including arithmetic with a little algebra for aviators; geometry for art students and civil engineers; trigonometry for civil engineers; algebra for civil engineers, mechanical draftsmen and college and high school students desiring credit, and railroad arithmetic for machinists and others employed in railroad shops. The instructor is Mr. Orie C. Hester, for several years electrical engineer in the Bureau of Power and Light, in Los Angeles and also in Pasadena.

FALL'S VISIT TO WILSON

[This article, written by Gov. Patterson for the Memphis Commercial-Appeal, is reproduced in this column in response to a letter to The Times from Mrs. Emma Morgan Fall, wife of A. B. Fall, as she says "in the same spirit and for the same purpose that inspired Gov. Patterson to write it—trying to correct a great wrong done one he has never met."]

When a man is in trouble is the time he needs friends and if he does not have them then the next best thing is to be treated with a spirit of fairness, that will at least be careful not to make the burden he is carrying harder to bear. To rob the old and defenseless of their money is such an act of human depravity as to be universally detested by the right minded, so it is to beat a helpless child or take an advantage of the lame and blind.

But we have never yet succeeded in civilizing cruelty out of the human race. We are cruel more often probably from inattention and the failure to recognize the rights of others than from conscious malevolence. Boys who tie tin cans to the tails of vagrant dogs and then pursue them as they run down the street, adding to the agony of their fright, are apt when they become men to treat some humans with the same injustice.

Let a man who has occupied a position of prominence stumble and fall, and there will always be tongues set to wagging either to magnify his bad conduct, or to find something else that they can talk about to his further discredit. I believe that Albert B. Fall has been a victim to this sort of inhumanity, and I say this without regard to the jury's verdict, or his actual guilt or innocence of the charge of accepting a bribe, though I have an opinion on this subject which may not entirely accord with that of the general public.

I allude now to the charge so often made and repeated when Fall, then a member of the United States Senate, was one of a committee of two to call on President Wilson, who was ill, to consult him about Mexican affairs, that he pulled back the covers from off the sick man in order to satisfy himself of the President's condition.

The story went that Dr. Ruffin, the personal physician of the President, who was said to be present at the time, protested, and complained that Fall's conduct might even prove fatal to his patient.

Like hundreds and perhaps many thousands of other people, I believed this from seeing it so often referred to in the newspapers, and hearing it so often repeated without any public contradiction so far as I have ever known. After Fall's recent conviction, I read several articles approving it, and giving among other reasons why no mercy should be shown him. This was said also on the stricken Wilson.

This was said also on the floor of the Senate a few days ago and I have also mentioned the alleged incident as a fact which counted heavily against Fall in the estimation of the public. It now appears that there was no foundation for the charge.

Looking over the Congressional Record of November 2, which was after the charge was repeated on the floor of the Senate. I find that Senator Cutting of New Mexico brought up the matter for correction and laid the facts as he had gathered them before that body.

First, a letter from Dr. Ruffin was produced, which stated that he was not at the White House on the occasion of Fall's visit to President Wilson; then Admiral Grayson made a statement that he was present and that no such incident occurred; next a telegram was submitted sent by Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, who is a Democrat well known in Memphis and throughout the country as a man of unimpeachable character, who was the other member of the committee, who stated there was no truth whatever in the report, and that the conduct of Fall at the bedside of the President was exemplary, narrating that Fall and Mr. Wilson shook hands when the President motioned him to be seated by his bed and that Wilson and Fall then carried on a "brilliant dialogue punctured by jokes and stories." Mr. Hitchcock said in addition, that Fall had before his visit expressed an opinion that Wilson was physically and mentally incompetent, but came away from the interview completely disarmed. Fall himself was quoted as having said at the time that he was entirely satisfied that the President, while a sick man, was mentally alert, and able to cope with any question with which he might have to deal.

In his telegram to Senator Cutting, Senator Hitchcock expresses his approval of the effort, which he says is one "to correct history."

I have gone with some detail into this matter, for I think that many others will be as pleased as I was, to discover that the report, which has done Senator Fall such a gross injustice, has been proven untrue by the living witnesses who were present and whose testimony is entitled to be received without question.

Fall has quite enough to bear without this added stigma, which, as it now appears, he does not deserve.

This falsehood, though, has done a deadly work, and no correction now can undo it.

When lies start their wings are extended, and their flight is rapid, but when they return to be buried in the grave of oblivion, their pinions are clipped and their progress is slow.

It was ever thus.

"Enjoy the gifts the gods provide"—there's wisdom in the old decree; be happy, let your troubles alide, and romp and gambol on the lea. We are prone to look around for some excuse to weep and sigh, to bring the briny to the eye. On a perfect day, today, the skies are cloudless overhead, all nature seems so blithe and gay there is no cause for fear or dread. We should exult, we should be glad, enjoying every golden hour; yet people meet us with faces sad and long, with tidings grim and sour. "We're in a rain," they sadly cry, "a worse famine looms ahead; the crops and ponds are going dry throughout the whole watershed. Go down, go watch the river now, go watch its dusty brink; it is so low a bob-tailed cow in vain may try to find a drink. And there is no sign of rain, the dry the once wet river bed, and so we murmur and complain, and rend our beards and wring our hands." "What does all your rending do?" we ask, when they have made their whine; "the skies won't show their shining blue because you murmur and repine. Your profits it to wring your brow and all Dame Nature's gifts deride? Far better take the cheerful hands who have deed a lovely day, that can dispel all grief and care; you would have the hose gray, with water squirting everywhere. You'll like to see other flood so some old cow can drink her fill; you'd rather wading in the mud along street and up the hill. POLICE-CRUELTY CHARGE DENIED

Jail Complaint of Beating Figure-baled

Intervention Follows Arrest at Street Meeting

Charges made before the Police Commission recently by Leo Gallagher, attorney for the Communist Party, the Penal Reform League and the Friends of Soviet Russia, that Capt. Hynes, Russian "Red" who is fighting deportation by immigration authorities, was beaten by police officers at the Boyle Heights police station on November 9, have been denied by the commission following a report by Deputy Chief Davis and then by a thorough investigation by evidence of brutality could be found.

Gallagher and other Communists were arrested for holding a street meeting without a permit and Gallagher brought the former before the commission and had them examine his "injuries." Two inspectors declared some slight bruises on the man, which might have been caused in a scuffle when he was arrested, but did not find one shred of evidence to substantiate the charges of Mr. Gallagher." Heckel stated in his report. "Capt. L. L. Oakley, commander of the Boyle Heights district, was present during the entire procedure of booking Specter and is positive that Specter received no injury or ill treatment at any station.

"Inasmuch as the man admits he is a Communist and stated that he had received a permit from the Commissioner's office, which we have to be untrue, and further, inasmuch as he was found guilty in court and fined $50 and ordered sent to jail for ten days, at the time this one Martin Shapiro was fined $25 for disturbing the peace, and Leo Maybelle was fined $250 for violating the handbills ordinance, a number of other handbills, and some six or eight others were fined $5 for loitering on the sidewalk, there is no reason for the complainants allegations unless made with the thought of causing trouble to the officers."

WHISKERS FACING DOWNFALL

Jail Presented With Barber Chair

Hair-Raising Act to Stop

Capt. John Shand, jailer, and Maj. Robert McClelland of Salvation Army watch jail barber operate on first customer in new chair.

SALVATION Army folk say a man may be down, but never out. It is rumored that this slogan is to be changed to "A man may be in, but he need not have down on his chin." The Salvation Army yesterday presented the City Jail a barber chair.

Capt. Shand, the genial city jailer, last night when he received the chair, said: "We have people of every business and profession, and we can always count on a barber or so who doesn't mind work. When a fellow needs shaving, or when he needs a haircut a prisoner barber is always happy to do the job. There isn't any money in it for him, but when he's doing from five days to a year stretch he wants something to occupy his time."

The City Jail has been without a barber chair now for two years, so that the gift of the Salvation Army was a solution of a problem. There are always around 240 men in the jail, and that means plenty of shaves. Razors, quite naturally, are tabooed in the cells.

A crowd of prisoners beamed on the barber chair expectantly, rubbing several days' growth of beard. Pretty soon the well-known call of "Next" will be heard in the prison.

Retired Veteran Jeweler Again Enters Business

George E. Feagans, prominent Los Angeles jeweler, who two years ago retired from business, yesterday announced his association with M. Weinstein in a diamond and jewelry brokerage partnership with offices in the Roosevelt Building.

Feagans came to Los Angeles from Joliet, Ill., twenty-seven years ago, and founded the concern of Brock & Feagans at Fourth street and Broadway. With the dissolution, several years later, of that partnership he established himself in business alone in the Alexandria Hotel Building. Later he moved to Seventh and Olive streets. He retired to inactivity in 1927.

"When a man has devoted forty years of his life to one calling," Feagans said yesterday in announcing his return to trade, "he can't be content with inactive retirement."

Every Dr. Kahler shoe is specially constructed to give instant relief to metatarsal trouble

☐ More than comfort has been built into Dr. Kahler shoes. The spirit of the modern mode is embodied in every line of these paragonless shoes. The finest of materials and the best of workmanship are employed.

☐ The positive time-proven fact, based on well-established foot principles, that Dr. Kahler shoes stand at the top of quality footwear, is built on these five famous features.

1. The Dr. Kahler "Patented Instep Support" which is sewn into the shoe and snugly and comfortably supports the arch.
2. The Dr. Kahler "Straight-Line Last" is another feature that permits the foot to flex and play—scientific comfort.
3. The Dr. Kahler "Combination Last" is two widths narrower at the heel than across the ball. RESULT: Ample toe room with snug-fitting heel.
4. The Dr. Kahler "Secret Spring" which, concealed in the shank, gives full and free muscle movement and at the same time gently but firmly supports weakened arches.
5. The Dr. Kahler "Cupped Heel Seat," which holds the heel in place, thus preventing the foot from slipping and sliding with each step; the cause of callouses and corns.

CORNERO ON HIS WAY TO SERVE TERM

Rum-Runner One of Ten Prisoners Starting North for Federal Institutions

Tony Cornero, once reputed to be a leading rum-runner along the Southern California coast, yesterday started to "do his bit." He and nine other Federal prisoners, in custody of Deputy United States marshals, left in a special car for McNeil Island Federal prison and other prisons.

Cornero pleaded guilty to landing liquor on the California shores. He was sentenced to two years in a Federal prison. He stated that he wants to rehabilitate himself and return to Los Angeles, where he wishes to live.

Another prisoner in the list was George Winniman, itinerant evangelist, who was sentenced to serve a two-year sentence for violation of the Dyer Act. Clifford Thiele, a youth, will be taken to a reformatory at Monroe, Wash., to serve fifteen months for violation of the Dyer Act in transporting a stolen automobile from one State to another. Others taken to prisons in the north are Bert C. Bennett, Elsie Morley, Lloyd O'Gara, Fount H. Brown, Frederick Powell and two Chinese.

CONSERVING OF WATERS PROPOSED

Survey of Underground Resources in Los Angeles Basin Launched

A comprehensive program for a study of the ground water resources of the Los Angeles basin was launched yesterday by the board of directors of the Los Angeles County Conservation Association, at a special meeting held at the Chamber of Commerce. This study will be started immediately with the co-operation of various authoritative agencies and interested parties, according to W. S. Rosecrans, president of the conservation group.

Mr. Rosecrans declared that the objective will be to co-ordinate all existing data on the underground water resources of this area, with the idea of advancing ways and means of checking the constant overdraft on existing supplies, and also to devise methods of replenishing the source with such waters as are now passed into the sea.

"The project we are to undertake affects most of the highly developed sections of the county, and indirectly, the business stability and prosperity of the entire section," Mr. Rosecrans stated.

DAVIS FOE PAYS FINE; AVOIDS JAIL

Discharged Policeman Given Alternative After Admitting Drunk Charge

Charles (Chole) Johnson, former police officers who pleaded guilty on Tuesday to a charge of being drunk, yesterday was given the option of paying a $20 fine or of spending ten days in jail by Municipal Judge Lahey. The fine was paid.

Johnson, one of the discharged police officers whose names recently were linked with that of J. A. Quinn in the latter's charges of inefficiency against Police Chief Davis, was arrested by San Pedro police after an asserted rampage, in the course of which, according to Deputy City Prosecutor Jack, he visited police headquarters and defied officers there to arrest him under threat of "getting their jobs." The name of Mayor Porter was coupled with his threats, arresting officers reported.

RULING ON DAM-SITE FUND ASKED

Supervisors Refer Eaton Request for Exploration Appropriation to Mattoon

The Board of Supervisors yesterday received from E. C. Eaton, flood-control district engineer, formal application for an appropriation of $35,000, out of the fund remaining from the San Gabriel dam bond issue, with which to conduct exploration of other possible dam sites in the upper canyon and its branches. The matter was referred to the County Counsel.

Eaton made the request as a result of the State Engineer's recent condemnation of the San Gabriel River forks as a suitable site. In place of the 450-foot dam originally planned, the engineer suggested a smaller flexible type dam at the fault-shattered forks site, smaller dams in canyon branches, check dams and reforestation in the upper reaches of the mountains.

Granting of Eaton's application for part of the money on hand is expected to be allowed by the County Counsel, it having been ruled recently by Flood Control Counsel Dowds that the Board of Supervisors may, by a four-fifths vote, divert bond money voted for one project to other projects in the same watershed, providing the original plan has been found inexpedient.

The district already has spent for work at the forks site $2,700,000 of the $25,000,000 raised by bond issue for the project.

CHEST GIFTS MAKE LEAP

Page Declares Wealthy Citizens Must Give More and Reassigns Squadron Cards

While more large subscriptions were reported than on any single day for the last ten, and while the Community Chest fund, according to headquarters computation, leaped $50,000 during the day and hovered around the $2,400,000 mark, eleven wealthy and prominent men met yesterday at the Biltmore and declared that the success of the Community Chest campaign hinged on the number of subscriptions obtained from now on from the city's wealthiest group of citizens.

James R. Page, executive vice-president of the California Bank, and chairman of the flying squadron, which is soliciting the wealthiest group, presided. He stated that the flying squadron is going to increase its returns and reassigned many prospect cards.

MEN AT SESSION

Those who met with him were Malcolm McNaghten, president of the Broadway Department Store; Russell Ballard, president of the Southern California Edison Company; Tom May, president of the May Company; Ben R. Meyer, president of the Union Bank and Trust Company; H. D. Ivey, president of the Citizens' National Trust and Savings Bank; Harvey S. Mudd, capitalist; James R. Martin, president of James R. Martin & Co.; J. F. Jeffries, Standard Oil Company official; Herman Eriss, executive vice-president of the Bank of Italy, and Ralph B. Hardacre, vice-president of the Security-First National Bank.

Mr. Page reported that the flying squadron had obtained $709,600, or $6.77 of its quota from 184 subscribers, an average of close to $4000 apiece. The central division, soliciting the next wealthiest group, has obtained $706,811 from 2976 subscribers. The two divisions combined have totaled $1,384,361. The balance of the fund to date amounts to $954,331, and represents 193,143 subscriptions.

LARGE GIFTS MADE

The largest subscriptions turned in yesterday include $10,000 from Mr. and Mrs. Tom May; $6000 from the Wholesale Metal Dealers' Club, $4000 from Mr. and Mrs. William May Garland, $4000 from the O. T. Johnson Corporation, $3000 from Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Berch, $1500 from J. J. Doyle, $1500 from John B. Miller, $1000 from the Central Manufacturing District, Inc., and $1000 from Mr. and Mrs. Will Rogers.

There will be a meeting of all divisions of the campaign next Tuesday at the Biltmore. About 75 per cent of the quota of $3,200,000 has been obtained, and it is believed that 80 per cent will have been subscribed by the Wednesday meeting.

BIFFLE'S TRIAL NEARING CLOSE

Fate of Pantages Witness in Jury's Hands Today

Wife Defends Book Agent in Perjury Case

Tells of Seeing Dunaev and Miss Pringle Together

The fate of Garland Biffle, Alhambra law-book salesman charged with perjury as a result of his testimony at the trial of Alexander Pantages, is scheduled to be placed in the hands of the jury today in Superior Judge Wood's court.

Testimony in the case was concluded yesterday and arguments to the jury got under way with Dep. Dist.-Atty. Frampton making the opening plea for the State. Frampton will be followed this morning by Defense Attorneys William T. Kendrick, Sr., and William T. Kendrick, Jr., and Dep. Dist.-Atty. Van Cott will close for the prosecution. Judge Wood said yesterday he hopes to be able to give the case to the jury by noon today.

Biffle is asserted to have testified falsely at the Pantages trial that he saw Eunice Pringle and Nicholas Dunaev, playwright, together in the lobby of the Pantages Building the afternoon of August 9, last, the day of Pantages's asserted attack on Miss Pringle. The State contends Dunaev was not in the building at the time and that Miss Pringle entered the lobby alone.

Biffle and his wife, Floy Biffle, were the only witnesses called by the defense. Biffle again repeated the testimony he gave at the Pantages trial: That he was positive he saw Miss Pringle and Dunaev enter the Pantages Building together, overheard a conversation between them and saw them go up the stairs leading to the second floor of the building.

He again quoted Miss Pringle as saying to Dunaev that "Pantages will be sorry if he doesn't place my act this time," and he testified Dunaev told Miss Pringle not to "get cold feet."

Both Miss Pringle and Dunaev testified for the prosecution that they parted at Seventh and Hill streets on the afternoon of the asserted attack. Miss Pringle said she entered the lobby of the building alone and that she did not see any other person in the lobby at the time. Dunaev testified he drove his car to Second and Hill streets after leaving Miss Pringle and spent most of the afternoon in the office of Theodore Gottsdanker, an attorney and friend of Dunaev.

Biffle's version of what occurred in the theater-building lobby was corroborated by Mrs. Biffle, although the latter said she did not understand the conversation between the man and woman she identified as Dunaev and Miss Pringle. Both she and her husband said they identified the man and woman they saw in the lobby from photographs published in newspapers the day after Pantages's asserted attack on Miss Pringle.

Mrs. Biffle, attired in black, sobbed softly as she told the jury her story. Over prosecution objections she testified her personal attorney and attorneys for Pantages told her she might be arrested if she testified in defense of Pantages. Judge Wood, however, ruled the testimony out of the record.

An attempt of the prosecution to ascertain if Biffle's attorneys' fees in the present case are being paid by Pantages was blocked successfully by the defense. Judge Wood ruled it is immaterial who might be paying Biffle's lawyers.

Biffle admitted he had not reported what he knew of the case to the District Attorney's office, and said he did not testify at Pantages's preliminary because "no one asked me to." Biffle said it was some time later that he went to the office of W. J. Ford, of counsel for Pantages, and recounted what he said he saw in the Pantages Building lobby. Biffle said he went to Ford's office at the insistence of his wife.

Talking Picture Made With Two Distinct Casts

Carrying master prints of what is said to be the first talking picture made in two languages, O. E. Goebel, president of Sono-Art Productions, left here yesterday for New York. He was accompanied by Eddie Dowling, star of the English version of "Blaze o' Glory," which also has been filmed with a Spanish speaking cast. They will be met by George W. Weeks, head of Sono-Art's distributing organization.

O. E. GOEBEL

Goebel predicted that all large productions soon will be made in several languages, with native casts making each lingual version. He reported that their making of a Spanish version of an American picture has aroused tremendous interest in Latin-American countries. He criticised the practice of doubling foreign languages on American sound film, asserting that it is impossible to synchronize foreign speech to the movement of lips speaking English.

"We believe we have found the solution to Hollywood's export problem," he said.

MESA HOUSE WILL BE SUBJECT OF LECTURE

Mesa House, explored by a recent expedition from the Southwest Museum, will be discussed publicly for the first time next Sunday by Irwin Hayden, a member of the research staff. Mesa House was built in the Moapa Valley, Nev., about 800 A. D. by Pueblo Indians of a high stage of culture. The museum spent three months exploring the site and its environs. The lecture is one of a series given by the museum, opposite Sycamore Grove Park, on Sundays at 3 p.m.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

THE PLOT THICKENS

Ever since the world began,
Scamps have loved to plot and plan.
—Old Mother Nature.

Reddy Fox and Mrs. Reddy did just as they had planned. They found a place where they could sleep during the day and not be likely to be disturbed. And it wasn't so far from the farm where the turkeys were but that they could keep an eye on what was going on when they were awake.

"We want to know everything we can about the people at that farm and about what the turkeys do during the day," explained Reddy.

So they remained hidden behind the barn only until daylight. The turkeys did not come down out of the tree until after the farmer had come out of his house. When he came out a dog came out with him and it was a hound, just as Reddy had said.

"It is time for us to be going," whispered Reddy to Mrs. Reddy, and they stole away swiftly, keeping the barn between them and the house until they reached the woods.

"Now we're all right," said Reddy. "If that dog doesn't find our trail."

The dog didn't and so there was nothing to interfere with their plans. They remained hidden at the edge of the woods until they saw the turkeys come down from out of the tree. Then the turkeys went up to the farmyard, where they were fed. After this they just wandered around for a while. So Reddy and Mrs. Reddy went back to a snug hiding-place to sleep awhile. You see, they had been up all night. After they had had a good nap they crept to another stone wall, along which bushes grew thickly. From behind this wall they could watch all that went on around that farm.

The turkeys were scattered and wandering around in the Old Orchard. Once it looked as if they were going over right near where Reddy and Mrs. Reddy were hiding. It was a very exciting moment. But the big birds didn't come quite near enough and the foxes were too clever to run the risk of frightening them and giving the alarm. The dog was in the house most of the time, much to the disappointment of Reddy and Mrs. Reddy.

"We can't do anything until we get that dog out of the way," said Reddy. "If we should catch one of those turkeys and that dog should find our tracks, that turkey wouldn't do us any good. We must be patient and not spoil everything by doing the wrong thing."

"A turkey is worth a lot of patience," said Mrs. Reddy. "I can be just as patient as you can."

It was late afternoon before their chance came. Then the turkeys began to move up toward the Old Orchard. At the same time the dog trotted over to the barn and began to nose around.

"Now is my chance," said Mrs. Reddy. "I'll lead that dog away and you get one of those turkeys before they get up in that tree."

Mrs. Reddy slipped away and presently Reddy saw her running around the corner of the barn. It looked as if everything was going to work just as they had hoped it would work. It looked as if their plot was going to succeed.

BERTHA AND TOMMY HAVE WISE MOTHERS

Mothers demand of me irritably, "It's all right to say that one should do her duty to the child, but what about the mother? Has she no rights? Must she be a slave to her child? Perhaps the experiences of these two mothers will help answer that question.

Bertha was 6 years of age, but unusually intelligent for her years. Her nimble fingers worked out the most intricate block patterns, and she sewed doll "rags" for dolls so tiny that they slip from the clumsy hands of an adult. But at the table she demanded imperiously to be fed, and she sat on the bed in the dumps until some one put on her clothes.

One day her mother said to me, "I know you have never thought of it, Bertha, but do you realize that the time I spend feeding you, and dressing you, is time you are taking away from me? Mother likes to read. There are many things I enjoy doing which I can't do because you are taking this time from me."

Bertha looked hurt. "But," said mother, "now that you have realized it I know you won't take my time away from me. Suppose this morning that you play you are a mama dressing her little girl and feeding her, and you be both the mama and the little girl. See if that isn't going to be fun to play." So Bertha acted pettish, as a contrary little girl might, and then being mama she rolled her stockings up over her own reluctant legs and enjoyed herself thoroughly. It worked.

GIVE THE CHILD YOUR POINT OF VIEW

Tommy had so long enjoyed the combined attentions of a grandmother, aunt and mother that when his parents moved into their own home he was tyrannically demanding the sole attention of his mother all day long. He whined, he hung on her dress, he refused to stay outdoors alone.

She took him on her knee. "Who gets Tommy's dinner for him?" "Mother!" said Tommy. "Who cleans up Tommy's house so he can play?" All of this seemed far more personal than just "busy" and Tommy admitted that mother was working most of the time doing things for Tommy.

"Now Tommy is going to help mother," she said brightly. "He is going outdoors and take his sunbath all by himself."

Every few minutes Tommy ran to the door and peered in and his mother waved and reminded him that he was working for her. In a short time she brought him in, aware that small boys can't be kept too long on a job just at first. Each day she lengthened the time, thinking up new work for Tommy, and soon he was running up and down the walk, banging his drum, hauling his wagon, forgetful that mother wasn't near him.

Of course, mothers have rights. They need recreation away from their children. They need to fulfill their household duties without too much interference from children. Likewise they must know that children need not only good reasons for doing what they do but some delightful way of doing what for the time seems unpleasant. Habits can't be doffed overnight, unless the new habits are so pleasant as to demand repetition.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

The Upper Crust

Do you sometimes have trouble getting the upper crust of your pie from the board to the top of the pie in one piece? Try this. Instead of removing the pastry from the board with a spatula and lifting it on to the pie, hold the crust on the pie board and then turn the whole board upside down over the pie. The upper crust will land on the pie in one fine piece. If your pie board is a big one, roll out the upper crust on your floured bread board.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

BAKED TURNIPS

Three tablespoonfuls of butter, three tablespoonfuls of flour, one cupful of milk, a seasoning of salt and pepper, two cupfuls of turnips, cooked and cut in cubes, one-half a cupful of bread crumbs, and one tablespoonful of chopped parsley; melt the butter, add the flour, and slowly stir in the milk; season with salt and pepper, place the turnip cubes in a buttered baking dish and pour the hot sauce over them. Sprinkle with the bread crumbs and parsley and dot with bits of butter, bake in a moderate oven until the crumbs are brown.

LOBSTER MOUSSE

Two cupfuls of lobster meat, two tablespoonfuls of gelatin, one-fourth of a cupful of cold water, one cupful of whipped cream, one cupful of mayonnaise, soften the gelatin in the cold water, then add to it one-fourth of a cupful of boiling water, put the lobster meat through a meat grinder, add to it salt and pepper, fold in the whipped cream and the gelatin, fold in the mayonnaise, place in a round mold and chill. Serve on lettuce leaves and garnish with mayonnaise.

LEMON JELLY PUDDING

Take one-half a cupful of blanched almonds, one dozen candied cherries, one-half dozen macaroons and one dozen marshmallows, break the macaroons up fine, cut the marshmallows into small pieces, and cut the candied cherries, chop the almonds, and combine, dissolve a package of lemon jelly in two cupfuls of boiling water, and when cold, set the dish in a pan of cracked ice, and whip to the consistency of whipped cream. Then fold in one cupful of whipped cream, add the fruit, which has been mixed with a fourth of a cupful of sugar, turn the mixture into an oblong mold. Serve cut in slices.

BAKED FINNAN HADDIE

Take a piece of finnan haddie weighing about two pounds, put in a baking dish, and cover thickly with finely chopped onion and finely chopped parsley, and one tablespoonful of butter, and pour over enough hot water to cover the dish, bake in a moderate oven until the milk has been absorbed.

FALL'S INTEREST IN LEASE SHOWN

Link to Rescind Government Oil Contract Goes On

Witness Hits ex-Secretary Over Doheny Deal

Final Win Expected to Go on Stand Today

Efforts intended to show that Albert B. Fall, Secretary of the Interior Department in 1921, when his department leased valuable parts of Elk Hills Kern county oil lands, had a very personal interest in the lease was introduced yesterday in the United States District Court in Washington during three of the leases to the Pan-American Petroleum Corporation, then headed by Fall's old friend, Edward L. Doheny.

Atlee Pomerene, who is conducting the government's case for cancellation of the leases on charges of an asserted conspiracy between Fall and Doheny, introduced the evidence. He read into the record parts of the testimony of Foster Bain, director of the Bureau of Mines under Fall, in a previous and somewhat similar case. The testimony, in short, was that Fall was principal in the official conference which decided that the Elk Hills oil should be disposed of and he said whom should be parties of proceedings toward sale.

LETTER INTRODUCED

Pomerene introduced a letter from Edward Paul Glenn, head of an oil company interested in what was known as the naval reserve, and showed very particular details regarding handling the reserve oil. He introduced evidence from Dr. Hubert Work, among the first a recommended conservation of the oil in the Navy, to the effect that Fall had counseled with Paul before letting go of too much of the oil.

Edward C. Finney, now solicitor for the department, who was assistant secretary under Fall, under questioning by Pomerene, testified that at least two of the leases signed by the Doheny company were granted without notification to Navy officials who in previous instances had asked for rights in the reserve. Finney was unsuccessful in competition with the Doheny company in the first instance, according to his evidence.

LAST MAN TO TESTIFY

Finney has been on the stand for days. He is expected to be the last by the government today and then will be submitted to cross-examination by Norman S. Sterry, Finney is counsel for Richfield Oil Company, which long since acquired the controlling interest in Pan-American and now has the leases now in question.

Lieutenant-Commander I. F. Langdon, naval inspector of reserves, is expected to follow Finney on the stand. Sessions will be resumed today at 10 a.m. They are being conducted by Judge Norcross of Nevada.

Branch Formed by Fruit Guild

Formation of the organization of the Los Angeles branch of the National Plant, Flowers and Fruit Guild was announced yesterday. Headquarters have been established in the Guild hall of the Chamber of Commerce Building, 1151 South Broadway.

Dr. Fred L. Hardin, it is announced, has consented to serve as president. Dr. Hardin, former professor at University of Pennsylvania, is president of the Sigma Xi of Southern California, president of the California Avocado Society, and former president of the Southern California section of the American Chemical Society.

Spare the Rod Adage Scored by Naturalist

Ernest Thompson Seton, author, naturalist and chief of the Woodcraft League, is authority for the statement that "to spare the rod is to spoil the child" is no longer a truism.

Speaking before a large group of Western Rangers last night at Virgil Junior High School, he said: "Boys are not born bad; they become so as a result of thoughtless upbringing. Recreation in childhood, where the urge to do something daring and not always good, is strong, is the place where the child's character develops. The better plan is to direct the attention of the child to the committed error and to correct that error by permitting it to destroy itself. Punishing the boy only weakens character. If he is shown how much finer it is to act honorably, character is built up. By giving a group of boys certain ideals which are recognized by all of them, an offender is punished by 'the gang' itself, a worse penalty than that of parents."

NEWS OF THE CAFES

One of the most popular and oldest established chop suey restaurants in the city is the one operated by George Lem, on East First street near San Pedro street. The ingredients used there for cooking are directly imported from the Orient, thereby assuring patrons of genuine Chinese foods. The cafe is decorated artistically in typical oriental fashion and caters to after-theater parties and the family trade. Lem is well known throughout Southern California and has been in business in this city for more than twenty years.

PREPARES FOR CHRISTMAS

Elaborate preparations are under way for a special Christmas dinner, to be served Christmas Day in St. Ann's Inn in Santa Ana, according to R. L. Bisby, manager. The lobby, garden and dining-room will be decorated attractively and appropriately in Christmas style. Mr. Busby features a turkey, duck, beef, ham and chicken dinner each Sunday in his inn, which is quite popular with motorists from Los Angeles and vicinity, due to the location of the inn, a delightful motor drive from this city.

HOTEL TO CELEBRATE

Inaugurating a week of festivity at Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel in celebration of its second anniversary, "Old San Francisco Night" will be held in the Blossom Room of the hostelry Monday night.

A large number of motion picture and stage notables, whose careers had their inception behind the footlights in the city of the Golden Gate, will foregather with other San Franciscans to revive memories of former gay days.

SPECIAL FETE PLANNED

A delightful dinner-dance is scheduled for guests at El Mirador Hotel in Palm Springs tomorrow evening, followed on Sunday by a swimming meet in the beautiful plunge of that desert hostelry. The El Mirador plunge is a huge semi-inclosed pool, filled with water which has been filtered and otherwise purified and warmed.

ORCHESTRA TO STAY

Creating one of the greatest hits of the year at the opening last Wednesday, Paul Howard's Blackbirds will continue at the Montmartre indefinitely. A new and popular feature at the Montmartre is the no-cover-charge policy, inaugurated by Brandstetter during the engagement of the Blackbirds. The policy applies to evening as well as luncheon events.

TEA-DANCE TO BE GIVEN

Another of the series of recently-inaugurated afternoon tea dances will be held tomorrow at Paul Perrot's Cafe, opposite Westlake Park with Everett Hoagland's Troubadors providing the music. A dancing contest given under the auspices of Ray Huff will be featured with beautiful and valuable prizes awarded to the winners.

PITTS IN RACE FOR VERNON

Prosecutor to Leave by Plane Today for Oklahoma to Beat Wyoming's Plea for Fugitive

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 5.—Fitts is scheduled to fly from here at 5 a.m. today, via Transcontinental Air Express, in a race to Oklahoma City, there to be first in presenting California's request for the requisitioning of Tom Vernon, asserted confessed Saugus train wrecker and robber. The District Attorney's haste is spurred by the report that the prosecuting officer of Converse county, Wyoming, plans to start tomorrow for the Oklahoma capital to appear personally at the hearing before Gov. Holloway.

Aboard the Transcontinental Air Express it was announced that the nearest point to Oklahoma City on the air-transportation line is Amarillo, Tex., which the Fitts plane from here will reach early this afternoon. A rail connection out of Amarillo will land the District Attorney in Oklahoma City tomorrow afternoon.

A battle of wits is expected between the two prosecutors representing California and Wyoming, each of whom demand first opportunity to try Vernon on charges of murder and robbing. Wyoming charges he is the bandit who with one Joseph Cheyenne a week ago held up the derailing and robbing of the Pacific Coast Limited of the Southern Pacific at Saugus.

Requisitions in the first claim on which Governor Young of California were reported signed by Frank Dewar, chief executive of the Sheriff's office, were presented last night from Governor Young's office. There he obtained the governor's signature to requisitions which he then sent by messenger to Oklahoma City.

GOVERNOR TO CONDUCT HEARING TOMORROW

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 5. (AP)—The extradition hearing which will decide whether Tom Vernon, alleged bandit and ex-convict, will be returned to Wyoming or California to be prosecuted in connection with the derailment and robbery of two passenger trains will be held in the Capitol here Saturday, Governor Holloway said today. Although it is unusual for the Governor to participate in such hearings, Gov. Holloway said he will attend to advise himself accurately of the merits of the rival claims.

"There is certain to be a matter of reward involved," said Holloway, "and this warrants careful investigation."

He added that among other considerations involved in his decision will be consideration of the relative severity of the laws of the two States. He said that the contest for Vernon's possession has attracted wide interest, evidenced by numerous telegrams and telephone messages which the Governor has received.

"It would be interesting," said the Governor, " to make public the identity of some of the persons who have talked with me. However, I shall not reveal their names."

Vernon has confessed that he derailed and robbed a Southern Pacific passenger train November 10, near Saugus, Cal., and has told officers that he would waive extradition to California.

He persistently has denied wrecking and robbing a Union Pacific passenger train near Cheyenne, Wyo., November 25. Passengers of both trains have been represented to have identified photographs of Vernon as the robber.

T. J. Higgins, deputy Sheriff of Los Angeles, said that Dist.-Atty. Fitts notified him he would leave for here tonight by airplane to push California's claim. California requisition papers, airmailed from Los Angeles yesterday, are expected to reach here tomorrow.

PRACTICAL RECIPES

[Requests for recipes and information pertaining to the proper preparations and serving of foods will be answered in this column every Friday. Address all requests to A. L. Wyman, Laboratory Kitchen, 424 Arden ave., Glendale.—Ed.]

CHEF WYMAN'S ANSWERS

LEMON PIE

W. Y. S., Los Angeles: Line a deep pie shell with rich pastry and bake. Beat the yolks of six eggs until they are light and creamy, then beat into them three-quarters of a cupful of sugar, beating again a little at a time, add one-fourth of a cupful of lemon juice. Add two teaspoonfuls of grated lemon rind, place the mixture in the top of a double boiler and stir and cook until it thickens and becomes creamy. Remove from the fire and while it is still hot beat in the whites of the six eggs that have been beaten stiff and dry. Pour this mixture into the baked pie shell and place in a slow oven until it is browned on top.

KEEPING ENGLISH PLUM PUDDING AND FRUIT CAKE

E. H. S., Long Beach: Be sure that your plum pudding and fruit cakes are thoroughly cold, then wrap them in two thicknesses of waxed paper, place the plum pudding in a can, wrap the outside with wax paper and seal across the ends. I have kept plum pudding this way for three years without its becoming moldy. The fruit cake place in a tin box if possible and treat in the same way.

RIPE OLIVES

Mrs. A. M. A., Van Nuys; Mrs. O. J. S., Los Angeles: The olives should be freshly picked and must be ripe, well-colored fruit. Prepare a lye solution, consisting of three ounces of lye to each gallon of water, place the olives in earthenware crocks or wooden buckets and leave until the lye has well penetrated through the skins. This can be determined by cutting an olive open and is shown by discoloration of the flesh beneath the skin. Drain off the lye water into another container and leave the olives exposed to the air until they turn black. They should be stirred two or three times during this process. Dilute the lye solution already used with one gallon of water to each two gallons of the solution and re-cover the olive with it. Stir often and water the treatment until the lye reaches the pit, then remove and expose the olives again to the air for eight hours. Cover with fresh water and change daily until all taste of the lye or bitterness is removed. Make up a brine of four ounces of salt to one gallon of water, place the olives in this for three days. If the brine darkens after the first day change it for a fresh brine of the same strength.

TOMATO BOUILLON

Mrs. S., Los Angeles: One large can of tomatoes, eight cupfuls of water, two bay leaves, one teaspoonful of pepper corns, one teaspoonful of celery seed, one-half a teaspoonful of whole allspice, six whole cloves, two bouillon cubes, one-half a teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce, combine the seasonings, tomatoes and water and allow to simmer for twenty minutes. Then add the bouillon cubes and the Worcestershire sauce, reheat and strain through a fine cheesecloth, season and serve in cups. In place of using the bouillon cubes four cupfuls of beef stock may be used.

MINCE MEAT

Mix one pound of seedless raisins with one pound of seeded raisins, one pound of Sultana raisins, one cupful of finely chopped candied citron or grapefruit peel, one cupful of fine chopped candied orange peel, one cupful of finely chopped candied lemon peel, two cupfuls of sugar, three cupfuls of fresh cider and let this mixture stand overnight; in the morning add half a cupful of lemon juice, one pound of finely chopped beef suet, two pounds of chopped, peeled and cored apples, three teaspoonfuls of cinnamon, three teaspoonfuls of nutmeg, one teaspoonful of cloves, one teaspoonful of allspice and three pounds of finely chopped, cooked meat from which all the strings and gristle have been removed. Add half a cupful of salt cooking sherry, mix well, allow to stand in the jar for ten days, stir once or twice a day.

CHICKEN A LA KING

F. C., Los Angeles: Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter and saute in it half of a chopped green pepper, one cupful of mushrooms cut in small pieces. As soon as the pepper is tender add two tablespoonfuls of flour and cook until the flour is smooth but not brown, slowly add two cupfuls of cream, reduce the fire and let simmer slowly until the sauce is thickened and the flour cooked. Add three cupfuls of cooked chicken that has been cut in small dice, place the mixture in a double boiler, beat one-fourth of a cupful of butter to a cream, add to it the yolks of three eggs and stir slowly into the hot mixture. Be careful not to allow the water in the bottom part of the double boiler to boil after adding the eggs. Season with a few drops of onion juice, season with salt and paprika and serve in patty shells or on toast.

CONCENTRATED ORANGE JUICE

V. L. V., Los Angeles: In a place like California I do not think it would be at all practical to put up any concentrated orange juice. Sugar would have to be used with it and then after standing for some time or being bottled it acquires a musty taste.

SPINACH AU GRATIN

E. R., Los Angeles: Wash in several waters five bunches of spinach, drain, place in a saucepan and cook until soft in the water that clings to the leaves, just before removing from the fire add one teaspoonful of salt, drain, chop fine, add half a teaspoonful of pepper, half a teaspoonful of mace, four tablespoonfuls of cream and the well-beaten yolks of three eggs. Mix well, add the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs, pour into a buttered baking dish, sprinkle the top thickly with buttered bread crumbs and finely grated cheese, set in a pan of water, place in the oven and bake for twenty minutes.

FACTORY WAGE HEARING FAILS

Golf Score Watch Company Secretary Missing

Ninety-seven Pay Plaints Held in Abeyance

President in New York on Financing Hunt

The scheduled formal hearing of ninety-seven wage complaints against the Golf Score Watch Company, set for yesterday morning by Deputy Labor Commissioner Barker, failed to materialize because, it was explained at the commission offices, Benjamin Markowitz, secretary of the company, under subpoena to appear, could not be found.

Markowitz was the only person called to testify at the proposed hearing yesterday, the deputy Labor Commissioner deciding not to summon Jake Berman, better known as Jack Bermett of Julian Petroleum fame, unless Markowitz's expected testimony definitely connected Berman with the company's affairs.

DRUSIN LOCATED

Markowitz was being hunted by attaches of Barker's office yesterday and when found the hearing will be held, the Labor Commissioner said.

In the meantime efforts to locate William Drusin, president of the company, now in New York, brought results yesterday when Barker received a telegram from that official, in which he declared he was endeavoring to raise capital there to refinance the local company, pay off the wage claims and other outstanding indebtedness and resume business.

Drusin, according to Barker, is owner of a distributing company in New York which was under contract to take the entire output of the Golf Score Watch Company and market it. The local company is a Nevada corporation.

Although records of the State Corporation Department reveal that no certificate to sell stock was ever issued to the company, it was charged by several employees that they bought stock in the concern on weekly installments, the money for it being taken out of their pay weekly. Several certificates have been issued to employees, but whether the stock was sold directly in violation of the Corporate Securities Act, or represented shares owned by Drusin and transferred by that individual to the employees, is a question for the District Attorney's office to decide, it was said yesterday by Deputy Corporation Commissioner Crawford.

Drusin, head of the company, is a brother-in-law of Jack Bennett, Labor Commission officials declare.

DOG PARADE HERALDS EXHIBIT

Three-Day Show Will Open Tomorrow

Primping Up for Annual Exhibition

Beverly Preston, powdering Picadilly Circus, old English sheep dog, for the annual Los Angeles dog show. Picadilly Circus is many times a champion and is the property of Mrs. H. E. Bennett.

DOG lovers of Southern California gathered yesterday on the lawn of the Ambassador to witness a dog parade to announce the opening of an exhibition of the Los Angeles Kennel Club. The show proper will open tomorrow in the Ambassador Auditorium and will run until Sunday night, with $500,000 worth of dogs on exhibit.

Hounds of the western States are competing for prizes worth more than $5000 and hundreds of honorable mentions, basing their claims to supremacy on the length of their family trees.

At the parade yesterday the extremes in dogs were represented by Great Danes, English sheep dogs and St. Bernards, competing for popularity against Pomeranian pups. By popular vote the tiny ones carried off honors. Judges in the show will be Edward M. Laird, Los Angeles; Anton B. Korbel, San Francisco, and Alex H. Stewart, Chicago.

BANDIT TRIO GETS $2500 FROM BANK

Branch Institution at Washington Street and Harcourt Avenue Robbed

Three bandits in a sedan with stolen license plates yesterday held up the Citizens' National Bank branch at Washington street and Harcourt avenue, robbing it of $2500 and escaping. They chose a time when only C. R. Harper, assistant manager, and Lois Clark, stenographer, were in the bank. While one robber remained outdoors at the wheel of the sedan the other two entered the bank and levelled revolvers at Harper, ordering him to hand over all the money in sight.

The robbers took 500 new $1 bills, a quantity of silver dollars and half-dollars and other money totaling $2500, put all in a bag and drove off. Harper ran out in time to note the license number, which he reported to police. The numbers were registered to a different type of car, leading police to believe the plates were stolen to be used as a blind.

"Meistersinger" to be Offered

A special musical morning will be given at Bullock's tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. when Dr. Bruce Gordon Kingsley will present "Die Meistersinger," the famous music drama comedy by Richard Wagner.

The audience is taken back a few hundred years to the quaint old city of Nuremberg, which to this day preserves much of its charming medievalism, and will meet such characters as the poet-cobbler, Hans Sachs; the venerable Pogner, the unique Beckmesser, Eva and Walther.

Among music to be heard are the "Dance of the Apprentices," "Chorals of the Jordan and Baptism," the "Summer Night" music, "Beckmesser's Serenade," "Sachs's Shoe Song," "Eva's Confession of Love," "Procession of the Mastersingers" and the "Prize Song."

DOMESTIC TROUBLES DEPICTED

Ann Harding Gives Usual Versatile Performance in "Her Private Affair"

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

"Her Private Affair," new at the R.-K.-O. Theater yesterday, is another picture that spends a good deal of time telling a story that should have been and could have been told much more concisely, simply and directly.

After it is all over—in reality, the picture is a little more than sixty minutes—one has the sense of having gone through an unnecessarily exhausting experience. Like poor little Elsie Dinsmore, Ann Harding just suffers and suffers.

At that, the film, her second effort for Pathe, presents her not only as an extraordinarily fine actress, but as an unusually beautiful one. Miss Harding photographs as one of the loveliest of the stage actresses to come to the screen.

In "Her Private Affair" she is the wife of a distinguished judge, played by Harry Bannister, who is her husband in real life as well as in the make-believe of this story. She has written some affectionate letters to an attractive adventurer who attempts to blackmail her. In keeping an appointment she accidentally kills him. His man servant is brought to trial and finally acquitted. The story, after the incident of the killing, occupies itself with Miss Harding's inward and outward struggle to keep from admission of the crime and yet to keep the accused man from conviction and to protect her husband and friends from contamination with her blood-stained skirts. It is more or less a study in the psychology of the woman.

A strange, yet not uninteresting picture, it will probably never work its way into the so-called "popular" category; nor yet will it classify as a finely builded and definitely motivated piece of work. Somewhere along the line of progress things go amiss so that the finished picture fails to arrive at the probably definitely high standard set for it.

Bannister as the husband shows himself a capable actor with discrimination and feeling in his every action. Kay Hammond is most pleasing in a not particularly important role. Her voice registers extremely well and she has a nice presence. John Loder is pleasantly agreeable in a role of the same character, while Arthur Hoty, William Orlamond and Lawford Davidson, all seen briefly, give even performances. Elmer Ballard has a part much on the order of the one he played in "Alibi," that of the man subjected to the third degree. He is good. Frank Reicher, although heard briefly, does crisply meritorious work. Either there is something the matter with R.-K.-O. projection equipment or the recording is bad, for the voices on the whole were not good.

There are five acts of vaudeville on the accompanying R.-K.-O. program—five good Orpheum acts. Among them are the tricky, smart-stepping offering of Florence Brady and Gilbert Wells, the clowning of Joe Morris and Flo Campbell, as well as fun and incidental contributions from Joe Keno and Rosie Green, Stepanoff and company and Sawyer and Eddy.

LASKY PLANS STAGE TIE-UP

Aarons, Freedley Align With Paramount

John Ford, William Howard to Leave Fox

M.-G.-M. Will Produce Life of Wyoming Brigand

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

It is quite inevitable that as the movie makers and theatrical producers have closer affiliations, due to talking pictures, there shall come about more and more business connections between the two.

Paramount is one of the first companies to make such affiliations. First, that organization signed a contract with Schwab & Mandel to put on the screen their theatrical productions.

And now it is Aarons & Freedley, musical-comedy producers, who are aligning themselves with Paramount. The contract between the two organizations will place at the disposal of the film producers some of the outstanding musical-comedy hits of the season, including "Heads Up," as material for the sound screen, and will also place talent under contract to the stage producers at Paramount's disposal. No papers have yet been signed, but we understand that this formality is to take place within a few days.

Among the hits of the past few years which Aarons & Freedley have offered, and which will be available to Paramount under the new arrangement, are "Lady, Be Good," "Oh, Kay" and "Hold Everything." They have handled such stars as Gertrude Lawrence, Fred and Adele Astaire and Victor Moore, and it is likely that these artists will be prevailed upon to appear in Paramount productions.

STARS, DIRECTORS, LEAVE FOX CONCERN

JOHN FORD

John Ford, considered a fixture with the organization, is, we hear, leaving at the end of his current contract, which expires very soon. It is known that Ford has received some fine offers from other companies, including United Artists, and, I believe, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. He has made some of the greatest successes William Fox has had, including "Four Sons," "Three Bad Men" and others.

William K. Howard, whose "Valiant" was pronounced by all critics as one of the finest pictures of the year, may also sever connections with Fox, we hear. He also has made many important and successful pictures.

Nick Stuart, promising young leading man, is completing his contract with Fox and will make other affiliations, and Norma Terris, beautiful young musical-comedy star recently engaged, is also to leave.

Henry Kolker, who has been writing and directing for Fox for some time, and who is well known both to stage and screen as actor, director and writer, is another important Fox luminary who is seeking fresh pastures. He has a play called "That's All for Tonight," adapted from the Hungarian, which he expects to produce at a Hollywood or downtown theater.

M.-G.-M.'s Brigand Yarn

Stories of brigandage have been rather scarce on the screen of late, and, therefore, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer plans to remedy the deficit.

"Billy the Kid" is such a story. It tells the life story of a brigand of that nickname, who was a scourge to Oklahoma, Wyoming and other localities of the wild west many years ago, and Tom Mix is said to own the gun with which he was finally killed. The M.-G.-M. story was written by W. R. River. So far no assignments to its leading roles have been made.

Nita Martan in It

That gifted young actress, song writer and vocalist, Nita Martan, seems to be coming into her own in talking pictures.

Miss Marian has just been signed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for one of the two leading feminine parts in Ramon Novarro's picture, "The House of Troy," which Robert Leonard is directing.

Leatrice Joy to R.-K.-O.

Leatrice Joy, who has been jaunting around the country playing vaudeville, is going to be at home in time to spend Christmas with her small daughter, Leatrice II.

But, of course, she isn't going to remain idle, and we understand that she is going to sign up with R.-K.-O.

Stage Actor With R.-K.-O.

All the Broadway heroes and heroines being used up in the talkers, producers are starting in on the heavies now.

Which leads gracefully up to the announcement that no less famous an actor than Hugh Huntly has been brought from New York by R.-K.-O. to play the heavy in "Second Wife." He created the role on the New York stage when the piece was produced under the title of "All the King's Men."

Gretchen Hartman Signed

Gretchen Hartman, who in private life is the wife of Alan Hale and mother of two youngsters, enjoys getting back to the greasepaint once in a while. She has just signed with Warners to appear in a Vitaphone short subject called "Honolulu," which will be directed by Howard Bretherton and supervised by Bryan Foy.

Helen Kane to New York

There's just no keeping Helen Kane away from New York at Christmas time. So Jesse L. Lasky has consented that she may make her next Paramount picture back there.

Miss Kane, whose last two roles, in "Sweetie" and "Pointed Heels," were photographed in Hollywood, is to appear next before the cameras at the Long Island studios. Her story is untitled, but it is to begin early in the new year.

G.O.P. PLANS DISTRICTING

County Central Committee Has Harmonious Session on Congressional Reapportionment

Future plans of the Republican party in Southern California and means by which this section of the State is to obtain a just reapportionment of its representation in Congress, were discussed at a meeting of the County Central Committee at the Clark Hotel yesterday. By unanimous vote it was decided to concur in the proposal of Col. Eric Fowler, chairman, to "follow a line of harmony" with the leaders of the present three Congressional districts of the southern part of the State.

The plan proposed and adopted at the meeting is designed to put into effect the reapportionment which should give Southern California ten Representatives instead of the present three. The plan proposes to place before the Legislature next year a measure which will reapportion the State into new districts in accordance with its population.

At the present time Southern California is credited with having 55 per cent of the population, yet this section is represented by but three out of the thirteen Representatives. According to Col. Fowler and other leaders, Los Angeles county alone is entitled to eight Representatives, although it is represented now by two.

The leaders of the various Assembly districts to be affected by the reapportionment are in accord with the plans adopted, and it is the first time there has been a 100 per cent agreement, according to several of the leaders. The reapportionment question has been a source of discord for almost two years, it was asserted, but yesterday's action is believed to have ironed out the difficulties.

"The Republican party of Southern California is now on the road to complete harmony," Col. Fowler asserted after the meeting. "There has been individual dissension and group discord, but the faithful have kept on pulling for harmony and at last we think the effort has been successful.

"This has been accomplished without any outstanding political fireworks and the tendency has been to smooth over the difficulties that might cause disgruntlement. The party in Southern California will be able to assert itself and obtain the proper representation in Congress.

"The program we have mapped out has been submitted to the Tuesday Night Club, which is composed of legislators, and it met with that organization's unanimous approval."

The County Central Committee probably will not meet again until after the first of the year.

Grand Jury May Drop Long Beach Scandal Inquiry

Intimation that the grand jury inquiry into Long Beach affairs will be dropped unless new developments are brought out today, was made last night by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Hamman, in charge of the investigation of asserted irregularities at the beach city.

Story of Far East Screened at Boulevard

John Colton has not yet tired of writing successors to Sadie Thompson. His latest is Cassy Cook, "The Shanghai Lady," whose soul regeneration is explained to Boulevard audiences this week.

John S. Robertson, who directed this romance in the rough, has divided it into short sequences which follow each other so rapidly that it is at first hard to gather their connection. There can be no complaint by screen lovers who crave action with their movies. All China seems to be on the move and our hero and heroine are continually running either toward each other or from the law. Everyone's in on it, even the villain, and when they have no place else to go, they talk of fleeing from themselves.

The production is all-talkie in both Chinese and English and one can only stand amazed at the universal mastery of our mother tongue in the Far East. In many ways Mary Nolan performs creditably as Cassy, the girl who hankers to be a lady. After being swept by a great, clean love for James Murray, we realize she has been one all along underneath. The surprise is as much on Mary as it is on the spectator, but James knew she was one from the first moment, and that's what brought it out in the open. Fleeing from justice himself, Murray also has a regeneration and easily dominates every scene in which he appears. With each performance he gains in power and is ideally suited to the diamond-in-the-rough type of hero.

Smooth, suave and incredibly evil is Wheeler Oakman, half-caste menace who finally comes to grief behind closed doors. Yola D'Avril and Mona Maris have short moments of which they make the most.

The soft-faced comedian, Harry Langdon, breaks into very funny speech in his first talkie, "Hotter Than Hot." In no sense is his pantomime diminished by his voice, but rather heightened. An agreeable discovery is that his voice suits perfectly the odd little man he has always played.

Freddie Bernard, his band and the Beauties stage an Oriental Idea.

U.C.L.A. FRATERNITY TO BE GIVEN PLAQUE

The Delta chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity, domiciled at University of California at Los Angeles, today will be presented with an engraved plaque emblematic of victory in last year's scholastic competition with the fraternity's chapter at University of Southern California. Warren Bovard of University of Southern California will make the presentation in the University Club at noon, on behalf of the fraternity's alumni association, donor of the plaque.

LIFE IN RUSSIA CALLED ANYTHING BUT PARADISE

Russia, under soviet regime, still lacks much of being an earthly paradise and, despite the overthrow of the Czar, still remains an autocracy, declared Maj.-Gen. Victor A. Yakhontoff, Russian army, retired, speaking on "Modern Russia" last night at the Bovard Auditorium.

The lecture was sponsored by the Los Angeles University of International Relations, and the speaker was the dinner guest of Dr. Rufus B. Von KleinSmid, president of the University of Southern California.

"None should overlook the difficulties which an outsider experiences in comprehending the Russian situation," the speaker said, "Not only because it is a tremendous country, covering one-sixth of the entire world territory, with a population of more than 155,000,000 people—very diverse; but also because the country's structure and mode of living are so far from all standards known in America after changes which occurred with the revolution of 1917.

"Having reviewed my mother country after twelve years' absence, last summer, I found many changes and was impressed deeply by many of them. The undeniable cultural elevation of the mass of the people, the awakening of long dormant creative energy of the mass of the Russian people, the efforts to increase the efficiency of labor in different fields, and the effect of the new status of the citizen—feeling that he is the master of the country—those are the main, and probably the most important, observations for one who wishes to appreciate the trend of events more than the actual present situation.

"Life in Russia today is far from being anything like a paradise. There is a scarcity of many commodities; there is undeniable oppression. The most interesting work in the field of material betterment is the newly inaugurated agrarian policy which includes partial industrialization of agriculture, collectivization of farmers and mechanization of agriculture. One can hardly deny that the achievement of soviet Russia in the field of material improvement is very impressive. But the question one may naturally ask is if the methods applied are not rather dangerous to be used as corner-stones of statesmanship. One can only hope that the thesis adopted by the present rulers at Moscow will be met by an antithesis claiming far more respect to the individual and more esteem to things spiritual. And a synthesis will come out of these counter positions that will bring the interest of the community into a better accord with the rights of the individual."

Replying to a question, following his lecture, the speaker admitted that Russia, under soviet rule, is the most heavily tax-burdened country in the world except China. However, in response to another query concerning the collapse of marriage, he replied that the present divorce rate is lower than that of Great Britain. This, he explained, might be due to the fact that when a husband obtains a divorce, he must give one-third of his income to each dependent child.

"It will readily be seen," the former Russian general said, "that after two-thirds of his income is thus taken away, he is not likely to try any further matrimonial experiments."

As to whether he believed the United States should recognize the soviet regime, the speaker begged to be excused from answering, declaring he was not attempting to dictate the foreign policy of the United States government.

Maj.-Gen. Yakhontoff will be one of the principal speakers at the sessions of the international relations conference to be held at Riverside all next week.

'CONDEMNED' IN GALA PREMIERE

Colman Vehicle Starts at Chinese Amid Glitter

Versatile Cast in Support of the Star

Pictorial Qualities of Film Worthy of Praise

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Ronald Colman, refortified in popularity by the coming of the talkies, arrived at the goal of the elaborate Hollywood premiere last evening. The gifted film actor, who exhibited new facets of appeal recently in "Bulldog Drummond," appeared in his second audible feature, "Condemned," with the supporting cast headed by Ann Harding at Grauman's Chinese Theater.

A thronging audience attested the interest in the star and the continued approval for big picture openings. Such gala inaugural ceremonies of filmland are coming with greater frequency now, but seemingly without any lessening of glitter in most cases.

What, with the boulevard arrayed in its Christmas trappings, the spectacle of the first night at the Chinese Theater was more elaborate than usual and drew an especially large street crowd that came to hear the stars introduced in front of the playhouse, and talk over the radio in a national broadcast.

INTERESTING PLAYERS

Of the Colman feature, much may be said in praise of its high pictorial qualities, and of various phases of each individual performance. The star himself, Miss Harding, but recently from the stage, and Louis Wolheim and Dudley Digges form an exceptionally interesting group. Miss Harding, in particular, with her definitely spiritual beauty, and the attractions of her voice lent manifest appeal to the feminine lead. Digges and Wolheim are both highly efficient in the spirit of their acting.

To be sure, "Condemned" has not the superspectacle attributes which in days of yore used to entitle a production to the pre-eminent showing at the Chinese Theater, but then where, after all, do such attractions exist now? The novelty of talk seems to offset the need for "epic" grandeurs that once ruled supreme.

Any picture that gives so unique an atmosphere as "Condemned" does in depicting the penal colony of Devil's Island in French Guiana, is entitled to special recognition.

COLORFUL PANORAMA

"Condemned" has been done with few of those restraints that are too often visible in the dialogue feature. It moves through a picturesque panorama of sea, jungle tropical market-place, and sombre prison, and in this satisfying of the optical senses lies its evident artistry.

Of portions of the story perhaps less can be said in the laudatory vein. Assuredly the love between the wife of the warden and the prison trusty enacted by Colman hardly convinces at the outset.

Much has been done to make it convince, because the life of the heroine is presented as the nadir of misery. Her crude vulgarian of a husband is hardly the type one would associate with the Blessed Damozel fragility of an Ann Harding. What is more he is responsible for bringing the handsome young prisoner into the house to serve her.

All of this is much cooked up. So, too, is that situation which sees a whole army of village gossips looking on over the garden wall to observe the prisoner harvesting cabbages, while the wife is picking flowers.

So, too, again is the husband's rather crass denunciation of the man's presumed attentions to the girl.

But when one passes over these incongruities, one does come to a very alluring romantic impression of the two main characters. One can forget even that the hero is something of a kleptomaniac, and perhaps even accept his regeneration, since it is brought about with considerable stress on actual drama.

Almost from the opening shot to the final one there is an enriching note in the photography and in the backgrounding. Sound effects have been superimposed with the utmost reality and there is taste in the handling of any number of small incidents.

PURSUIT EFFECTIVE

The impression from this picture will stay in the mind, I believe, for more than a day or two. Particularly is this true of the chase through the night on the river when the warden is in hot pursuit of the convict, and that rare glimpse of a ship departing from the dock right at the end of the story. I would say, too, that the scene between Colman and Miss Harding by the oceanside, when the latter casts her mind over the sea to her home in France, is singularly alluring in its pictorial mood.

Manifestly, this picture is one to be accorded praise, as regards its direction. Wesley Ruggles has effectively handled the individual scenes, and undeniably Sidney Howard as scenarist has contributed many effective lines in the dialogue.

Colman assumes a difficult character, because there is almost a constant indication that he cannot shake off the old life of deception, and take on the new one of love and devotion to an ideal of womanhood. Even at the last the line that he speaks about expiating his thievery in prison seems just a bit at variance with his true self. Certainly, Colman gives a clean-cut effort to the portrayal that all but justifies the character.

Whatever I have said of "Condemned" is not to be taken as against it as a whole. It is, indeed, one of the few pictures in the serious vein lately to have been unusually well enacted and embellished, and its story is an interesting one, even though of at times questionable conviction.

Aside from "Condemned," the program is dominated largely by comedy. Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy are the leading lights of the fun with their "Night Owls." Hired as burglars to rob the home of the Chief of Police, they simply cause roar upon roar with their fantastic attempts to engage in house-breaking quietly. The climax, when they accidentally set the player-piano going and can't make it stop, is a peak of mirth. Anders Randolf, Edgar Kennedy and Jimmy Finlayson are in this amusing short-reeler.

SHAKESPEARE REFINED NOW

R. D. Maclean, Sarah Padden and Others Delight Audience in "Merry Wives of Windsor"

BY ALMA WHITAKER

The purpose of the Shakespeare Foundation was to help refine the collegiates, I thought, but bless you, the collegiates have refined Shakespeare, or certainly that sinful old boozer, Sir John Falstaff, in "The Merry Wives of Windsor" out on the U.C.L.A. campus in that grand but draughty Royce Hall.

The performance last night was completely delightful, roguish, merry, impudent . . . and R. D. McLean, albeit the refining influence was obvious (he looked a trifle like Santa Claus in fustian, with lots of whiskers) gave an excellent performance. In fact, every one was good . . . Francis X. Bushman as the jealous husband, Ford, surprisingly so, since we had not hitherto associated the former handsome matinee idol of the films with Shakespearean talent. Florence Oakley as Mistress Ford, Maude Fealy as Mistress Page, Ruth Clifford as Anne Page, and Sarah Padden as Mistress Quickly, not only all delighted the eye but charmed the ear as well. Fancy Sarah, so long identified with the drab "Clod," blossoming out in this succulent role!

Peter Richmond as Abraham Slender, the effeminate suitor for Anne's hand, won a score of laughs with his sumptuous affectations, and W. H. Howell was a rollicking bibulous inn-keeper who roared engagingly. For that matter not a single part was ill-played . . . which is a mercy, for the Shakespeare Foundation has to justify itself . . . and has.

All the same, filled though the hall was, most of the audience were markedly grown-ups, and students were noticeable by their absence. The male element prevailed. Those students missed something . . . they made quite a mistake in supposing this particular Shakespearean play would "elevate" them. On the contrary. Even carefully expurgated, it was a rollicking, slapbang performance . . . you see, Mr. Shakespeare could be so very coarse on occasion, with a marked weakness for calling a spade a spade, so that, for all the refining influence he is supposed to exercise on the modern younger generation, if only they can be persuaded to attend, it was necessary to edit him a trifle.

I mean, don't you know, that many of the unexpurgated vulgarities which Henry Irving, Sir Herbert Tree and others used to leave in the British versions, were tenderly modified at various points for U.C.L.A. But at that, it would still shock some of our more sensitive folk as it stands. Parbleu, sacrecouer, oddsbodkins, you should see the liquor they quaff and hear some of the names they use, and the frank language anent marital relations . . . !

And they make it so up-to-date, attractive even lovely. I feel sure if the youngsters only realised what awaits them in the guise of a refining influence, they would rush to fill the hall. They can have had no idea being elevated would be like that.

Two more performances of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," tonight and tomorrow night . . . and easily the best we have seen at any time in California.

SOUTHERN LOVE TALE SCREENED

Joseph Schildkraut and Joan Bennett Take Leads

"Mississippi Gambler" Has Versatile Cast

Million Dollar Shows First-Run Film

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

A romance of Old Man River, with its stern-wheelers, its churned water and its moonlight, "The Mississippi Gambler" was recounted for patrons of the Million Dollar Theater yesterday. Well dialogued and straightforward in its narration, the picture lacks the pretentiousness of its predecessor. "Show Boat," and also its unwieldiness. It has the same leading man, Joseph Schildrkaut, and scenes which might be counterparts of those in the earlier Universal production, but its story is different and its direction superior. It is, in short, a better than average program film.

Schildkraut portrays a more or less unscrupulous card sharp who plies his trade on the river. In league with him are a woman named Suzette (played convincingly by Carmelita Geraghty) and a clumsier accomplice, played by Otis Harlan. When the boat is boarded by Judge Blackburn and his beautiful daughter, Lucy, the nefarious three are attracted to them as scavengers to a feast. How they fare is what makes the story.

The charm of the voyage on La Belle Riviere is enhanced by the musical accompaniment, legitimately prolonged, which backgrounds the action. The characters who are required to speak with a southern accent do so with fair success. Joan Bennett, as the heroine, confirms the loveliest traditions of the Kentucky woman's beauty and grace. Her father is played by Alec Francis.

Schildkraut takes his part with ease and gentility, perhaps a little too much of both at times. One is always perfluded that his love for himself is greater than that he so eloquently protests for the girl. Nor is an attempt to whitewash his character by having him declare virtuously that he does not cheat at cards, but rather, plays a better game than the other fellow, altogether conducive to belief.

"The Mississippi Gambler," first of a series of Universal pictures to be premiered at the Million Dollar from time to time, was directed by Reginald Barker. Edward T. Lowe Jr., adapted the story by Karl Brown and Leonard Fields.

The Rooneys and Benny Rubin provide comedy in short subjects. More amusing is an Aesop Fable.

BRILLIANT DEBUT IS RECORDED

Piatiagorsky Acclaimed as True Artist of 'Cello at Philharmonic

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

The great 'cellist, Gregor Piatigorsky, played with the Philharmonic Orchestra last night and broke all records, for virtuosity, for enthusiasm registered by the audience and for encores at a symphony concert. His first introduction to Los Angeles came in the solo part of Strauss' Don Quixote, which earned him an ovation. Then he gave an account of the Dvorak concerto for violoncello that was as near perfection as the composer could have imagined. Two Bach numbers for violin alone followed insistent demand.

Which only goes to prove that if an artist be really great, it does not take advance publicity to convince an audience. Piatiagorsky was practically unknown here and today musical Los Angeles is buzzing with the excitement he inspired. This 26-year-old Russian towers above the 'cello. He masters it with the utmost ease, playing it with as little effort as most men expend on a violin. His tone can be huge and reverberate through the concert-room with a thrilling power or he can keep his audience listening with strained ears for a pianissimo of such tender beauty that it can go on and on without the slightest loss of intensity.

He commands the orchestra and his audience without seeming to dictate and with no theatricality. Nothing is done for effect and yet he is marvelously effective. He has long ago risen above mere technicalities and his musical soul is equal to the realization of the composer's ideal. Piatiagorsky is one of the chosen few.

Dr. Artur Rodzinski opened the concert with the overture to Humperdinck's "Konigskinder," which made an acceptable preliminary to Strauss' very unusual idea of the humorous adventures of Don Quixote. Its principal interest lay in the excellent performance which Dr. Rodzinski conducted and in the incidental solos by Emile Ferir, the artist of the viola, certain of the wood winds, and, of course, the solo 'cello part. Little fleeting moments of conversational music were contrasted with frankly imitative writing that was tricky and the whole work gave me the impression of a very brilliant man stooping to be smart.

I did not hear the Casella Rhapsody because it was late before the wild enthusiasm for Piatiagorsky's playing quieted down and, in my opinion, it would have been an anticlimax, anyway. The concert will be repeated this afternoon.

OLD APPEAL RENEWED BY 'RIGOLETTO'

Columbia Opera Company Holds Audience in Spell at Biltmore

BY MARY MAYER

"Rigoletto," paramount in vivid characterizations of melody and dramatic situations, those concepts so necessary in the grand opera, will always be a favorite with discriminating Los Angeles audiences.

This fact was proven again last night by the warmth of reception accorded the Verdi opus as presented by the Columbia Grand Opera Company at the Biltmore Theater. Notable musically for its quartet and its "La Donna e Mobile," and narratively for its tragic tale, adapted from Victor Hugo's play, "Le Roi S'Amuse," "Rigoletto" lacks nothing in the way of popular appeal.

Last night's audience sat spellbound during the unravelling of the story. The griefs of the aged hunchback, Rigoletto, and his plots to avenge the wrong done his daughter, seemed as real as if they had been the audience's own emotions. The intense spell of this drama set to music was broken only by the applause following particularly meritorious vocal performances, or the swish of velour curtains denoting the end of an act.

The action stood out in stern relief against settings of excellent design. With simplicity as the keynote, they reflected the modern tendency toward contrast in both color and form. A pleasing innovation, these new settings, so revolutionary from the gaudy drops of complicated perspectives, until now associated with the term, grand opera.

The outstanding successes of the evening went to Tina Paerl as Gilda, Galileo Parigi as Rigoletto, and Giuseppe Barsotti as the Duke.

Miss Paggi's Gilda was attractive, not only as to voice, but as to personality. Her "Cara Nome" won a goodly portion of the evening's individual plaudits. A surety and poise, when called upon to reach notes of the top register, made her numbers particularly pleasing.

Galileo Parigi repeated the success he won last Monday night as Don Carlos in "La Forza del Destino," as the hunchback jester, Rigoletto. A fine pathos and sympathy for the part characterized his performance and was witnessed especially in the famous monologue, "Pari siamo."

Guiseppe Barsotti appeared as the supercilious Duke of Mantua. His voice was rich and appealing and was heard to good advantage in the ever-popular "La Donna e Mobile."

Lenore Ivey pleased as the frivolous Maddalena, while others adding to the effectiveness of the production included Edith Mackey, Alicia Muma, Maudelene Smith, Luigi Rocca, James Crahanney, Ettore Ghisletti and William Blust. Enrico Spada scored an individual triumph as the cut-throat Sparafucile.

Adding a colorful background, a kaleidoscopic maze of harmony in sound and shading, was a chorus, vibrantly rich and well balanced in tone.

Alberto Conti, who conducted last evening, gave an interesting interpretation to the Verdi score and succeeded in blending his orchestra admirably with the voices across the footlights. "Zaza" is scheduled as tonight's offering.

Macloon Takes Over Majestic

The Majestic Theater will come into the possession of Louis O. Macloon on January 12, next. The final papers were signed, sealed and delivered yesterday.

Macloon flies to New York next week to buy several more plays and operettas for local consumption. One of these will probably open at the Curran Theater, San Francisco, shortly after the first of the year. Just which production is scheduled to open the Majestic under the firm's banner will be made known shortly. "Bitter Sweet" and "New Moon" are both being considered.

Ruggiero Ricci in Sound News

Audiences at the United Artists Theater approve in no uncertain terms of Ruggiero Ricci, 9-year-old musical prodigy, who is seen and heard in the latest issue of the Paramount Sound News now being shown. The youthful Ricci plays two very difficult violin numbers.

Ricci is a pupil of Luis Persinger, noted violinist and concert conductor of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra. Persinger was also the instructor of Yehudi Mehudin. The current feature attraction at the United Artists, Gloria Swanson's first all-talking picture, "The Trespasser," is now playing in its final week.

GARBO SEEN IN "KISS" ON LOEW BILL

Star's Last Silent Film is New Variant on Loved-by-Many-Men Theme

BY P. K. S.

Greta Garbo, whose face is like many Benda masks, came to Loew's State yesterday in "The Kiss," a silent photoplay with a synchronized score. The picture, which lacks a heart, has been directed with a cold, hard brilliance by Jacques Feyder, and maintains a tempo that crackles electrically from fade-in to fade-out. An unusual plot—in that there are three men vitally involved—culminates in a trial for murder, Miss Garbo being arraigned for shooting her husband with intent to kill. What actually occurs in the death room is shut from the eyes of the spectator by a substantial wooden door, so that the denouement comes as a surprise to him.

"The Kiss," last of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayor pictures in which the screen's most sensational feminine figure will remain dumb, presents her once again in the characterization of a woman desired of men, though on this occasion her faithfulness to her elderly husband is beyond reproach. Despite her avowals, he falls upon young Pierre Lassalle in a fit of jealous temper—and it is here that the door closes upon the combatants. When it opens again, the husband lies dead.

The man whom the wife secretly loves is Andre Dubail, a lawyer. It is he who pleads her case in court and wins her a verdict of not guilty. Conrad Nagel, once again cast opposite the star, plays the lawyer. The boy Pierre is acted by Lew Ayres, a comparative newcomer who acquits himself well. Anders Randolf is the husband.

Several innovations in technique distinguish the sequences. Miss Garbo's testimony, as given to detectives, is projected verbatim, so to speak. As she stumbles with her words, contradicting herself often, the aspect of the scenes changes to accord with her description. An odd use is also made of multiple dissolves. The last "shot" is typically in the French manner, but seems out of keeping with the episode it brings to a conclusion.

While "The Kiss" will please Garbo admirers, it may also disappoint because of the absence of those moments of languorous dalliance which usually set a Garbo audience to gasping sympathetically. At any rate, it reveals what I believe is one new coiffure on the lady, causing her to look like a Sardou heroine, and I can't say I like it.

Hans Kraly wrote the script from a tale by George M. Saville. Les Klicks, an imported novelty which intrigued me vastly when it was displayed on the late lamented vaudeville stage of the Orpheum, is the culminating feature of the new Fanchon and Marcon Idea, "Hot Dominoes." The girls, naturally, are dressed as dominoes, and their routine boasts several new virtues. Pall Mall, a blackface comedian, and others contribute to the performance.

Extraordinary photographs of the new sixty-eight-story Chrysler Building in New York made Fox Movietone News an event in itself. A Charley Chase comedy is also listed.

KEATON PLAYS UKE

Cliff Edwards will have to look to his laurels. Buster Keaton has been taking ukelele lessons, and will play the Hawaiian instrument in his first talkie, soon to be filmed at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. It's to be a musical comedy, directed by Edward Sedgwick under the temporary title "On the Set."

MACKAY CASE NEARS FINALE

Submission to Jury May Occur Today

Defendant Makes Motion for Dismissal

Fitts Takes Stand to Give Rebuttal Evidence

With practically all testimony given, it appeared probable yesterday that the case of Donald MacKay, chief trial deputy District Attorney during Asa Keyes's regime, will be placed in the hands of a jury in Superior Judge Wilson's court late today or tomorrow morning.

MacKay is charged with accepting a bribe of $7500 from Ben Getzoff, Spring-street tailor and admitted pay-off man, to dismiss criminal charges preferred last year against A. I. Lasker, former head of the Lasker Finance Corporation.

The former prosecutor, who occupied the witness stand the greater part of yesterday's sessions, followed up his own testimony by making a motion for a dismissal of the indictment against him on the ground of insufficient evidence to warrant a conviction.

Judge Wilson temporarily denied the motion, but withdrew his ruling when it was learned the State would introduce some rebuttal evidence. The court will give a formal ruling today on MacKay's motion.

FITTS ON STAND

The rebuttal evidence was given by Dist.-Atty. Fitts, who was called to testify relative to conversations he had had with Al McDonald and S. W. Thompson, attorneys for Getzoff, relative to the amount of money owed them by Getzoff.

McDonald told Fitts, according to the latter, that Getzoff owed him and Thompson $2000 attorneys fees after Getzoff had turned State's witness last spring.

It was brought out that Fitts had told McDonald that he and Thompson had "failed to live up to their reputation" in not getting the money from Getzoff.

"Is it because you believed they were such good collectors that you put them in charge of collecting your campaign funds?" asked Defense Attorney Richard Cantillon.

ANSWERS QUESTION

Although Chief Deputy District-Attorney Stewart vigorously objected to the question, Fitts himself insisted that he be allowed to answer it.

"McDonald and Thompson never collected a cent for me in my life," said Fitts. "I have known them for years. Thompson and I were students together at Manual Arts High School and members of the same debating team."

MacKay, called to the witness stand during the morning session, took up his story where it had been interrupted by adjournment Tuesday.

He denied ever receiving anything but a suit of clothes from Getzoff, and said Getzoff had paid for the suit over his objections. MacKay, who previously had told how he rose from a job as carpenter to an executive position in the District Attorney's office, declared he asked the dismissal of the Lasker cases solely because he was of the opinion, after studying the evidence, that the State could not hope for a conviction.

MAINTAINS OPINION

Under cross-examination by Dep. Dist.-Atty. William McKay, the former prosecutor said he still maintained that opinion as a lawyer, in spite of the fact that Lasker since has been convicted.

"It was purely a matter of legal opinion such as any deputy is called upon to make in any case under his supervision," said MacKay. "As a lawyer I was convinced, and still am, that the evidence in those cases did not warrant prosecution nor conviction."

MacKay said he discussed the cases with Keyes, then District Attorney, before asking for their dismissal. While he said he received no formal instructions from Keyes, he declared the latter was also of the opinion that the Lasker cases should be dismissed.

Both State and defense will rest today after some documentary evidence is introduced by stipulation.

Plane Time to Mexico City Cut

Two-day flying time instead of three between San Diego and Mexico City was announced effective today by Thomas E. Morgan, general manager of Pickwick Latin-American Airways.

The new schedule provides for only one overnight stop at Los Mochis, Sinaloa, and elimination of overnight stays at Nogales, Ariz., and Mazatlan. When the days become longer, Morgan stated, the overnight stop at San Diego also will be cut off the schedule and start of the two-day flight to the Mexican capital will be made from Grand Central Air Terminal, Glendale.

During the short-day season Pickwick planes will leave Grand Central at 3:30 p.m. on Sundays, Tuesdays and Thursdays, remain at San Diego overnight and take off for Mexico City at 6:05 a.m. on the days following.

The new schedule does not affect the present eight-hour runs between Mexico City, Guatemala City and San Salvador, Morgan said.

Haberdasher's Store Held Up

An armed bandit held up Samuel Cook in his men's furnishings store at 306 South Spring street shortly after 8 a.m. yesterday and robbed him of the contents of his cash register.

"He made me walk to the rear of my store," Cook told police, "with a big revolver in his hand. And then he told me to stay there for ten minutes or he would plug me. He didn't get much as I only had about $5 in change in the cash register."

By the time officers arrived in response to Cook's summons on the telephone the bandit had vanished.

COUNCIL PLANS SIGNALS' TEST

Fifteen Intersections Will Get Installations

Financing to be Through Traffic Fines Fund

City Attorney Instructed to Draw Up Contract

A resolution introduced in Council yesterday by Councilman Holland calls for the purchase by the city from the Acme Traffic Signal Company of pedestrian crossing signals for fifteen intersections. The signals cost $650 an intersection, making a total outlay of $9750.

The resolution was referred to the Traffic and Lighting Committee and Finance Committee. The money is to come from the traffic fines fund. City Attorney Werner is instructed to draw up the contract.

It is stated that the fifteen intersections have been checked by the Traffic Division and approved by the Traffic and Lighting Committee. The resolution declares that four intersections now are equipped with these pedestrian signals, two of them for nearly a year, and the experiment appears to be satisfactory.

The list of locations, which is tentative, is as follows:

Sunset Boulevard and Coronado street.

Pasadena avenue and Avenue 43.

Avenue 64 and Avenue 50.

Annandale Boulevard and Avenue 62.

Vernon and McKinley avenues, Slauson and Budlong avenues.

Fifth street and Western avenue.

First and Chicago streets.

Glendale Boulevard and Alessandro street.

San Fernando Road and Granada street.

Forty-eighth street and Vermont avenue.

Twenty-fifth street and Magnolia avenue.

Publicity Chief Appointed for Olympic Games

Marking the beginning of a world-wide publicity campaign to call the attention of every nation to the forthcoming Olympic Games, to be held in Los Angeles in 1932, announcement was made yesterday of the appointment of W. M. Creakbaum as manager of the news bureau of the Olympic Committee.

Creakbaum's appointment was made known by Zack Farmer, secretary-manager of the committee, who said that the appointment was made after consideration of several candidates from this and in other cities.

For the past six years, Creakbaum has served as publicity director of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. Prior to joining the chamber staff, he was engaged in newspaper work for ten years.

IMPROVEMENTS ADVANCED

The ordinances of intention for the improvement of Regina Court at Eighty-seventh street and for the sewering of Motor avenue, Forrester Drive and Manning avenue were adopted yesterday by Council. The ordinances were set for hearing January 10.

HAGEN MEETS DIEGEL IN SEMIFINALS TODAY

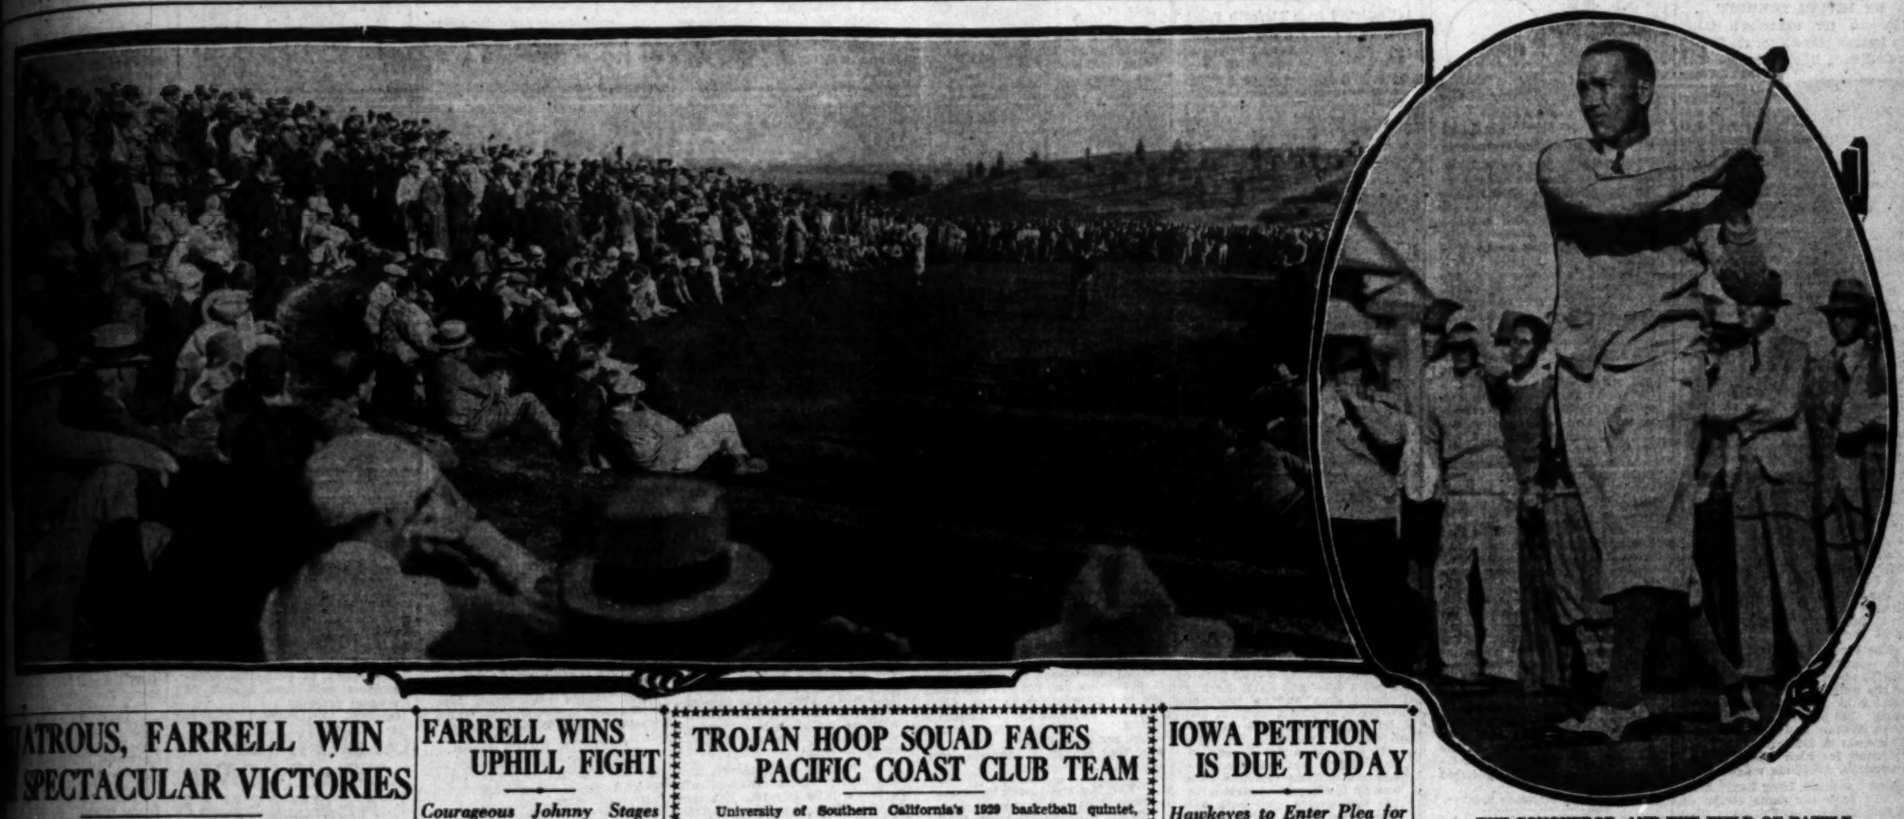
Los Angeles Times

FRIDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 6, 1929.



THE CONQUEROR, AND THE FIELD OF BATTLE

Here is Leo Diegel, defending national professional champion, who yesterday advanced to the semifinals of the P.G.A. tournament at the Hillcrest Country Club by defeating Gene Sarazen, former national open champion, 3 and 2. A panorama of the eighteenth hole, where Sarazen missed a short putt to be 3 down after the morning round, is shown here with Gene just stroking the fatal putt. Several thousands of Southern California golf fans gathered at the finish hole to witness the brilliant quarter-final matches. Diegel faces Walter Hagen, five times a P.G.A. champion, and present British open title-holder, today in what promises to be one of the greatest matches of the entire championship. In the upper bracket, Johnny Farrell meets Al Watrous. The tournament winds up tomorrow when the finalists clash over thirty-six holes.

Diegel, with lopsided wins in the first two rounds, was just as relentless as "The Haig" and effectively eliminated Gene Sarazen, former national open and P.G.A. champion, 3 and 2.

If you would take our tip, don't pass up Farrell, the 1928 national open champion, who played championship golf yesterday to eliminate Craig Wood of New Jersey, 1 up, on the thirty-seventh hole.

HILLCREST COUNTRY CLUB, Dec. 5.—Johnny Farrell, former open champion, Metropolitan Irishman, wearing brilliant green knickers and much admired by many girls who work in the moving pictures, deserves to have this chapter of the story of the Professional Golfers' Association championship devoted to him and his pluck.

Craig Wood of New Jersey, who stopped Horton Smith in round one here, and Neil Christian, a very tough opponent from the Northwest, in the second round appeared to have Farrell tucked away when he was leading, 3 up, with five holes to play. But Johnny put on a great finish, to win the fourteenth, fifteenth and seventeenth holes in birdies and take the match at the first extra hole with another birdie.

Johnny's smooth-working putter never clicked better than coming down the home stretch against Wood. Even after he had squared the game at the seventeenth Johnny got himself into a bad fix at the home hole only to pull out of it with a nice putt to keep the match alive.

At the thirty-seventh hole, Wood, who is the longest hitter here this winter, was not more than thirty yards from the green. He outhit Johnny by sixty yards off the tee. Farrell played a high mashie niblick to within ten feet of the pin and then Wood flubbed his second, the ball popping up in the air and stopping just short of the green.

Wood played up to within two feet of the hole, but Johnny knocked his putt in to win the match and go in the semifinals.

TROJAN HOOP SQUAD FACES PACIFIC COAST CLUB TEAM

University of Southern California's 1929 basketball quintet, after three weeks of practice under Coach Sam Barry, swings into action tonight against the strong Pacific Coast Club of Long Beach at the Shrine Auditorium, where a basketball pavilion has been erected on the huge stage.

When Barry issued the call for the opening of practice in the latter part of November, eight of ten lettermen from last year's squad answered. The only two monogram winners missing from this year's quintet are Capt. Lloyd Thomas, who was graduated last June, and Jesse Mortensen, all-Pacific Coast center, who is still playing football.

The eight letter winners who turned out for practice on the opening day and who will form the nucleus for the 1929 squad are Capt. Johnny Lehners, who is playing his third year as a regular guard on the team; Ray Harris and Jim Truher, guards; Frank Smith, center, and Gordon Boelter, Henry Cano, Aaron Nibley and Herman Hirdler, forwards.

Among the nonlettermen making strong bids are Wilbur Caldwell, former Phoenix Junior College star, who will probably be on the starting line-up tonight at guard; Jack Gardner, from the freshman team, who has displaced one of last season's lettermen at forward; William Pierce from the ineligibles, who has broken into the first string at forward; Roderick "Moose" Thompson, husky guard, and Henry Walbot, center from last year's varsity reserves.

POLO AWAITS ITS CUE

Southern California Gets Pacific Coast Open Championships; Argentine Four Coming

BY FRANK ROCHE

Polo is standing in the wings awaiting its cue to advance into the center of the Southern California sports picture. Midwick Country Club officials served notice yesterday that they were ready to start the ball rolling shortly after the first of the year.

Two important announcements were made in connection with coming polo program, which promises to be the most colorful ever staged in the Southland. They are:

First: The Pacific Coast open championships will be staged at the Midwick Country Club from January 26 to February 9.

Second: The high-goal tournaments will be international affairs. Argentina is sending a crack twenty-four goal team here for the open championships. Fifty-five Argentine ponies, the pick of their kind in South American continent, arrive here next Thursday.

Hawkeyes to Enter Plea for Reinstatement

Faculty Committee Will Decide on Status

Opinions Favor Acceptance in Good Standing

CHICAGO, Dec. 5. (AP)—The University of Iowa, banned, effective January 1, from engaging Western Conference teams in further athletic competition, will make its plea for reinstatement tomorrow.

The faculty committee of the conference will decide whether the Hawkeyes, charged with proselyting and subsidizing athletes, have corrected these asserted athletic abuses, and are now fit to carry on athletic competition, with the other nine universities comprising the Big Ten.

The meeting tomorrow night is expected to bring to a close the most sensational upheaval in the history of the conferences. The final outcome was in doubt tonight, but the general impression prevails that when Iowa presents its plea, the faculty committee may decide the Hawkeyes have done everything in their power to clean house, and will accordingly act to reinstate them.

John L. Griffith, Big Ten athletic commissioner, thinks Iowa has an even chance of being restored to good standing but he has no voice in the matter. The decision rests in the hands of the members of the

Howard Jones Building New Offensive Formations for Intersectional Game With Carnegie Tech

BY BRAVEN DYER

Having recovered from the excitement attendant to being named as the West's representative in the annual New Year's Day game, Southern California's Trojans buckled down to an afternoon of honest toil at Bovard Field yesterday afternoon. Howard Jones has given orders to forget all about the Rose Bowl game until after Carnegie Tech has been encountered one week from Saturday. Nothing like keeping your eye on the ball in this football racket, and Jones doesn't want his boys to get peering further than their immediate objective—which happens to be the Tartars.

The Trojan mentor has revamped his offense slightly and the new formations include some razzle-dazzle plays that ought to keep the easterners hopping. Jones, as a rule, sticks pretty close to straight stuff, but some of these new formations are eye-openers for fair.

GETTING BETTER

With Aubrey Devine and Morley Drury lending a hand, the Spartans spend each afternoon running through Carnegie Tech formations, first against the varsity and then for the benefit of the second string. The easterners were not so hot offensively early in the season, due to the loss of many stars from last year's outfit, but they have come along rapidly as was shown in their game with New York "U." Chick Meehan's team was a 5-to-1 favorite to cop this contest, but Carnegie Tech knocked the props out from under the Gothamites in short order.

After all, Carnegie Tech has lost but two games, 7 to 0 to Notre Dame and 34 to 13 to Pittsburgh. Southern California has also dropped a pair, one to the Irish and the other to California. No question in my mind but what Pittsburgh is stronger than California,

SERAPHS BUY MOORE, SELL PLITT, ROBERTS AND JONES

BY BOB RAY

Breaking the silence that had enveloped them since they departed from Los Angeles a week ago, Jack Lelivelt and Oscar Reichow, manager and business manager, respectively, of the ambitious Angels, announced yesterday from Chattanooga that the Seraphs had secured Outfielder Johnny Moore on option from the Cubs and disposed of three players to the Reading club.

The Cherubs who have transferred their allegiance to the Wrigley standard from Los Angeles to Reading, the gum magnate's International League outfit, are Pitchers Red Roberts and Deacon Plitt and Infielder Bobby Jones. The deal between Reading and the Angels was a strictly cash affair, it being one of those things wherein Mr. Wrigley shifts some of his money from his right to the left pocket, or maybe vice versa.

Official Line-ups for Southern California High School Football Play-off Announ

INJURIES MISS PREP GRIDDERS

Grigsby of Santa Barbara Only One Hurt

Spartan Line to Average 158 Pounds

Finals May be Played in Northern City

BY IRVING ECKHOFF

Line-ups for tomorrow's C.I.F. prep football play-off for the Southern California title were announced last night. Practically each one of the four elevens, Huntington Park and Long Beach who meet at Wrigley Field, and Santa Barbara and Fullerton who will clash on the Indians' gridiron, will put their strongest teams on the field tomorrow.

All four elevens wound up training today without any serious injuries. The only regular who may not start is Al Grigsby, Santa Barbara's sensational halfback. Grigsby has a bad shoulder and Pete Poole, Tornado trainer, claims that if the wound fails to respond to treatment today, Grigsby will sit on the sidelines. Cota will start the game in his place.

Both the Spartans and the Jackrabbits are in great shape and Wrigley Field should be the scene of a wild battle tomorrow. Coach Walter Herreid's eleven will line up like this tomorrow. Pechuis and Baker, ends; Schultz and Hiegold, tackles; Boyer and Williams, guards. Capt. Sloth will start at center. In the Spartan backfield Brazil Allen will call signals, with Ollie Arbelbide at full and Wilton Wilton and Cox at the halves.

The Parkers' line will average 158 pounds, while the backfield will be about 155. However, most of the weight in the backfield is carried by Brazil Allen, mammoth 198-pound quarterback. Both Wilton and Cox tip the Fairbanks at 132, which is pretty small for high school backs nowadays. Arbelbide weighs 158.

Orian Landreth, Long Beach mentor, will have the same eleven on the field that ruined Pasadena, 21-0, in the final Coast League game two weeks ago. Fuhrer and Smith will start at ends; Tarry and Pitts at the tackles; Rapp and Wilcox at guards and Vance at center.

"Mutt" Olson will call signals, with Parks at fullback. Capt. Norman "Red" Franklin and Stroey will hold the halfback positions.

In the Fullerton game, Carpenter and Stull will hold down the end jobs for the Indians; Eisenstat and Jones will start at tackles; Roberts and Del Gorde at guards, and Rochermichael at center. Tryon, McVeight, Vaughan and McElheny will compose the Fullerton backfield.

Coach Clarence Schutte's Santa Barbara eleven will have Hayward and Lane at ends; Tortillini and Capt. Mike Dimas at tackles; Balkwell and Funke at guards and Stone at center. Johnny Bechrich will start at quarter, Eddie King at full and Peacock at one half and either Grigsby or Cota at the other.

If the Tornado beats Fullerton as it is expected to do tomorrow and if a local site for the finals is not available, Coach Schutte will try to have the finals staged in Santa Barbara. The field there is capable of holding in the neighborhood of 20,000.

DALE ROBINSON WINS OXY TENNIS TOURNEY

Dale Robinson, captain of the Occidental College tennis team, won the championship of the school yesterday afternoon by defeating Mary Barbara Taylor, co-ed, in the finals of the tournament. The Tiger net-squad leader had no difficulty in subduing the co-ed tennis star, winning straight sets on the Occidental courts, 6-0, 6-1.

Methods Vary for Pitching to the Green

BY SOL METZGER

Why does Jock Hutchison take the ball on the downswing when pitching and Helen Hicks meet it at the lowest are of her through swing on the same shot? Looks like here is a case of confusion for the average golfer. Actually there is not. Both methods may be used to pitch.

Also Jock's system first. It's sketched in the upper panel. Jock's mashie meets the ball as it is coming down because he plays it from a point back of the line running out from his left shoulder. The left shoulder is the center of the arc of the golf swing. Blade meets ball at "A" and then continues on through, taking turf. Naturally this down force first pushes the ball against the turf. It is squeezed between mashie face and turf and then flies on its way with tremendous backspin, a spin that will make it bite and and hold the green near where it falls.

Helen's system differs in that her mashie picks the ball clean from the turf. She actually knocks the legs out from under it. This cutting of her club under the ball also imparts backspin, but not so much as the squeeze that Hutchison's method imparts. In short, Jock pitches for the pin. Helen short of it to allow for a short run, due to her ball not having quite as much bite. Tomorrow—another point about mashie play.

faculty committee, which includes one representative from the faculty of each institution. A majority vote of six is needed to restore Iowa to good standing.

The University of Iowa has thoroughly and effectively "cleaned house," according to its 4500-word petition. The report takes up each specific charge lodged against the institution's athletic policy, when it was suspended last May.

Some of the charges are admitted—others are denied, but all things contrary to Big Ten practice have been corrected, the petition states.

JOHNNY LAYTON LEADS COCHRAN

NEW YORK, Dec. 5. (AP)—Johnny Layton of St. Louis was leading Welker Cochran of Hollywood by 89 points at the end of the eighth block of their 600-point three-cushion billiards match here tonight. The score was: Layton, 400; Cochrane, 311. Layton has won all of the eight blocks. Four more are yet to be played.

The St. Louis star took both of today's blocks. This afternoon the score was 50 to 41 in fifty-two innings. Tonight the tally was 50 to 28 in forty-seven innings. Layton had high runs of seven and six during the day. Cochran's best clusters were five and four.

FENCING TEAMS TO MIX TONIGHT

A particularly heavy list of entrants from the Los Angeles Athletic Club is expected to head the fencing contingent which will be assembled in the Hollywood Athletic Club tonight for the first event of the winter season, the Southern California novice foils championship for the Paul King trophy. The meet is set for 8 p.m., with entries received until 7:45 p.m.

DE PAUL ARRIVES TODAY

Chicago Pigskinners Here for Struggle With Firemen Eleven Tomorrow

Twenty-seven football players from De Paul University of Chicago were scheduled to arrive here this morning for their game tomorrow afternoon in the Coliseum against the Los Angeles Fire Department eleven. The De Paul contingent, headed by Coach Eddie Anderson, former all-American end from Notre Dame, will take a short workout this afternoon lowing its 19-to-0 victory over St. John's at New York.

in the Coliseum. The squad started for the Coast last Sunday fol-

Anderson has a husky squad to pit against Coach Bill Blewett's Firemen, the De Paul line being especially strong from tackle to tackle. Anderson also has two classy ball carriers who are expected to make things miserable for the Firemen, Johnson, a big fullback, and Byers, speedy halfback, being the pair.

Besides shining on the offense, Johnson is the best of them all on defense. Against Detroit University Johnson's defensive work enabled De Paul to play their opponents a scoreless tie during the first half, and after he was injured at the start of the third period Detroit scored four touchdowns, the contest finally winding up 27 to 7 for Detroit.

Anderson's squad is expected to line up tomorrow with O'Connor and Baldenstle, ends; Finnegan and Stotts, tackles; Upton and McClane, guards; Driscoll, center; Harrington, quarterback; Byers and Capt. Pheland, halfbacks, and Johnson, fullback.

Coach Bill Blewett's squad put the finishing touches on their work yesterday, going through a short workout after Wednesday's hard scrimmage. With the exception of Jimmy Dyer, star halfback, who is out with an injured hip, the fire department team is in first-class condition.

The program tomorrow will start at 1:45, with the San Pedro and Hollywood divisions of the fire department opening the show with a punkball game. Between halves a regulation grid game will be held between two kid teams, the players 11 years of age or younger. The main event is scheduled to start at 2:15.

HAGEN MEETS DIEGEL TODAY

Bitter Battle Expected in Semifinal Match

Watrous, Farrell Capture Sparkling Wins

Johnny Trims Craig Wood on Thirty-seventh Hole

once more, and his magnificent comeback after being 3 down to Wood going to the thirty-second hole goes down as one of the classic feats of the tournament.

No less brilliant was the victory of Watrous over Al Espinosa, 2 up, on the thirty-sixth green. One down at the halfway mark, Watrous evened the count at the twenty-seventh hole, caught Espinosa at the thirty-second hole, and won the last hole to cinch the match.

The story of Farrell's win was worth chronicling, and we present it herewith:

A stymie cost Johnny the thirty-first hole, when his attempted chip shot skidded over the cup, and he found himself 3 down and 5 to go. A birdie 4 on the long thirty-second hole, and a ten-foot putt for another birdie on the thirty-third hole, and Farrell found himself only 1 down with a fighting chance. They halved the thirty-fourth with pars, and Farrell was still 1 down and 2 to go.

BAGS BIRDIE

It looked like curtains for Johnny when he hooked into the trap on the thirty-fifth hole, but the fortunes of golf smiled on the former national open champion when he chipped dead to the pin for a five-foot putt and a birdie 3 to win the hole, thus squaring the match.

Johnny's habitual smile grew wider when he halved the thirty-sixth hole after taking four strokes to get on the green. Wood missed his putt after being on in 3, and they went to the thirty-seventh hole.

With his confidence restored, Farrell canned a fifteen-foot putt on the extra hole just as if he knew it would drop all the time, and took the hole with a birdie 3, when Wood chipped short and was three feet over the can with his putt.

It was tough for Wood to lose, and it was fine for Farrell to win. These two have been among the popular entrants in the tournament, and both are sportsmen of the highest type. Hagen's win over Manero can be summed up in just a few words. Manero, a veteran of many major metropolitan tournaments, simply cracked under the pressure of playing against "The Haig's" machine-like golf.

MANERO CRACKS

There was no doubt that Tony was licked when he missed a two-foot putt at the ninth hole to go 2 down, and another of the same length on the eighteenth, making him 3 down. Tense as a concrete pillar, Tony simply pushed his putts off line.

The match was practically over at the twenty-first hole, when Hagen pushed one up by the pin, while Manero was in the trap and conceded the hole after taking three to get on the green.

At the twenty-seventh hole, when 6 up, Hagen sent for his overcoat, and finished under wraps.

Sarazen never had a chance with Diegel. Gene won the second hole, Leo evened the count on the fifth, and then was never headed. Shooting par golf, Diegel was 7 up at the turn, and 2 up a the twenty-seventh.

Bob Harlow, Hagen's manager, was telling us yesterday that Walter made the greatest putt of his career against Leo in the semi-finals of the National P.G.A. played over Olympia Fields in 1925, and this is the way it happened:

DEFEATS DIEGEL

Hagen was 3 down and 4 to go, but won the next two holes. At the thirty-fifth, a tricky, downhill green, "The Haig" was on in two, while Diegel hooked into a ditch and was short to the edge of the green where he lay three. But Diegel holed his thirty-foot uphill putt, and left Hagen with a twenty-five-foot curling putt to win—and Hagen holed it. The match went to the thirty-seventh hole, where Hagen won. Walter then disposed of Bill Mehlhorn in the finals.

Diegel came back for more the following year, losing to Hagen in the finals at Salisbury, 4 and 3.

Taking the performances of the two stars into consideration over the past week, Diegel appears to have the edge, but Hagen has been pointing for Leo, and 'most anything can happen, although we rather string with "The Haig."

The matches this morning start at 9:30 and 10 a.m., Farrell and Watrous starting the day, followed by Hagen and Diegel. The afternoon rounds begin at 1 and 1:30 p.m.

BRUIN PIGSKIN LEADER OUT FOR CAGE SPORT

Carl Brown, star tackle and captain of the University of California at Los Angeles football team this past grid season, is going out for basketball at the Bruin institution, now that his college pigskin career is a thing of the past. Brown, who played basketball in high school and no football, is returning to his first sport, and will attempt to find a place on Coach Caddy Works's cage team.

The Westwood basketeers will meet their first test of the season tonight when they tangle with the Los Angeles Elks' Club quintet in a practice scrimmage on the floor of the University High School gymnasium in Sawtelle.

MAX PELZ TO TEST CASANOVA'S PUNCH

The expert eyes of more than 100 fellow-boxers will watch the campaign of Sandy Garrison Casanova, 19-year-old Scotch-Mexican, in his battle with the dangerous punching German middleweight, Max Pelz, tomorrow night at the Main-street Athletic Club. The "boys" feel that Pelz will provide the first real test for Casanova, who is regarded by many as championship material.

Leo Hernandes and Phil Blood, welterweights, meet in the other half of the double wind-up, with four other bouts also listed.

GOLFERS PROVE "GOOD SPORTS"

Defeated Professionals Turn Out to Cheer for Remaining Contestants in Title Tournament; Feminine Friends Fail to Enthuse Over Long-Distance Hikes

BY LOUIS V. BARRY

No one can say that these golf professionals aren't topnotch good sports when it comes to being defeated. Give them until the next morning to get their "civvies" in order and they are back again ready to give the survivors a glad hand and a well wishing.

And as though they hadn't had enough exercise playing their own matches, they continue to tour the course with the rest of the crowd. Undoubtedly they are used to it and don't mind, but we have been wondering how the young lady companions feel about it. Several of the eliminated pros were out with wife, sweetheart, sister, or friend, as the case might be and it seemed that the proper caper was for them to appear just as enthusiastic about hiking as their escorts. We'll bet some of them wished they were past the impression-making period and could renege.

Harry Cooper was out to give the boys a hand. With a "howdy" for all his friends he let it be generally understood there were no hard feelings. Well, not so very hard, at any rate.

Seems that this prima donna stuff isn't limited to the theater by any means. For three days in a row Walter Hagen has been tardy at the first tee, and for two days in a row Johnny Farrell has kept the afternoon crowd standing first on one foot and then the other at the first tee. And the sun is pretty hot these days.

Also when it comes to taking pictures the boys are agreeable with a sort of "well I guess it's one of the inevitable curses of this game" agreeableness. That is, the veterans are inclined to look upon cameramen as unnecessary evils. The ennui of public life has not yet overtaken the less experienced players. They still seem to find a bit of novelty in seeing the camera snappers crowd about for their photos. They'll get over that though, if they stay with the game.

This is a great week for newspaper men and "coppers." They all get in free—you understand, and 'twould seem that everyone who has been connected with a paper, be that connection ever so remote, is there in all his glory with a yellow ribbon fluttering valiantly in the breeze. And maybe a pencil or two in his pocket to complete the picture.

Motor cops were there without their speedcycles. A great temptation to make the most of the opportunity but there we were without a car. That's the irony of life!

Johnny Weissmuller, the "human fish," was among those present, as was Duke Kahanamoku, who strolled about by himself most of the time, stopping now and then to greet a friend. He seemed genuinely interested in the prowess of the various players. Johnny, on the other hand, was inclined to do a bit of subdued clowning about with Charley Farrell, who was present with Janet Gaynor to act as master of ceremonies at the start of the afternoon round.

That's a new one! A master of ceremonies at a golf tournament. This section of the country is going master of ceremonies mad. Nothing is complete these days without a M.C. (or is it just M.C.?)

Why is it, that, no matter what the occasion, be it winter, summer, spring or fall—golf, tennis, dominoes or checkers, there is always that person who waits until just the right moment, when the eyes of the crowd are on some particularly outstanding champion, and then rushes out with an "Hello, Bill," and then again, "Oh, Bill!" as Bill, who is perhaps moving about, fails to heed him. Presently Bill must turn, and being used to such things, Bill grasps the proffered hand and says, "Hello, there! Hya."

And then the smug superior smile which lodges on the face of the pest as he returns to his place in the sidelines! Sure, he and Bill are great friends. What he fails to tell you is that usually Bill knows nothing about it.

There's one of these guys out at Hillcrest this week—maybe more, and what we'd like to do is form a throttling society and help initiate him into it.

Irving Heilman had a bird's-eye view of the situation yesterday from the roof of the caddy house. He was up there, pipe and all, taking in the plays and players. But, of course, the time inevitably came when he had to climb down and join the rest of the throng and do a bit of hoofing about.

Tommy Armour, accompanied by Mrs. Armour, was gallerying yesterday. Tommy has been ill and his medico wouldn't permit him to play in the tournament. This was a blow to the camera snappers, who have always been able to make such stunning portraits of Tommy getting ready to shoot.

Some of these other players have been hopping. Gene Sarazen, looking like a little brownie, just steps up and takes a swing and that's all there is to it. It's all over before you are aware he has started.

This Craig Wood was playing hot golf yesterday. And while we think of it, we have an idea he is a friend of some of these collar-ad people. He is the image of that curly-haired blond Adonis, who displays, via the billboard, what the handsome men are wearing in the way of neckwear.

Incidentally, he is one of the coolest customers we have had the pleasure of watching. Poised and confident in a quiet way, he, too, just steps up and knocks 'em out.

Note: Johnny Farrell's woods all have little green flannel covers on them.

S.C. Harriers Gallop Today in Long Race

Coach Dean Cromwell will fire the opening gun of the Trojan track season this afternoon when he sends a flock of leather-lunged athletes over a two-mile course in the annual interclass cross-country event.

The frosh are expected to score an easy victory, while Clif Halstead of the sophomores and Dwight Humphrey of the yearlings are expected to battle it out for individual honors.

The first-year team includes Humphrey, a former Franklin star, who is in the best condition of any of the entrants; Earl Callahan, ex-Toiler hero; Arro Crossley of Los Angeles High, and James Tarver of Loyola.

Halstead leads the sophomore array of talent with Vic Fitzmaurice the leading junior. Seniors, who are not in training, and who will not run, include Warren Woodruff, Ellsworth Patterson, Lee Hansen, Bob Swede and Chris Daniels, which leaves the fourth-year squad little but its reputation to run on. The affair will be held at George Washington High School under the direction of BonHomme Cahn, student manager.

MILITARY SCHOOL SEEKING TITLE

The Black-Foxe Military School is starting in early to grab a championship for itself this season among the other cadet institutions in the basketball field. The cadets are getting together two full teams. One of them will be the varsity five, with an average weight of 143 pounds, while the other quintet will play at an average weight of 135 pounds.

Fred Vesel, who coached the football squad during the recent season, will be head coach of the basketball teams with Thor J. Severson as his chief assistant. A large number of the cadets are making a try for the basket battle field, and Veisel says he expects to have two high-class teams representing the Black-Foxe school.

A schedule is now being arranged with various military institutes of Los Angeles, and its immediate environs.

ST. MARY'S DISBANDS

OAKLAND, Dec. 5. (AP)—With the University of Southern California selected to represent the west in the annual Rose Bowl game at Pasadena and with Pittsburgh declining the invitation to play a post-season game at Kezar Stadium, San Francisco, the board of athletic control of St. Mary's College today decided to call the season ended and enter into no further negotiations.

St. Mary's several days ago announced its undefeated team would accept an invitation to play at Pasadena, if tendered, but selection of U.S.C. ended this possibility for a post-season contest.

CANZONERI MAY COME TO COAST

Olympic Wants Tony to Box Here in Three Bouts

Junior Lightweight Tourney is Plan of Wadhams

Goldie Hess Meeting Tough Scrapper in Payne

In search of new faces, the Olympic yesterday was seeking the services of Tony Canzoneri to fit into the cycle of junior lightweight eliminations for early next year. Canzoneri can be gotten for a guarantee of $3000.

Matchmaker Wad Wadhams is willing to book the tough little scrapper if he can get him for three fights instead of one. This is due to the policy of fans liking to see any newcomer in action before going box office crazy.

Cecil Payne, who boxes Goldie Hess at the Olympic Tuesday night, has fought Canzoneri. The Louisville boy dropped the decision and Tony has so far refused him a rematch.

FIGHTS LIKE TONY

Payne fights like Canzoneri, according to boxing men who have watched both of them in action. Young Cecil is a two-handed fighter, making his offense his defense.

When Kid Francis came to this country from Paris his first match was with Payne. The Louisville boy held him to a draw.

The record of Payne stands out since he knocked out Babe Ruth, the latter holding decisions over Bud Taylor and Eddie Shea. He held Chick Suggs to a draw when Suggs was on his great winning streak two years ago.

Three weeks ago Payne defeated Bushy Graham in a bitterly fought bout which Jack Dempsey refereed and which sold out the Louisville arena.

The Olympic has made more money the last year with the featherweights and junior lightweights than any other class.

At present besides Payne and Hess, Joey Sangor and Santiago Zorilla are here. Matchmaker Wad Wadhams is angling for Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion, for an overweight contest, as well as Canzoneri.

The winner of the Hess-Payne bout will likely take the victor of the Sangor-Zorilla match and the survivor get Canzoneri or Tod Morgan, who at present is booked into New York with Benny Bass for the 20th inst. Morgan is to get $35,000.

TROJAN ELEVEN HARD AT WORK

which means that Carnegie Tech won't be any cinch for the Trojans by a long shot.

A good defense is generally the first aim of coaches during the early part of the year. Jones seems to get his teams rolling more quickly than most mentors and early in the year — say a month ago, there was no reason for thinking that Carnegie Tech would beat the Trojans. But a lot of touchdowns have gone over the goal line since then and things have changed, what with upsets all around the country. You can't count Carnegie Tech out by a long shot, although it is practically a foregone conclusion that Troy will be a slight favorite when the game rolls around.

Jones was using Jim Musick and Russ Saunders together again last night, although he plans to employ Jim with Duffield and Russ with Galus Shaver in order to protect the kicking department. But Musick has been so consistently good all year that he is bound to see plenty of service against the Tartans. Jim was a riot against Washington, he played great ball against Notre Dame and was ripping Washington State to pieces when the half ended a week ago.

Cecil Hoff is a certainty to start at right tackle following his fine exhibition against the Cougars. Bob Hall, with his superior weight, will come in handy against the bulky easterners.

STEPONOVICH READY

Tony Steponovich, who has been practically useless since the Washington game almost two months ago, stated last night that he was once more ready to take his place at end. Perhaps the New Year's announcement had something to do with Tony's display of enthusiasm. He will be welcome for there are few better ends on the Coast than Tony when he's right.

Jones plans to work his men again today, but will probably lay off tomorrow or else have a short morning practice. Next week they will be at it hot and heavy from Monday through Thursday.

VAN FLEET-DURKEES COP ICE HOCKEY TILT

With Curly Ware, goalie, playing a star game, the Van Fleet and Durkee ice-hockey team scored a 5-to-3 victory over the Shell Oilers at the Palais de Glace last night. Ware made a number of sensational saves.

Palfrey, Mulligan and the three Proulx brothers played nice hockey for the victors. Van Fleet and Durkees are now only one point behind the league-leading Shell Oilers.

Price's Team Scores From All Angles

BY SOL METZGER

"Nibs" Price's California fives have long been masters of the all-important basketball fundamental—caging the ball. That's why they have long been supreme on the Pacific Coast. They spend much of their time all season in perfecting themselves in scoring by both long and short shots from all angles.

Naturally they are perfection itself in the one-hand short shot discussed yesterday, as most of them are tall, rangy men, ideal types for this game. In addition, they drop in an unusual number of two-hand chest shots from fifteen to thirty feet away, a shot used when the player with the ball cannot pass to a team-mate or advance it further himself. It used to be that coaches frowned on these long shots. Today they are very much in vogue. The reason is that basketball has become a highly specialized sport, the varsity players practicing their shots for months before the season begins.

Another shot California uses is the cross body two-hand shot. It's launched from the corner, the spot where the defense always seeks to drive the attack. Joey Schaaf, Penn's scoring ace last year, had this shot down to perfection. Tomorrow we'll take a look at modern defense.

OLD-TIMER TO SECOND NEBRASKAN

Joe Stecher to Dispense With Services of Anton for Sonnenberg Bout

Joe Stecher, the big Nebraskan, who will clash with "Dynamite" Gus Sonnenberg, world's mat king, in a finish title wrestling bout at the Olympic Wednesday night, has dispensed with the services of his brother manager, Anton, who has piloted him into the championship three different times, according to reports current in local mat circles.

Stecher is said to have signed an old-timer who trained with Frank Gotch for a long time, and later developed into one of the greatest grapplers of his weight, to handle him for this match.

While in the north Stecher is reported to have received a great deal of instruction and help from the old-timer. He is said to have given the challenger many suggestions on various holds and tricks to use on the champion, many of them having been used by Gotch to win some of his most important battles.

The Stecher brothers have been together since 1913, when Anton, then a great middleweight, quit wrestling to manage his younger brother, who showed great possibilities of developing into a champion. He has managed and seconded Joe in all of his matches since that time. If the reports from the Northwest are correct, this will be the first time that these two have split before a championship match since Joe first won the title in 1916.

Dick Daviscourt and "Wild Bill" Shaw of Salt Lake City, both roughers and headlock experts, will clash in the special event of this card.

Sheiks Trim Oilers, 3-2

"Speed" Vokes enabled the Oakland Sheiks to maintain their position at the top of the California Professional Ice Hockey League last night, when his goal in an extra period gave the visitors a 3-to-2 victory over the Los Angeles Richfield crew.

Richfield opened the scoring in the first period, when Berge Irving, sterling defense player, tallied. Phil Stevens tied it up for Oakland at the start of the second period, taking a rebound off the backboard from the stick of Bud Cook, and slashing it past the Richfield goalie. "Chuck" Bond, Oiler forward, took a pass from Guy Poole a couple of minutes later to put Richfield in the lead again.

Giroux scored the only goal of the third period, but it was enough to knot the count aga'n, and after a minute and a half of play in the overtime chapter, Vokes sank the winning goal.

SNELL WINS NOD IN PASADENA GO

Doc Snell, the well-known Tacoma druggist, and Dud Eades, Pasadena's favorite son, battled through ten furious rounds at the Pasadena arena last night, with Snell getting a well-earned decision in a close, fast fight. Jack Hayward garnered another knockout when he stopped Sailor Ted Fluder in the first round of the scheduled six-round semifinal. Peter Jackson won over Johnny Martinez. Society Red Gillette outpointed Jack Clark and Peter Pina defeated Eddie Rubio in the other bouts.

Loyola Five Prepares for Busy Season

With a group of thirty-five prospects, Coach Bill Driver of Loyola University opened his initial basketball practice last night, at which time his chances for a successful season seem to be very bright as only four veterans graduated from a group of green squad men. However, Coach Driver will have to build his team from a group of green squad men.

However, the Lion mentor is confident that he will be able to develop a strong squad from his present material. Driver is one of the best basketball coaches on the Coast, having known all over for the fine Cal Aggies championship five he has produced. With Bill's record the Lions should present one of their strongest squads this year.

The returning veterans are Bernie Donahue, Archie [illegible] Doug McEachon and Bill [illegible] Of these, Donahue stands out as the star. This is his second year as captain and he is one of the most consistent guards on the team. Archie Marshall, a forward, is a small fellow who is a deadly shooting basketeer. GOLD PRIZE IS LURE TO RACE STARS

Six Drivers Conceded Chance to Cop Sunday's Padres Cup Event

The pot of gold, which is supposed to await racing drivers at the end of a big event, will be a reality at the American Legion Speedway Sunday when sixteen of the country's leading dirt-track demons go to the post in the 100-lap Padres Cup race. According to an announcement from the Val brothers of the Italian colony yesterday, they will present several hundreds of dollars in lap money to the drivers as they come into the pits at the finish of the grind. The awards will be made in gold.

Betting fans who try to pick the winners of races at the Legion course are finding their task difficult this week. Among the critics the opinion prevails that any one of six pilots will be likely to come home in front. This list includes Babe Stapp, Francis Quinn, Fred Frame and "Shorty" Cantlon—all of whom are toeing Miller Specials. The other pair are Johnny Krieger and "Stubby" Stubblefield.

At the same time, a dark horse is conceded a chance of bobbing into the picture Sunday. The late entrant is Earl Hovenden of Oklahoma and this daredevil has a car in tow which is declared by smart racing men to be the speediest mount on the Pacific Coast at the present time. Hovenden has just arrived from Oklahoma after having won himself a reputation on eastern ovals this year.

Numerous rumors were prevalent along Gasoline Alley yesterday when it was learned that Babe Stapp and "Shorty" Cantlon, members of the same team, had tested their cars over the Legion curves in preparation for Sunday's meeting. From some sources word came that Cantlon had turned the course in less than 39s., which is sensational time at the plant.

RABBIT PUNCHES

By Paul Lowry

AFTER THE STORM

ANOTHER rumor or two and then we'll all know who is to face the Trojans at Pasadena on New Year's Day.

Selection of Southern California ended ten days of the wildest guessing over the identity of a western contender since the inception of the Rose Bowl classic.

One day it was California, then St. Mary's, and finally Southern California.

Each had its proponents. Each had its opponents. The situation kept the letter writers busy.

There will probably be some speculation over the eastern opposition, but I suspect there was a more definite line there than on the standard bearer of the West after California's disastrous defeat at the hands of Stanford in the "big game."

Earlier in the season, when Pittsburgh seemed headed for an undefeated record it was understood that the Panthers, if invited, would be glad to accept the invitation.

Pitt was defeated by the margin of one point—7 to 6—in its New Year's struggle with Stanford two years ago and never relished the verdict—one that again brought into dispute the question of control and possession on Wilton's touchdown in the third period of play.

If Pitt is selected, as seems probable, some of the boys who were out two years ago will be on deck again.

But while they were sophomores then in minor roles they are stars now—some of them all-Americans. Pug Parkinson, the big fullback, is one. Donchess, the end, is another. Donchess was a regular two years ago, but Parkinson was a sub for Booth. Toby Uansa, one of the sensations of the current year, was a sub for Hagan at right half. Montgomery, the all-American guard, was a sub for Fox at left guard.

TROJANS, 14,; LIONS, 3

SELECTION of the Trojans brings up former New Year's Day memories. It was in 1923 that the Trojans made their first and only appearance in the Rose Bowl classic, defeating Penn State, 14 to 3.

That year, as in the current season, the Trojans had been defeated by California, and those who believe in signs may see something in the coincidence. The score this year was 15 to 7, but in the game of 1923—a game by the way which dedicated the new Rose Bowl—the Golden Bears won by a score of 12 to 0.

It was quite a hectic game, the Bears sailing along for three periods under the slim encouragement of a two-point lead gained in the first period, but finally sending Morrison over the line in the last quarter, an effort which Archie Nisbet followed up with a place kick from the 20-yard line.

Having won the Coast crown three years running and played in two New Year's Day games the Bears refused to consider an invitation, and it was tendered the Trojans.

The Trojans made good in a struggle that saw Hugo Bezdek's Nittany Lions get off in front with a perfect drop kick by Mike Palm but eventually succumb to the excursions of the Trojan backs in the second and third periods. Penn State was a good three-yard team, and the Trojans a good ten-yard team in this particular game, and all other things being equal the ten-yard team invariably wins.

Leo Calland, present coach at Idaho, captained the Trojans to their victory and little Harold Galloway scintillated with a shoe-string catch of a forward pass which paved the way for the Trojans's first touchdown but sent Galloway from the game ruined as the result of his slide along the ground on his face.

The members of the Trojan team were Phythian and Milton, ends; Norm Anderson and Cummings, tackles; Capt. Calland and Hawkins, guards; Lindley, center; Hobo Kincaid and Bullet Baker, halfbacks; Gordon Campbell, fullback, and Harold Galloway and Chet Dolley, quarterbacks. Newman, Boice, Leahy, Otto Anderson and Riddle also got into the game.

NO EASTERN COMPLICATIONS

IT APPEARS that the undefeated Gaels of St. Mary's are going to have a post-season football clash in their own backyard.

And Pittsburgh is the choice as opposition in a game which is to be sponsored by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

Offhand this might seem to complicate matters for the Tournament of Roses, but no alarm need be felt by well-wishers of the Pasadena holiday classic.

When the Trojans were invited all hurdles were cleared. Pasadena had laid the groundwork in the East, and the act of Southern California inviting an eastern team is just a formality.

When the boys get ready to announce the story the name of the team will be forthcoming. True, it will come from the East, but that's just a customary technicality.

It does seem too bad that the game can't get off to a good start without stories that California turned down the game before the invitation was given to the Trojans.

As a matter of fact, the statement by Jack Mitchell, chairman of the football committee at Pasadena, refutes the charge, plus the fact that the invitation was already in officials' hands at Southern California when the story "broke" in the Nor.n that California would not play the New Year's game even if invited.

SERAPHS LAND JOHNNY MOORE

plate, got in only thirty-five games with the Cubs last year and batted .296. He is a left-hand hitter but throws with the sensible arm.

The Cubs had Moore farmed out to Reading in 1928 and some sort of a line can be obtained on his ability through his records for that season. Johnny cuffed the agate for a .328 mark in 1928 but the most important part about his hitting was that he ranked second in the International League in the matter of batting in runs. Only Dale Alexander, Detroit's giant first-sacker who was then with Toronto, eclipsed Moore in hammering runs across the plate.

Johnny is rated as fast a fielder as Jigger Statz, so the Seraphs will be well fortified in the outer gardens. George Harper, secured from the Braves in the Berger deal, and Wes Schulmerich are also able to pick 'em up and lay 'em down in the most approved fashion.

Skipper Lelivelt is now well satisfied with his outfield array, principally because he has a couple of driving left-hand hitters. Jack likes a couple of hefty right-field hitters on his club if for no other reason than to protect the Angels when they're playing in San Francisco, where a lazy fly often plops up against the short right-field wall for a two-base hit. Moore is a strong right-field hitter, while critics who have seen Harper in action claim he will be the hardest right-field hitter in the league. That's saying something when it is considered that such sluggers as Ike Boone, Fuzzy Haufft, Gus Suhr and Buzz Arlett are still working in the Coast loop.

The disposal of Flitt and Roberts was expected in Lelivelt's campaign to improve the Angel pitching corps. Roberts, purchased from Wichita last spring, won eleven and lost fourteen last season and didn't show enough consistency for Lelivelt to retain him. Flitt, who came from the Giants in the spring of 1928, failed to win a majority of his games in either 1928 or 1929. He won ten and lost eleven last year.

Bobby Jones, veteran third-sacker, was disposed of because Lelivelt plans on having Fred Haney hold down the hot corner next season. Jones batted .281 last year.

Lelivelt and Reichow are at present angling for two major league hurlers to round out the Angel staff, which now is composed of Ed Baecht, Clyde Barfoot, Berly Horne, Wilbert Peters, Glenn Gabler, Doc Crandall and Carl Holling. It is thought Crandall will ask for his release, while Holling is expected to be sold or traded.

Reichow also announced that arrangements had been completed for the Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates to play a four-game series at Wrigley Field on March 27, 28, 29 and 30.

The only bit of Hollywood gossip from the minor league gathering at Chattanooga yesterday was that Bill Lane had sold Pitcher Joe Marty to the Chattanooga Southern League club. Marty, a big right-hander with a world of stuff but not much control, won nine and lost nine for the Stars last season.

WINTER FINISHING AT PEAK OFF HERMOSA

HERMOSA BEACH, Dec. 5.—Fishing on the big Olympic barge, anchored two miles offshore here, is much better this winter than last, asserts Capt. J. M. Andersen, skipper of the big vessel. Besides a larger amount of fish being caught, the assortment is much more varied. Among the fish being brought ashore daily are bonito, mackerel, perch, smelt, sole, sand-dabs, sculpin, flounders and halibut.

Pier and surf fishing are also better than average with corbina, croakers and smelt being caught.

BRUIN NETTERS ENTER WESTWOOD TOURNEY

Tennis stars of the University of California at Los Angeles will file entrance blanks today for the first university championship tournament to be held on the new U.C.L.A. campus at Westwood. Drawings for the tournament will be made early next week, with the first-round play starting the last of the week. The tournament was won last year by Leonard Dworkin, then a sophomore and now captain of the Bruin tennis squad, when he defeated ex-Capt. Bob Laird in the finals.

Associated Press Sports Writer

CHATTANOOGA (Tenn.) Dec. 5. (AP)—The minor leagues of baseball met an old friend today for a few hours in the form of a draft resolution, but, after half a dozen speeches, an effort by William G. Bramham, president of three leagues, to amend the draft rules failed for the want of a three-fourths majority.

Mr. Bramham, who is president of the South Atlantic Association, the Piedmont and Eastern Carolina leagues, mustered a two-thirds vote in favor of his plan to amend the constitution so that players shall not be subject to draft until they shall have been officially credited with participation in 200 games on clubs of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, but he fell shy of the number needed to amend the constitution.

Montreal, Que., won the 1930 convention without serious opposition, only Springfield, Mass., and Washington, D. C., pressing invitations after West Baden, Ind., withdrew.

William L. Veeck, president, and Joe McCarthy, manager of the Chicago Cubs, returned home today, but before they left they engineered another deal by which a promising young pitcher will become a Cub. Norman McMillan, infielder, and a pitcher to be named before the opening of next season, with a considerable sum of cash, will go to Kansas City for the release of Lynn Nelson.

The Cubs also announced that they had sent Pitcher Joe Cvengros to Indianapolis as part payment for Bud Teachout, promising young left-hand pitcher.

The National Association in its second convention session today progressed well on the road to the completion of its business, and a meeting held tomorrow will end it.

Leo Dixon, a catcher, was released by Cincinnati to Columbus.

POLO SEASON DATES GIVEN

players and the great C. T. I. Roark, England's leading star, would participate in the tournaments at Midwick this winter, is a sure indication that the Southern California season will be the most important in the history of the west coast.

The Argentine team which will play here is composed of the following stars: Alfredo J. Harrington, five goals; Juan J. Reynal, five goals; Jose C. Reynal, seven goals; Manuel Andrada, seven goals. The last-named was a member of the famous Argentine team that played the United States Big Four in 1928 at Meadowbrook. The South Americans are all noted horsemen and Southland fans will no doubt see many thrilling riding exhibitions when they tangle with Midwick and other high-goal stars. The Argentine ponies will be conditioned at Midwick for the balance of December following their arrival. The first appearance of the South American team will take place along about the second Sunday in January.

Among the eastern stars who are expected here soon are: Laddie Sanford, Jock Whitney and possibly Winston Guest. Tommy Hitchcock, the captain of America's Big Four, will not be able to play here this winter. Dame Rumor or Dan Rumor, whichever it is, has it that Mr. and Mrs. Hitchcock are expecting the arrival of a very important event in their lives soon.

Laddie Sanford, the best mounted polo player in the world, is shipping twenty mounts here for the winter series. They are expected any day at Midwick.

Midwick will have its regular collection of high-goal stars with a number of new faces in the fold this coming year. Lindsey Howard, is going to play with the Midwick Big Four this season. He has transferred his ponies here from San Mateo. Eric Pedley, Elmer Boeseke, Hal Roach and Carleton Burke will all be ready for action soon, it was announced.

Capt. Wesley White, referee of the international classics, will be the Midwick Country Club's polo manager this winter. White is perhaps the best-known polo official in the game today.

Oxy Quintet and Alumni Mix Tonight

The chances of Occidental College again winning and thus retaining the Southern California Conference basketball championship will be somewhat better known to Coach Eddie Kienholz after tonight's scheduled practice fray with the alumni quintet at the Eagle Rock institution. The tilt opens at 7:30 p.m.

The returning grads and ex-performers are particularly strong this year, what with ex-Capt. Ernie Ketchersid, Neal Archer, Bill Betts, Louis Mallette, Bruce Kirkpatrick, Roy Wheeler and Sol Mishkin.

Capt.-elect Ed Beebe may not open on the varsity line-up tonight because of an injury still pestering him which was a result of the recent Oxy and Pomona football tilt. Beebe is a guard. MacAllister and Elliott, guards; Setler, center and Dimter and Glover, forwards, are about the starting team for Kienholz.

Norman Ross on Way to Honolulu

Norman Ross, once the holder of practically every world's swimming record, and for that matter still one of the best, is in Los Angeles en route to Honolulu. He registered at the Rosslyn last night with Mrs. Ross and the two Ross youngsters, having motored here from Chicago in six days in the family barouche. They are leaving this morning for San Francisco, whence they will sail for the islands.

In his day at Stanford Ross held as many records as Johnny Weissmuller does now and he later won additional fame as a flyer during the war. Ross was favored by nearly everybody to win the Wrigley swim and, strangely enough, he was about the only one to pick the lad who eventually won the race, George Young.

FARRELL WINS UPHILL FIGHT

Farrell was a beaten golfer as he and Wood swung along the fourteenth fairway. Both were short of the fourteenth in two, but pitched on and Farrell holed his putt to become 2 down. At the fifteenth Wood again outdrove Farrell as he had been doing all day. Both played good seconds within a few feet of the hole and Wood putted first and missed. Farrell holed his.

They both had 3s at the short sixteenth and at the seventeenth Farrell again holed a ten-foot putt for a birdie 3 to square the match.

Both failed to make the eighteenth green with their seconds, but Johnny to the horror of his supporters made a bad third, the ball falling short of the hillside green. Wood was on in 3. Johnny ran his fourth up within six feet and Wood missed his fourth, but lay close for a sure 5. Farrell needed the six-footer to stay in the running and he knocked this one as if it was a half-foot putt.

Tomorrow I have to face Leo Diegel, who was my partner last winter in Miami, when we won the international four-ball championship together. Leo defeated Gene Sarasen today and I beat Tony Manero. It will be our fourth meeting in this championship. I have won twice, once in Chicago on the fortieth hole. Last year in Baltimore Leo beat me 2 and 1 and eliminated me from the title I had held for four consecutive years. I shall make a bold bid to get it back tomorrow.

Leo had a little the best of Gene all the way and made the match his after Gene had failed to take advantage at the ninth in the afternoon round when he had a chance to reduce Leo's lead from 2 to 1. Then at the tenth, the twenty-eighth of the match Leo holed a good putt for a birdie 3 to become 3 up.

It looked like the finish of Gene at the eleventh, when his tee shot was hooked and his ball was in a soft lie and he only hit it 100 yards. Leo was on the green in 2 but Gene got a half with a good third and a better putt. At the short twelfth Gene appeared to have a chance when Leo was trapped and he was well on. But Leo played a remarkable shot out of the trap dead to the hole for a half in 3 and retained his three-hole lead. He won 3 and 2.

Al Watrous and Al Espinosa had a great game which went to the home green, Watrous winning 2 up. Tony did not play so well against me, but I was playing real well, with a 69 in the morning and two under fours when the match ended at the thirteenth hole.

There are now four players remaining in the field to contest the semifinals, Watrous vs. Farrell and Diegel vs. myself. All four were members of the American Ryder Cup team.

Belmont and Garfield Tie in Harrier Run

Garfield and Belmont battled to a 37-to-37 tie in the annual Minor City League cross-country meet held on the Griffith Park course yesterday afternoon. Fremont finished a bad second with 74 points, followed by Fairfax with 157 points. Roosevelt was fifth with 158, and University last with 192 points.

From the starting run the race developed into a struggle between Coach Hugh Morey's Bulldogs, and Clarence Ebers's Hilltoppers. Lewis and Unholz of Belmont finished first and second, respectively. Israel of Roosevelt took third, and Tatar and Baker of Garfield, fourth and fifth. The remaining Garfield team finished seventh, tenth and eleventh, while the Belmont squad came in sixth, ninth and nineteenth.

In order to decide who should take possession of the large trophy which travels to whichever school wins it, the coaches tossed a coin to settle the matter. Garfield won the toss, thereby retaining the cup, which they have already won for three successive years.

A smaller cup which is given by the league was taken home by Garfield, and a duplicate is being made for Belmont.

BEVERLY WINS TWICE

Beverly Hills High casaba squads gained two victories over Loyola High yesterday when the varsity five came out on the long end of a 24-to-14 score, while the lightweights won, 22 to 7. The games were played on the Loyola courts. Rose was the high-point man in the varsity encounter with 9 points.

GALLI-CURCI WILL BUILD HOME HERE

Site Purchased at Palos Verdes and House Will be Completed in 1931

Amelito Galli-Curci, the operatic star, and her husband, Homer Samuels, concert pianist, have purchased at a cost of $30,000 a site at Palos Verdes on which they will build a home, to be completed in 1931, it was learned yesterday. The site is on the fringe of Montemalaga Heights, overlooking the Malaga Grove Plaza, and commands a view of Santa Monica Bay and the entire Los Angeles area.

AMELITA GALLI-CURCI

Announcement of the purchase was made following a conference between the diva and Wallace Neff, Pasadena architect, at which the latter was commissioned to prepare immediately plans for the residence. The type of architecture requested by Mme. Galli-Curci was not made known, but it is understood it will be in keeping with that now in vogue at the Estates.

"We are going to build in Southern California because we see here a happy combination of artistic and economic progress," the singer said in disclosing her plan.

Jay Lawyer, general manager of Palos Verdes Estates, declared Mme. Galli-Curci's selection of the site is another justification of the conservative yet artistic policy that has been enforced at the oceanside development since its inception.

BERENZWEIG TO TELL PLANS

Former Vice Squad Head to Reply Today to Wife's Plea That He Submit to Arrest

Completing a hurried trip to Ensenada, Baja California, and return, S. S. Hahn, self-announced attorney for Max Berenzweig, former head of the police vice squad, who is being sought on a perjury indictment, yesterday stated he expects to learn some time today whether his client intends to surrender.

The attorney said that at Ensenada he established communication with certain friends of Berenzweig who promised to convey to the fugitive a message from his wife which Hahn had taken with him, requesting that he come back to Los Angeles and submit to arrest. These friends, Hahn declared, told him they will communicate Berenzweig's reply to him today.

On his return to the city, Hahn asked Dist.-Atty. Fitts whether the $10,000 bail, already fixed in Berenzweig's case, will stand in event his client returns. Fitts assured him, Hahn stated, that the amount will not be increased, providing the former police officer comes back and surrenders voluntarily. Hahn added that he believes the bail will be raised to $100,000 if Berenzweig forces the officers to find and arrest him.

CHAMPION BEEF ROLLS IN CASH

Christmas Show Cattle Sell for Record Prices

California's Prize Steer Brings $1.55 a Pound

Sheriff Traeger Auctions Animal for $1302

Prize winning beef cattle sold for a total of slightly more than $86,000 at auction at the fourth annual Christmas Live Stock Show and Rodeo yesterday. The grand champion and Hereford champion steer of the show, exhibited by Dos Pueblos Land and Improvement Company, Goleta, was sold to the Safeway Stores through Claude Safeway of the Distributors Packing Company for $1.55 a pound, the highest price paid for a beef animal on the Pacific Coast this year. The calf, less than a year old, realized more than $1300 and was auctioned by Sheriff Traeger, while Col. Art Thompson, Lincoln, Neb., sold the rest of the prize winners. This grand champion was a California-bred animal and was fattened on California barley.

The grand champion carload of cattle, Herefords fed and fitted by Dan Casement, famous cattleman of Manhattan, Kan., was sold to the Cudahy Packing Company, and will be exhibited in the carcass at the Cudahy Christmas Meat Show, on Sunday, the 15th inst. The reserve grand champion steer, an Aberdeen-Angus shown by James B. Hollinger, Chapman, Kan., also was bidden by the Cudahy Packing Company for 55 cents a pound, and the champion Shorthorn steer, exhibited by youngsters from California Polytechnic School, San Luis Obispo, went to the Southern Pacific Railway for its dining-car service at 30 cents a pound.

HIGH-PRICED MEET

The next highest price was paid for a thick-meated Hereford shown by Mrs. Dan Casement, which brought 29 3-4 cents a pound. The Cudahy Packing Company was buyer. The Union Pacific purchased two blue-ribbon steers, a Hereford shown by William Briggs, Dixon, at 22½ cents a pound, and a Wyoming Hereford shown by W. J. Kelley at 19 cents.

Junior exhibitors also received fancy prices for their steers, which have been fed as their "projects" in vocational agricultural schools. Omni Winterton, 14-year-old Utah boy, received from the Hauser Packing Company $191.40 for his grand champion steer in the junior division. Other steers in the junior division sold from 14 to 17 cents a pound. They were shown by the California Polytechnic School, San Luis Obispo; John Tate, high-school boy, Ontario; Elmer Soto and Don Evans, high-school boys, Cambria, and Omni Winterton.

SCHOOL BOYS WIN

The first prize carlot of Herefords were shown by students from California Polytechnic School and were bought by the Distributors Packing Company for the Safeway Stores at 17 cents a pound. The first price carlot of feeder Shorthorns, shown by Charles N. Hawkins, owner of Pacheco Cattle Company, Hollister, were purchased for twelve cents a pound, going to Ruchti Brothers, Hynes. Other carlots of fat cattle ranged from 13 to 16 cents a pound, going to leading packers and meat distributors. Among those who paid fancy prices for show stock were the Model Grocery, F. C. Nash and Doleshal Brothers, all of Pasadena; Standard Packing Company, Wilson & Co., Woodward-Bennett Company, Peerless Packing Company; Agua Caliente Hotel, Tia Juana, Mex.; El Monte Packing Company, Globe Packing Company, Merchants' Packing Company, Baldridge Packing Company, Oehls Packing Company, San Bernardino.

Today is Washington-Oregon day at the stock show and special stunts will be put on by cowboys from those States. Reginald Denny, film actor, will again appear as assistant arena director. Col. Loring's mounted cadets from Urban Military Academy will put on a spectacular saber and revolver drill. This morning also the sales of fat sheep and hogs will be held. The boys and girls of the State High School judging teams are arriving this morning over the Santa Fe—some 600 of them, and this evening they will be given a banquet at the Central Manufacturing District clubrooms. Stockmen, show officials and leading educators in agricultural lines will address them.

The grand champion Hereford steer of the Christmas Live-Stock Show, sold by Sheriff Traeger as auctioneer to Claude Safstrom, Distributors' Packing Company for Safeway Stores. ROCK-PLANT FIGHT GOES ON

Council Committee Prepares for Public Hearing on Bell's Cement-Works Application

Public hearings on the recommendations of the City Planning Commission, which on Wednesday afternoon acted favorably on the petition of Alphonso Bell to start the quarrying of cement rock and the erection of a stone crusher in the Santa Monica Mountain, will be conducted by the City Planning Committee of the City Council, starting possibly the 12th inst., according to announcement made yesterday by Councilman Webster, committee chairman.

The City Council was made aware officially of the action of the Planning Commission yesterday when Agnes Freeman, secretary of the commission, filed an official notification with the City Clerk. The statement was two pages in length and consisted of a statement of the vote and the ten stipulations which were made a part of the granting of the permit. Automatically this matter will come before the City Council possibly today or not later than Monday, when it will be referred to the City Planning Committee, of which Councilman Webster is chairman and Councilmen Randall and Holland are members.

It is understood that a meeting of the committee will be held shortly and time will be allotted both sides for the presentation of their arguments.

"We do not wish to rush this matter nor do we intend to delay it," Councilman Webster stated yesterday. "We probably will set the meeting for Thursday or Friday of next week. Ordinarily the meeting would be held on the following Monday, but several Councilmen are planning to be in San Diego the first three days of the week. We will not listen to extended arguments and in all probability will allow one hour and a half to each side and then put the matter up to the City Council. We certainly do not intend entering into a lengthy hearing before our committee."

"We will ask for a public hearing before the City Council," said Attorney Thorwald Siegfried, representing the Pacific Palisades property owners, who objected to the granting of the petition. "This will give a chance to hear the people who until now had rested in confidence that the Planning Commission would protect the last exclusive residence district in Los Angeles from destruction."

It will take only a majority vote of the Council to concur with the City Planning Commission's recommendation. Had the commission recommendation been against the petition it would have taken two-thirds vote of the Council to override the planners.

NEW ZONING ORDINANCE CONSIDERATION DELAYED

Consideration of the proposed new zoning ordinance, scheduled to be heard yesterday afternoon before the Council's City Planning Committee, was continued until the afternoon of January 3. The delay came at the request of Attorney Jess Stephens, representing the Realty Board.

New Type Plane Engine Will be Produced Here

Approval yesterday by the aeronautics branch of the United States Department of Commerce of the first radial aviation engine without rocker arms brought forth the announcement from officials of the MacClatchie Manufacturing Company, that the company will start production on the new motor immediately in the first section of its $200,000 Compton plant.

The motor has been named the Panther. It is the development of two years' engineering research and experiment under the supervision of J. Warren MacClatchie, veteran oil-tool manufacturer and head of the motor company.

The Panther is rated at 150 horsepower at 1900 revolutions a minute; is composed of seven cylinders of L-head design and has an overall diameter of thirty-six inches. It is said by engineers to be the first aircraft power unit to do away successfully with rocker arms for valve control. The motor contains 200 less working parts nor even make physically weak men strong. In some respects, this is a hard world, and everything worth while must be struggled for, fought for, worked for.

"If everyone owned $1,000,000 the buying power of $1,000,000 soon would be reduced to a minimum, prices would go skyward, production would be at a standstill, the difficult, unpleasant work would be dropped, famine and disease would swoop down upon us and chaos would rule society. Instead of trying to protect their worthless dollars, men would have to build gigantic warehouses to protect their food and clothes, each man would have to be his own policeman, judge and jury, labor would be at a premium and men on the Stock Exchange would deal in days of work instead of money.

"Men don't work except under compulsion of necessity, or their wives. "If each one of us had $1,000,000, you would not return to work this afternoon. Instead, you would buy a ticket to Europe or Hawaii, leaving others to do the work—and, as everyone else would be as fortunate as yourself, the 'others' also would desert their tasks."

PALMER GIRL WILL BE BURIED THIS MORNING

Funeral services for Barbara Palmer, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Guy C. Palmer of 527 North Las Palmas avenue, who died Tuesday at the Good Samaritan Hospital following a prolonged illness, will be conducted at 11 o'clock this morning at the Little Church of the Flowers. Interment will be in Forest Lawn Memorial Park. Miss Palmer was 20 years of age, and was graduated from Bennett's School at Millbrook, N. Y., last year, and from the Marlborough School for Girls in Los Angeles in 1926. She leaves her parents and two sisters, Mrs. Porter Bruck of San Marino and Mrs. Briant H. Wells of this city.

Pallbearers will be Porter Bruck, Briant H. Wells, Thomas P. Pike, John H. Rees, John Braly and Jefferson C. Stephens. Honorary pallbearers will be Shirley Ward, Stanwood D. Williams, Norman A. McLeod, Harding Palmer, John Gray, Hooper C. Dunbar, Jr., Edward Valentine, Joseph Urmston, Richmond P. Hobson, Jr., Stanley Mullin, Dr. Donald Frick and Dr. Sidney Burnap.

MILLION DOLLAR DREAM BUBBLES FLY TO PIECES

"If everybody had $1,000,000 there would be more poverty, crime, laziness, inefficiency, misery and general discontent than there is today," according to what members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce heard at the Biltmore yesterday from H. V. Adams, escrow officer of the Glendale branch of the Security-First National Bank.

"Cash without character is a curse," said Mr. Adams. "Yes, that is a platitude, but because the American people have forgotten a few profound platitudes they have had foisted upon them some of the craziest theories ever hatched in the muddy mental nests of irresponsible sophists.

"Those who tell you that the great need of the day is for an economic revolution, and that an even distribution of the country's wealth would result in reformation of men's physical, mental and moral natures, know nothing of human nature, to say nothing of economics. No form of distribution of the world's money and no magic of state ownership could make a vicious man virtuous, convert fools into sages, make savers of wastrels,

NOONAN TO FACE TRIAL AS BURGLAR

Sanity Hearing of Screen Actresses' Brother Ends in Dropping Complaint

Jack Noonan, 26 years of age, brother of Sally O'Neil and Mollie O'Day, film actresses, is not insane; therefore, he must stand trial on a burglary charge, according to the decision of Superior Judge Gould yesterday at the close of the young man's hearing on his sanity held in the psychopathic court at the General Hospital. Following the hearing Noonan was remanded to the custody of the Sheriff and the insanity complaint brought by his attorney, Clare Woolwine, and relatives, was dismissed. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Richardson represented the State.

In dismissing the complaint against Noonan Judge Gould said:

"I think, under the circumstances here, with a criminal charge pending against this man, the defense of insanity can be interposed in that is the desire of this man's counsel. The proceedings here will be dismissed.

Noonan, who is the son of Mrs. Noonan Gordon and who formerly was a boxer and later an automobile salesman, was indicted with Joe M. Burbridge, 23, and Sherry Tansey, 35, on a charge of robbing the apartment of Ted Lewis, orchestra leader, at 1400½ Hayward avenue, on June 28, last. The men are accused of taking $7000 worth of furs, clothing and jewelry. Burbridge and Tansey were arrested the next day. Noonan was apprehended in New York.

On the plea of the prisoner's mother Noonan was placed in the psychopathic ward at the General Hospital for observation. Burbridge and Tansey have entered a plea of guilty and are asking probation. The hearing on the petition of the first will be held today before Superior Judge Fleming. That of Tansey's will be heard on the 21st inst.

Attorney Woolwine, it is asserted, will ask a jury sanity trial for Noonan.

Dancer Divorced From Film Actor

Virginia May Oakman, formerly Virginia May Jennings, dancer, was granted a divorce by Superior Judge Archbald, when she complained that her husband, Wheeler Oakman, film actor, had deserted her.

Mrs. Oakman testified her husband told her he did not care to live with her, after her child was born. Under terms of a property settlement Oakman agreed to pay his wife $100 a week for the support of herself and child.

SPLIT-DELIVERY RULING PRAISED

Value to Coast Industry Declared Great

Eastern Manufacturers May Appeal

Ship Board's Jurisdiction Point at Issue

United States Shipping Board's decision yesterday ordering free split deliveries stopped, indicates that the board is invested with the same powers over intercoastal water carriers as the Interstate Commerce Commission has over rail carriers, in the opinion of R. S. Sawyer, traffic manager for the Associated Jobbers and Manufacturers of Los Angeles.

"It was the first big case affecting the question of the jurisdiction of the board over water lines operating intercoastal," he explained, adding that the decision also "is of transcending importance economically to the entire Pacific slope." He expects United States Steel to appeal from the decision, but adds, "we have won every step so far and are optimistic."

SITUATION SUMMED UP

The declared advantage given the eastern manufacturer in invading Pacific manufacturers' markets through the split delivery ran into millions of dollars yearly. The Shipping Board summed it up as follows: Pacific Coast companies having representatives as witnesses represent an investment of $450,000,000, employ 55,000 people, and claim a shrinkage in volume of business of 5 to 90 per cent.

"That was a year ago, after the practice had been in operation only one year. This year has been cumulative, and damages to Coast institutions are greater," explained Sawyer.

It was Sawyer who first challenged the practice, at its inception two years ago, of letting eastern manufacturers ship less than carload lots here by water at carload prices; and for free distribution in two or more ports. Invoked first by Argonaut and Isthmian lines of United States Steel, lines of the Intercoastal Conference reluctantly adopted the practice for competitive reasons.

APPEAL EXPECTED

Sawyer rallied Coast jobbers, wholesalers, manufacturers and retailers to join the fight, with yesterday's victorious step as a result.

If the case, as is expected, is carried to the Supreme Court, the matter of the Shipping Board's jurisdiction also will be settled finally. Intercoastal lines to date have been divided as to the benefits of such a regulatory body. When trade is heavy and rates are up and lines operating in harmony, the benefits are declared doubtful. When a rate war hurts, the efficacy of some regulatory body is declared the only solution.

The Shipping Board orders the split delivery practice to cease in thirty days, but several legal moves to stay its effect are declared possible within that time.

Rain Will Come If 'High' Leaves, Says Forecaster

If Southern California fails to get rain within the next day or so from the storm area that was headed for the coast from near Hawaii, the failure will have to be charged up to a high-pressure area centering over Idaho and Nevada that apparently is preventing the low from reaching the coast, the weather man said yesterday.

At last reports yesterday, the storm area was about 1500 miles off the coast of Northern California. The weather man has not given up all hope yet,

HAITI WORRY INCREASES

Marine Forces Mobilizing

Hoover Forwards Message to Congress as Troops Prepare to Sail

Stimson Issues Statement Setting Forth Concern Over Situation

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6. (AP)—Additional marines are being assembled for dispatch to Haiti because of the seriousness with which the administration views the disturbed situation there.

President Hoover is so concerned over the events which have resulted in establishment of martial law there that today he sent a special message to Congress, believed to contain an explanation of his reasons for sending marines. The Senate and House had adjourned, however, and the contents of the message consequently were withheld from the public.

Both the White House and the State Department tonight carefully refrained from divulging any information as to the plans.

Word from Norfolk, Va., that the United States flagship Wright had received secret orders to sail at one time tomorrow with a detachment of marines for "duty beyond the seas," elicited no comment.

TROOPS DENIED LEAVE

At Quantico, the marine base near Washington, leave was denied all troops and preparations were made for an early departure of a detachment, which probably will consist of 300 officers and men.

Others are ready at Parris Island, S. C., and Norfolk. They will relieve the 700 marines already on duty in Haiti, who are in barracks at Port-au-Prince and Cape Haitien. A fifth-ton navy mine sweeper is stationed there.

Marine forces are stationed regularly on the island, the United States never having removed all troops since it co-operated with Haitian leaders in setting up a government in 1915.

STIMSON STATEMENT

The situation in Haiti was described today by Secretary Stimson as being "regarded as exceedingly grave" because of popular excitement and danger of outbreaks by hostile elements."

The Secretary's statement reviews events leading up to the proclamation making effective martial

...students at the agricultural school at Damion, Haiti, went on strike on October 31," the Secretary's statement says. "The Haitian government hitherto had allotted $2000 per annum to this school for scholarships, but this year it withheld $2000 of the appropriation in order to make it possible to employ needy students for practical agricultural work on the school ground. The strike was declared as a protest against this new policy. Sympathetic strikes subsequently were declared in the medical and
